Address and Prostitution
To the Henry Carlton House and Brode:

Dear Friends—We are gathered here this evening to show a little of the respect in which both of you are held. We are sorry you are leaving your boyhood neighborhood where you have so many friends, yet it must be of little satisfaction to know that you have lived here and are loved by us all.

In the evening that we have found you Henry, always willing to help in whatever game was played and you played that game with such skill and grace, we are sure you will be missed.

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. O. V. Morris of Bridgeman, wore a beautiful gown of ivory duckies with trimmings of princess point lace and seed pearls. The skirt was made with a train and overdress of the lace outlined in pearls and caught at the left side with a clasp of chiffon and orange lace.

The bridegroom was Miss Marion E. Grayson, Toronto, cousin of the groom. Her gown was of the palest blue satin chaise, with an overdress of blue muslin, pink lace and roses. She wore a large white bow in her hair and a white plume and pink buds, the groom's gift, a pendant of roman gold and amethyst, and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

The best man was Mr. G. C. Morris, Hamilton; brother of the bride. The maid of honor was with you in your matrimonial venture in the West where you intend to make your home.

Since G. Fishing, Chas. H. Young, 10th & Sheepscot, June 16th, 1912.
