Scouts, Guides hold first dance Monday

The Scouts and Guides had their first dance at the Scout Hall on Monday night. By 7:30 p.m., the hall was filled with prettily garbed young ladies and handsomely attired young gentlemen. As each new boy arrived, he was applauded by his "friends" according to his rating in appearance which was quite humorous to watch. The kids seemed hardly able to recognize the opposite sex at first, due to their scrubbed and polished appearance.

After vain attempts to get a "Paul Jones" and a "Snowball" dance to initiate them, the Scouters brought out a swinger game which really started things going.

A surprise birthday cake brought Mrs. Schonnop from the kitchen to celebrate her birthday; then she started a snowball dance which really took hold as she is so popular with the boys and girls. From then on, it was a swinging evening.

The ladies who were assisting in the kitchen enjoyed the whole evening as much as the kids and their Scout Leaders. It was noted the appetites were incredible as usual with bags of chips, cheeses, pop, assorted sandwiches and cake all graciously supplied by the Scout and Guide Mothers to make a very "large" evening for the youngsters.

The Scouts were very well behaved and the Guides were all young ladies, as expected.

One group now called Sea Scouts has begun building a kayak on their regular Thursday evening meeting night, which they are really thrilled about.

The Guides have been working on Home Nursing and have had the benefit of a registered nurse Mrs. Sue Sale to instruct them. Mrs. Strongtharm has lots of exciting plans for them.

It was this writer's thought that the youngsters of Acton are really very fortunate in having so many experienced and capable leaders for their groups. These 50 or so youngsters are proof of the terrific influence their leaders have on them. It was a highly successful affair and everyone concerned is anxious to try it again soon.

Brown Owl enrolled a large number of new Brownies in early December and it was a most impressive ceremony. Afterwards they all enjoyed a sing-song, which only young girls' voices can lend themselves so beautifully to. It was a real treat to hear these youngsters and their leaders go through their favorites for the benefit of parents.
