

Indigestion

It is not only a distressing complaint, but, by continuing, it leads to a general debility of the system, and is the parent of Rheumatism, Gout, and other ailments. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for Indigestion, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph L. Brooks, of Chelsea, N. H.

"I have Spleen and Indigestion, and my life is a burden and a curse, and I have tried every medicine, but have not been able to get any relief. I have tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it has cured me. I feel like a new man, and I can do my work as well as ever."

THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1896.

AN EARTHQUAKE.

On the 16th inst., a severe earthquake was felt in this city, and in the surrounding country. The earthquake was felt in the city of Georgetown, and in the surrounding country. The earthquake was felt in the city of Georgetown, and in the surrounding country.

I could not reply, there was no consolation for me to offer. Silence reigned unbroken, save by the sudden thunder as it boomed above our heads. These painful recollections were broken upon by the entrance of a venerable man who earnestly craved an audience of Pontius. Throwing himself upon his knees he exclaimed, "I am Joseph of Arimathea and I come to ask you permission to remove the body of Jesus of Nazareth from the cross."

Pontius replied without raising his head, "Go, do as thou wilt."

The old man hastily withdrew. He was joined in the outer court by some women who wailed and shrieked. Thus terminated this fatal day.

Jesus was interred in a sepulchre that was hewn out of a rock, and Pontius placed guards at the tomb. On the third day however, as he had foretold, glorios and triumphant over death, and then showed himself to a number of His friends. Such is the testimony which His followers give of Him, a testimony which many of them have sealed with their blood. But what is still more wonderful His doctrine confided to few fishermen is already spread throughout the empire. These simple humble men are strangely endowed with both wisdom and courage. This new faith spreads itself on the branches of the trees, under whose shadow the whole world will sit.

Since these fearful events, dear Pontius, everything goes wrong with Pontius. Blamed for his conduct by the Roman Senate, he has become an object of hatred to the Jews, those very Jews for whom he sacrificed his sense of justice. His flag dragged on in sorrow and in bitterness, whilst I am left alone, utterly alone.

Salome and Samedia are seized with horror at my approach and I wonder not, for am I not the spouse of the murderer of their God, and though they will salute me kindly, I perceive that my presence is painful and therefore I visit them no more. My life is passed in solitude. I meditate on the doctrine of this Jesus. Oh Pontius, what is the vain science of this world in comparison with it? None but a God could have brought such a faith upon the earth.
