POETRY.
A young man's love for a young woman is a thing that is not to be despised. It is a thing that is to be cherished and guarded with care. It is a thing that is to be treasured and held dear to the heart.

TO-DAY'S STORY.
Jamie's Wheel.
BY ELIZABETH BOBBINS.
Jamie started to go under the clothesline, with his flapping band of wet shoes and pillow-cases, and came out into the street trundling his prize.
There was one boy in sight. When he saw Jamie he started toward him. Then he started on a run toward him. Jamie made a brave attempt to knock him from one end of the street to the other. Jamie Freeman got a bike! Jamie Freeman got a bike!
