Santa charms children at Legion Christmas party Sunday

I'M dresm-ing of a white Christ-mas . . .

MV, what a long beard you've got, grandma!

DON'T look now, Santa, but a camera's watching.

MAYBE it's a plano. . . any maybe I'm Chopin.

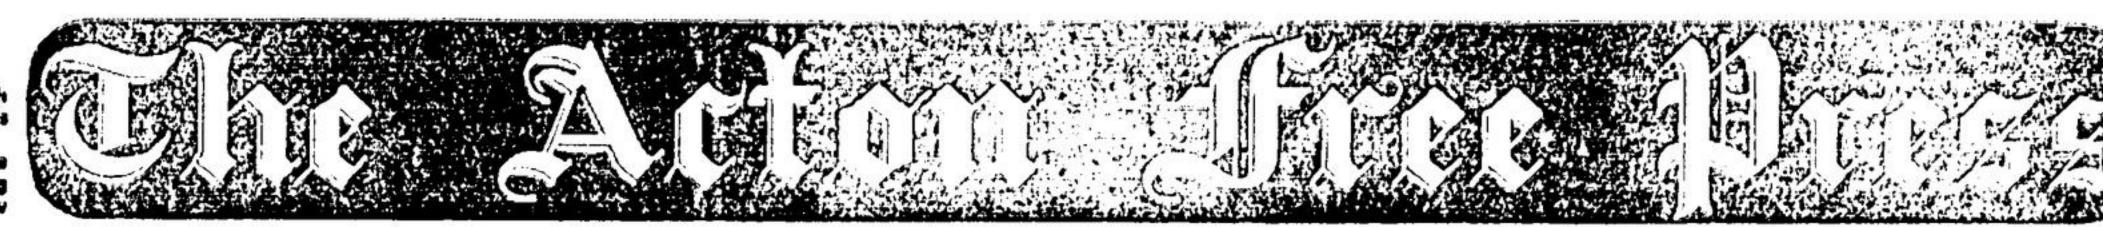

Tuesday paper

Christmes Eve is not the best time for relaxing for reading the week's name, so the Free Press will be published on Tuesday next week rather than Wednesday. But the procedure will revert the next week; the paper will be out Wednesday, Décémber 31. Next week's paper will be the usual glant Christmas card with greatings from local merchants to all the readers.

The Free Press office will be closed Christmas Day, Boxing Day and Saturday, and New

The plant will be working this Saturday so the papers may appear a day early,

Ninety-Fifth Year.-No. 25

ACTON, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1969

Eighteen Pages-Fifteen Cents

Four swell P.O. staff misprints slow sixes rush wasn't enough, the post office this Christmas has an additional problem-misprinted six cent stamps.

The local post office got instructions to return all their new six cent Christmas stamps to be checked. Apparently 400 defective stamps were shipped from the manufacturer in the general delivery to post offices. Acton postmaster Gord McKeown said there were none of the defective stamps here, but their current supply had to go back anyway. black printing might be worth $1800 each, he estimated.

Of the 400 stamps with out the season are Ellen Holmes, the black imprinting, 209 have Nan Reed, Marnie Mellor and already been recovered. It is Diane Butler.

As if the traditional Christmas estimated that 191 of the stamps could still be in circulation, purchased by customers. The design frame, wording "Canada Christmas-Noel" the denomination "6" and miniature date "1969" > missing. This week, last year's six cent Christmas stamps were being sold at Acton, but a new supply of '69 sixers was expected very Four have been added to the staff, to halp-some, with the Christmas onslaught of mail. It's flowing well, the postmaster If sold, the stamps without the says. There are plenty of Christmas cards coming through.

The four extra assistants for

Jan. 13

Public Hearing set to decide agents' fate

A long awaited public hearing will be held in the Acton council chambers Tuesday, January 13, at 10 a.m. to hear representations for and against removing station agents at Acton, Rockwood, Elora, Moorefield, Preston and Hespeler railway stations.

The Railway Transport Committee of the Canadian Transport Commission announced last Thursday that the hearing would be held in Acton, presumably because the lone opposition to taking the railway service to Guelph under a master agency plan was encountered here.

Acton council will oppose the application on the grounds that the rallway is taking away much needed service by removing the agent. As far as the town council is concerned it is up to the railway to prove that removing the agent which would virtually close the station, will not impose hardship on residents of the town and arear Councilland M.P. Rud Whiting will confer on the

According to railway representatives, Elora is ready to acknowledge defeat, Rockwood and Eramora townships are almost indifferent and nothing has been heard from the other three communities involved.

