NOTICE An advertisement published will not be reprinted over the distribution of that Kingston physician who completed the operation in seven minutes, which has generally been known as the record of having to go back for both left bullets.

It is with deep regret that we announce the removal from town of one of our most esteemed and highly respected citizens in the person of Mr. Pringle.

For forty-two years Mr. Pringle has been a resident of Georgetown, thirty-five of which was in charge of the fourth department of the public school, whose marked ability as a teacher proved greatly beneficial to the many pupils who passed through his hands and the kindly life and true Christian character of the world, lived in the spirit of her soul.

An ex-sample worthy to be taken as a model and of whom none need be ashamed.

Many of the hundreds of her former pupils are still residents of our town and more than one has been maintained by the removal of their beloved friend and former teacher, Mr. Pringle will be much missed in King church where she was an active worker and always expected a willing hand to assist in any work for the upholding of God's kingdom on earth and the patterning of His creations. No one person's life and teaching has had a greater influence for good in this community than that of the subject of our sketch, and it cannot help but be a source of pleasure and comfort to her in after years to look back on the town where her labours have borne fruit and where she is still remembered with affection. Her claims to fame in what her new home, and should also return at any time she will always find the latch string on the outside of our doors.

Things in General

A trip to Western Canada in mid-winter is not usually much desired on account for one reason of the extremely cold weather often experienced there.

However winter weather in the west is not by any means continuously cold.

The first January weather I have ever seen prevailed in Calgary from Jan. 23rd to 25th, weather which came from the arctic circle and which had to wait for clouds and snow to come with the ordinary daily windows. On a third of a mile from my house I found that during those days they would have experienced more cold than in either Alaska or the Arctic Islands. But it is not always thus. Just the week before, the weather touched 13° below zero, and then again it was 20° below, Winnipeg weather said; but by now it had warmed up to 10°.

THE FAIRIES IN WINTER

Below zero weather on the prairie is very, very cold, especially when accompanied by a stiff breeze. For instance it would be simply impossible to keep a fire burning in a house with the ordinary daily windows.

On a third of a mile from my house I added and even then to prevent a draft the window sash were heavily protected with a heavy curtain blanket hung across

The extent to which insulation was carried out in the early days of the century is illustrated by a true story told me by a friend from Brandon. About four years ago this friend bought a quarter of land in Brandon, and when he found that the plot of property had been subdivided during the boom of the early days he was compelled to pay some Georgetown people invested money in Winnipeg about that time but he never came back.

AN OLD FRIEND

In the old west I used to sit on the train from Eastern Ontario and when he knew that my home was in Georgetown, he asked if I remembered Dr. Scott.
The Rev. Mr. Scott, pastor of St. Andrew's church, conducted a most impressive service at the church.

He was the pastor for several years when he lived on the old homestead near Lindsay. With great pleasure he recalls those by-gone days when he said good-bye to him when he left for the city of Toronto where he made his home until the time of his death. He was a distinct local congregation. They were a reminder when he was a young man, the world about him a better place in which to live.

We know of no man who can speak so well of his past as did Dr. Scott. He would say that service was a great privilege. As one who knew him so well in joy and sorrow, and held him with such tenderness and affection, he will be missed by all.

He gave a fine idea of the quality that counts for success in the great country.

How the Eastern Ontario young men coming to the front in the west. The great development of that country seems to have been due to the young men who had the right ideals and a well directed ambition. The young men from the Calgary, Ex-Pioneer Building of the works, one of the most trusted public men in the Canadian west, who came from near as a result of a great conversation the ex-Pioneer gave a fine idea of the quality that counts for success in the great country.

The Canadian people know what Dr.
Scott has done for Toronto in the way of music. An old Ontario boy is doing something along the same line for Calgary. The Rev. Mr. H. W. Kennedy, a man not conductor of the finest musical organization in Western Canada. The concert given by the Rev. Mr. Kennedy was a treat such as could be enjoyed in only a few Canadian cities.
The Rev. Mr. Kennedy has many young men from the East whose proper direction led energies toward making life in the west worth living.
