THE PRINCIPLE of This Store
IT IS TO PLAY THE GAME of Business fair and square, so do this day in and day out the year round.
To do it with everybody—rich and poor, old and young, with the experienced and the inexperienced buyer.
To offer goods of reputable character.
To sell them at the smallest possible profit.
Being content with what it knows to be right.
And, on that basis it solicits your trade.

First Great Anniversary Sale OR
Boots & Shoes Trunks Leather Goods, etc
15 Days Only Commencing on February 1st and Continuing until February 15th . . .

We will conduct a great clearing sale of our $20,000 stock which is all new and up-to-date. Just one year ago we opened this new store with a complete stock of Boots and Shoes, etc., and prices that met with the approval of everyone, and goods that satisfied every customer.
For the year 1913 we are prepared to do the largest shoe business and to carry the largest stock of any shoe dealer in Hamilton County. In the past few months leather has advanced 25 per cent and is still going higher. We bought $20,000 of boots and shoes at no advance upon last year's price, but we must list every dollar's worth of them before July 1st. So there will be something doing in the shoe business in Georgetown during the next few months. Our stock must go out to make room for the new ones to come. We have the big firm up a tree—viz: note as follows.

T. W. BEAMISH
Georgetown, Ont.
DRAIN SINK.
With reference to the 200 pairs of shoes of line 1128 we have on order for you, we regret very much that we cannot fill this line without a loss to ourselves of 50 cts. per pair. We would be pleased to send a credit note for 25 cts per pair, amounting in all to $50.00.

THE JOHN McPHERSON CO.
HAMILTON, JAN. 8TH, 1913

We replied briefly as follows:
No thank you Mr. McPherson. It is no use when we can get $2. We gave you this order to protect ourselves and our customers. Please send them on at once as we are ready to handle them.

T. W. B.
We want everyone to co-operate with us and benefit thereby, by our efforts to save you money.

Great Sale of Heavy Rubbers, Over-shoes and all kinds of Winter Footwear
Reduced way down for quick clearance. Space will not permit us to give prices in detail but everything will be 10 per cent off and many lines 20 per cent off. You will find these prices for fifteen days lower than any mall order house.
Thanking you for your kind patronage during the past year.

Let Us Wait on You
AND make delivery of some of that newly received stock of fresh food that we're prating so highly. No words of praise are undescored as it's as true as the shining sun that
NO FEED IS BETTER than what we invite you to buy here. There's plenty of law in buying food and we know it by experience. Knowledge of the business justifies us in saying, food here is always grade one and fresh.

Poetry
WEAKENING
The wind looks mighty grim at times,
His colled hair a mighty mane,
His daily frown of scowling frowns,
He does not lose the mail's betrayal,
He's given up his friendly smile,
He has no time for merry joking,
Ma's hooting is a little while,
That once again he'll take up arms,
As everywhere we do to go,
He's full of nothing but his own
At supper time he sits and looks,
He's like a man with a high
He's gone up and down the floor,
His one delight is to be sitting,
And he says he's such a bore,
She says she's a woman he'll never
He never takes her on his knee,
Except face down in the soup!
Why he should be out of gear,
I don't think I can tell, suppose it
But she says she's day or two,
That maybe he'll give up his croaking,
She thinks the time is almost due,
When he'll decide he can't quit croak-
ing.

To-Day's Story
THE BRAMBLY COTTAGE
The Story of a Rescue
By CLARISSA MACKIE

London Klutznigg looked over the fence and examined the lightening storm which was sweeping across the beach. "What a day!" he growled, snapping one knotted hand across a large and lustrous ear.
"I asked if there was good fishing in the lake," repeated the man in a low voice.
"Sometimes there is and sometimes there isn't," returned Mr. Klutznigg with an enigmatic smile.
"It all depends on the weather," checked Leonard. "Is it depend on the weather?"
"Oh, I don't know," returned Klutznigg. "I don't know. I don't know. I don't know." Klutznigg looked puzzled. "What is the weather like?"
"Where does she live?"
"I thought it was a fresh-water lake."
"It's a bay—nothing more or less than a bay," returned Klutznigg. "I thought it was a bay—nothing more or less than a bay." Klutznigg looked puzzled.