At a hearing in 1968 representations against the action of the railroad in removing services from Acton were made by the Chamber of Commerce, federal and provincial members of parliament, town council, high school students, businessmen and women as well as private individuals. One merchant declared he was in favor of the

When the suggestion was made over two years ago that the railway would close up its Acton operation and run the business from a master agency in Guelph, there was almost general opposition. Public opinion was that the CN was hampering the town's growth and importance both as a manufacturing centre and commercial hub by taking services elsewhere. There was almost general agreement at the informal hearing that the service had deteriorated when the operation at Acton was closed down with only a symbolic with no duties to perform. The agent could not sell tickets, handle freight or express. Those who wanted these services were obliged to call the Guelph master agency. The inconvenience resulted in loss of revenue to the railway

when people found other means

Entering a plea to stand firm,

Deputy-Reeve Gordon Agnew of Nassagaweya suggested the Ontario government was "running scared". He suggested the government would be very happy for Halton to "throw in the sponge. It's time to remain damn firm", he insisted on the county's earlier request for a Deputy-Reeve A. Speight of that if "we're going to save

Burlington with Halton we have to indicate to the Minister we're willing to go along with regional something", Deputy-Reeve Bert

Reeve of Burlington pleaded.

"We all want Halton as a unit but I don't believe anyone in this room feels we can accomplish it. If we don't do something, something will be done fr us."

"Now is the time to do government for Halton-Peel".

single Halton unit.

agent left at the station to preside over an empty station

Many Acton residents have expressed the opinion that if the railway wither to pull up stakes > up the tracks, too, because they don't want to be bothered either by the noise of whistles of the hazards from crossings. Others are still concerned that moving the service out will continue to work against the in Acton, then let, it go and pull - of travel or shipping express and best interests of the municipality, hamper development and completely shut off the passenger service still available.

Industry in Acton and district has made no formal protests about moving of freight service to Guelph. Reaction from spokesmen of several companies was that they had discontinued using the railway and found other means of moving freight.

BULLETIN-Local police maintained roadblocks through the North Halton area Tuesday afternoon. following a noon-hour robbery at Mount Hope, Roadblocks were called off by OPP headquarters at supportime regional government of one county at a time", Hydro plays "I fully realize there will be no Georgetown concluded. He Santa Claus

One local tady will be $229.12 richer this Christmas thanks to a red faced Santa Claus. That is the amount overcharged one water heater bill and Acton Hydro agreed Thursday night they would have to reimburse the customer. The lady has been paying a flat rate on the heater since June of 1964, in addition to the metered

The installation of a new heater uncovered the double charge. The customer thought she was paying only the $3.58 a month flat rate for a rental

"She is entitled to the rebate," agreed Commissioner MacArthur, who along with other members of the Commission were mystified by

DENTAL HYGIENIST MAY Ludzik of the Halton County Health Unit directed the first year "Brush-in" in County schools, at Robert Little school Tuesday. - (Staff Photo)

The town office is ready to receive Christmas gifts this Thursday and Friday. They have an appeal out for donations and they don'tneed to be wrapped in Christmas paper and tied with red ribbon.

It's D.D.T. And they want all

What's this, on their Christmas they can get. D.D.T. is banned for home use throughout the province starting in the new year. It can't be disposed of at home or put in the regular garbage. So clerk-administrator Jos Hurst has an ad in today's Free Press stating D.D.T. will be accepted at the town office all day Thursday and Friday. He expects to just "keep it" till he hears from the province what decision has been made.

Collision Friday

the BP car wash involved two

Santa-Rama amounts up for last draw

With a big "Merry Christmas" to Acton shoppers the merchants will boost the amounts in their final Santa-Rama draw this Saturday afternoon. The total amount to be won in cash vouchers had been upped from $100 to $150. with the top award going from $30 up to $50.

C. of C. annual set for Jan.21

Acton Chamber of Commerce has set January 21 for their annual dinner meeting. This year the event will be held at the Halton Heights Country Club and it is expected a bus service will be arranged to ferry all those interested back and forth.

Election of officers will be one of the main items on the agenda. The chamber is asking those who were not home when a surveyor dropped in to pick up completed forms to fill them in and send them through the mail or give them to a chamber

It'll be excited winners who receive this last minute gift for a special Christmas present! Following the top $50 in vouchers will be second prize of $40, third for $25, fourth for $20 and fifth of $15. Last week's winners were Mrs. A. Grant, McDonald Blvd. for $30; Bea Chew, Main St. N., for $25; Elma . Timbers, Elmore Drive, for $20; J. McAfee, Mill St. for $15 and M. Charles, Crescent St., for $10 in vouchers. At the same time as the Santa-Rama draw last Saturday. draws were made for Eramosa Flower Mart. Winners were D. Dupuis, Elmore Drive, beauty sichet, A. Dempster, Brampton, pottery urn; Mrs. Fran Tolton, Eden Mills, rubber plant; H. K. Andrews, McDonald Blvd., potted mum; Mrs. R. Hart, 341 Orville Rd., potted mum; Tony Reid, Rockwood, bunch cut Eramosa Flower Mart is also -having a draw again this week. This Saturday's draw will be made at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A.

Okay Halton-Peel if Burlington included Halton County will ask the piece of business dealt with at Burlington, speaking in support, full debate on the topic. the wind-up meeting, showed 28 votes to 6. Of the 14 member council five members opposed

Minister of Municipal Affairs to form a regional government unit with Halton and Peel on condition that Burlington is included in the region.

The decision at the final meeting of County Council Tuesday came over the opposition of Nassagaweya and Acton representatives who fought to remain firm on an earlier county decision favoring Halton as a single regional unit. A recorded vote on the contentious question, the last the move. The vote reflects the weighted voting system related to population in effect on recorded votes.

