Santa pulls up behind skidoo for happy Micro party Saturday

There was entertainment, there were gifts, there was food—but Santa repeated his old, old act and stole the show at the Micro Plastics party Saturday afternoon. At least 115 lined up to receive gifts from the jolly gent, who had received his special invitation from the Employees Association.

His arrival made a sensation; he whirred up to the Music Centre in a chariot pulled by a skidoo, with Al Diggin, vice-president of the employees' Association, replacing the reindeer. Especially delighted were the 12-year-old boys and girls who contentedly graduated from the ranks of employees children with gift watches this year.

Jim Kelman wore the Santa suit for the afternoon.

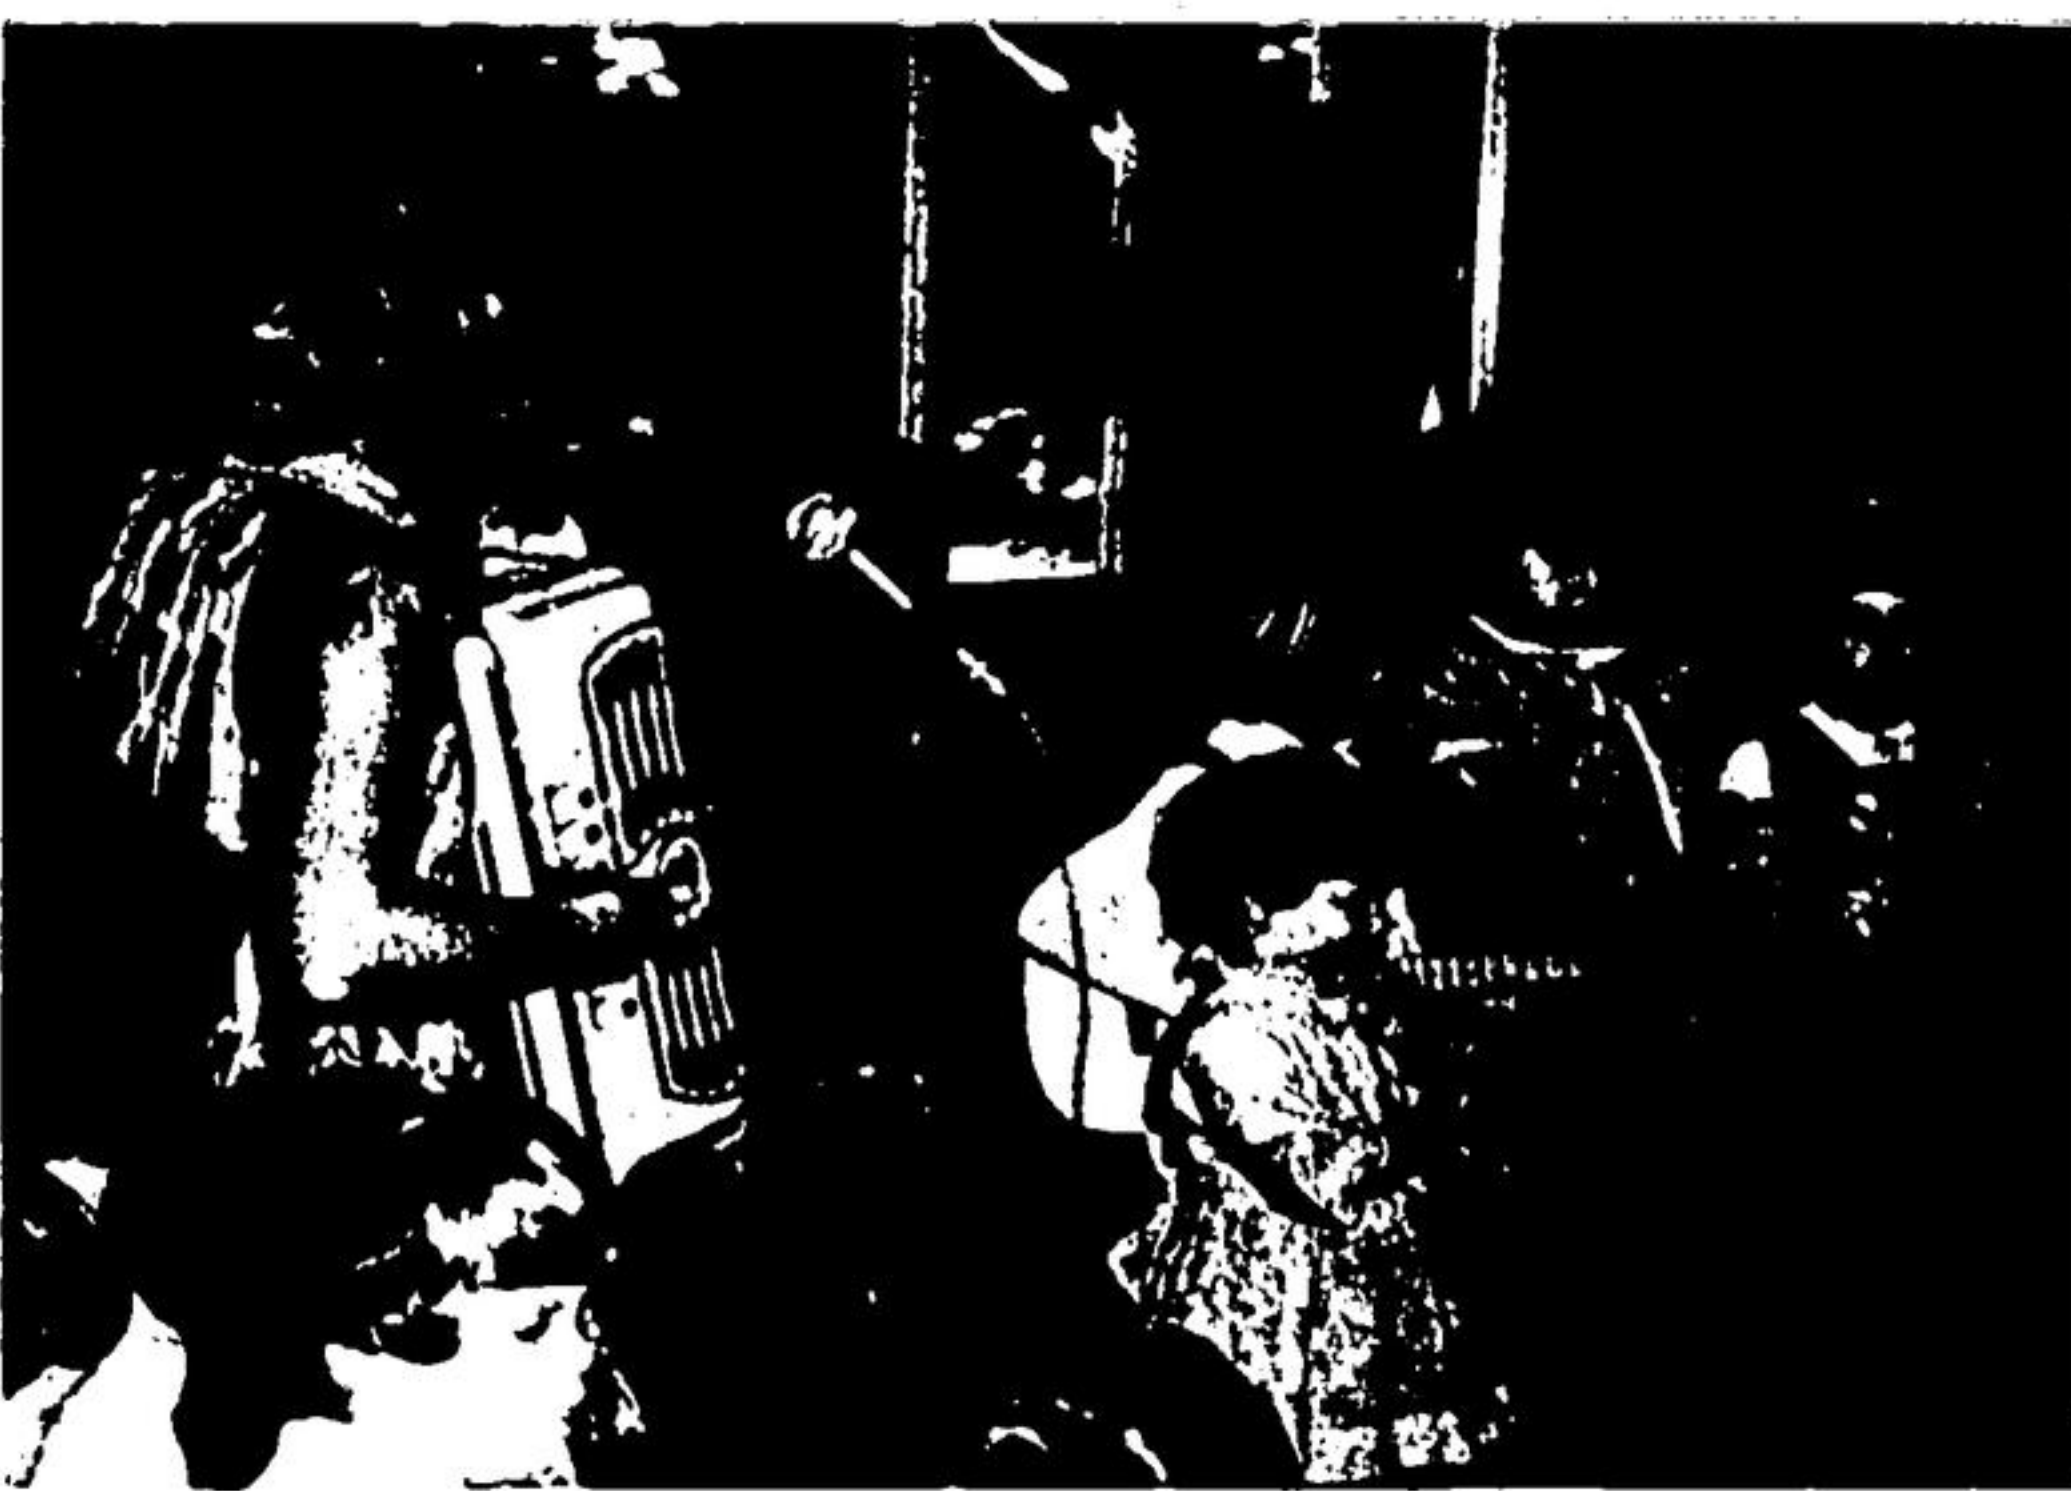

Entertainment was provided by The Leonards, a talented family from Toronto. Mrs. Leonard played the piano and sang; son Bruce was a ventriquist and daughter Lou Ann a dancer.

Committee in charge included George Gidman, employees' president, who acted as master of ceremonies; Mrs. Ron Guest, Al Diggin and Mrs. Barry

McIsaac. Jack Denny helped lead the singing.

Hot dogs, pop and coffee were enjoyed and the hall was filled with popping balloons amidst the general happy bedlam.