Support for the action came from Oakville, Burlington, Georgetown, Milton and Warden Currie of Esquesing. Opposed were Nassagaweya and Acton and Deputy-Reeve Tom Hill of Esquesing.

Reeve Gordon Gallagher of reported a Burlington council vote had favored that town remaining in a Peel-Halton unit by a 10-1 vote the previous Reeve Alan Day of Oakville sought to delay the decision, suggesting the county should study the results of the Steele Report and the recent Burlington referendum.

Warden George Currie warned members that this was the most important decision they had considered all year and called for

Bell block building? one-third of the hike asked for and this had created a dollar

Development in Acton could come to an abrupt halt if Bell Canada's inferences that they would not be able to supply the equipment to service telephones are not backlash from the Transport Committee's hearing rejecting two-thirds of a Bell plea for rate hikes. Mayor Les Duby told the Hydro Commission that the company's area manager phoned that afternoon to notify him that a tix million dollar cut in the budget almost ruled out more than six or seven phones being installed in the Churchill Rd. North subdivision now being constructed. Bell only received deficit which ruled out much expansion.

homes being built in Acton," the mayor declared, "if people can't have phones." The mayor wondered whether even with the town for opposing the company was trying to get the rate increases but later stated the situation was not confined to Acton. The manager said he was also living in hell in the city of Guelph over the company's money embarassment. "It would be too bad if this happens just when it is our turn commissioners present.

"It could seriously hinder have a say in this, too," he predicted.

to develop," the mayor said. Vice chairman Tyler wasn't too perturbed. "They must provide," he declared advising the mayor not to lose too much sleep over it. "Other people will

A letter from council asked the commission's co-operation in future tree trimming by qualified tree surgeons. The tree trimming on Churchill Rd. was criticized by Mr. Tyler who said people have been sent to jail for

Chairman Wilf McEachern presided for the meeting with all

Surely we are not living under a threat", Reeve A MacArthur of Nassagaweya observed. "If the provincial government is holding a hammer over our heads it's all the more reason to stand up and fight. What are the advantages? she questioned. "I'd like to see

Milton and Burlington make a the mix-up. (Continued on Page 3)

kes $850 damege

An accident on Queen St. at cars Friday morning.

Drivers were Stewart Brown, Toronto, who was travelling west and had estimated $600 damage to his car, and Bill Landsborough, Acton, whose father's car received an estimated $250 damage. The Landsborough car was making a left turn, according to police, and when the Toronto car braked it skidded on the slippery, wet pavement.

Lack of liaison with council frustrating to planning board meeting Thursday in the council work.

chambers. Their two representatives from been at council, he could have council were both absent, councillor G. W. McKenzie at had felt approval should be given the school safety patrol dinner to the Becker's milk plaza at the and Councillor Earl Mamles at

When councillor McKenzie Free Press that council had arrived late, he explained that referred their approval for a the night council had referred small thopping plaze back to the plan back to committee, he committee, planning board and Mr. Masales had again been found no answers to their absent - he at parent-teacher questions at their regular interviews and Mr. Masales at

He said he was sure if he had explained why planning board

Queen-Churchill corner. In so doing, the board had not agreed with the recommendation of the Project Planning Association. (Project Planners Associates representative, Denis Flood, had not attended either meeting when the new shopping plaza was discussed. The official recommendation had been that a plaza should wait, and be located further down the highway after the subdivisions in that area had been developed. Planning board felt the plaza would be an asset, and the location was a suitable one.)

"I like to read the local paper," mused Paul Martindale, "but I don't like to get information that way." "There could be better lizison" sighed chairman Bob Drinkwalter.

Mr. McKenzie had contacted fellow councillors after reading in the paper about the hold-up in approval. It wasn't rejected, he stressed, just referrred for further information. Another item on the agenda caused a repeat of the "lack of December brings the meeting date when planning board would recommend to council the appointment for the coming year. Vic Bristow's term is ending, since he joined the board this year to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Charlie already been approached by a council representative to ask if he would remain on the board. appointed to planning board place an ad in the Free Press.

stamp we might as well fold up," Mr. Martindale mused.

secretary-treasurer for three and people realize. It's hard to keep Mr. Bristow said he had a half years, Iain Williams abreast with changes, he said. submitted his resignation, but agreed to serve until a consultant, a more detailed plan replacement can be found. Mr. of the apartment proposed for The board nevertheless Drinkwalter was given authority the Orr property was presented.

adhered to its perogative and to contact the town office to see. The plan was considered by the passed a resolution if the duties could be recommending Mr. Bristow be undertaken there, and, if not, to In thanking Mr. Williams, Mr.

"If we're going to be a rubber Drinkwalter commented the job is more involved than realized. Mr. McKenzie also agreed that After serving as board planning goes deeper than most

As requested by the planning board and will be forwarded to Project Planners for their recommendations.

Board members expressed particular concern about adequate storm and sanitary sewers and the need for a buffer zone with bushes to separate the area from the neighboring private homes.

The drawings of the development of the lot show an entrance off Bower Ave., where (Continued on Page 5)