THE GEORGETOWN HERALD

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, DEC. 13, 1916

MUNICIPAL MATTERS in town and township are apparently quiet. We hear rumors of a fun for the Reeveship of both municipalities; however, that will be definitely settled on nomination day, Dec. 22nd. There will be one new member at least in our Town Council this year as Reeve Fleck intends retiring.

WAR IS CERTAINLY extracting its toll of Canadians. Every day brings news of homes being bereaved of loved ones who have met death while fighting the foe. To the sorrowing relatives we can but offer our heart felt sympathy and shed the tears of our real sorrow for those who will never return:

And for thy sons returning not,
Whom Death shall keep away
From all thy love and longing,
Then bend the knee and pray,
Canada, thy Country!
Their laurels be a flower to thee
In all thine after years;
High honors for the living,
And for the dead, thy tears,
Canada, my Canada!

But in our grief to the departed let us not forget their "going out" ought to be an inspiration to others to take up the work they began but are not able to finish. They are gone but their work remains. From the grave their voices—if they could be heard—would call to their comrades to "Come and avenge us that our race die not!" Louder than any recruiting speech ever delivered us the message from our dead heros.

Short Course in Agriculture

The District Representative of the Halton County Branch of the Department of Agriculture is planning to hold a short course in Agriculture in Georgetown this winter. Every young man should avail himself of this opportunity, and plan to attend regularly.

The course will run for 4 weeks beginning Jan. 9th and ending Feb. 2nd. It is entirely free—no admission fee or any other kind of fee is charged.

Mr. Strong will be assisted throughout the course by a capable man, a graduate of the O.A. College, Guelph. Special speakers will also be brought in from time to time to talk on Veterinary Science, vegetables, plant diseases, poultry, horticultural ideas are put forth. The whole object of the course is to give the young men a better knowledge of their business.

Briefly, the course of study is as follows:—Feeds and feeding—the value of different feeds for different kinds of stock, comparison of different prices of feed, and figuring out which is the cheapest under existing conditions; Fertilizers and soils—the component parts of fertilizers and what each is used for, the plant food in the various kinds of soils and how best to make it available; Botany—weeds and their control, identification of weed seeds, Seed Control Act; Livestock—different classes and breeds with characteristics of each; Field crops—the different varieties, soil best suited for these, judging grain and roots; Poultry—the different breeds, strong and weak points of each, fattening and laying rations, hatching and rearing young chicks. Many other subjects will be taken up, but these just serve to show the value of the Course.

As the course is held only five days in the week, from 9 o'clock a.m. to 4 p.m., and in the slack winter months, there is no reason why all the young fellows within driving distance should not take advantage of this course in agriculture.

Better write W. F. Strong, District Representative, Burlington, and have him send you more information.

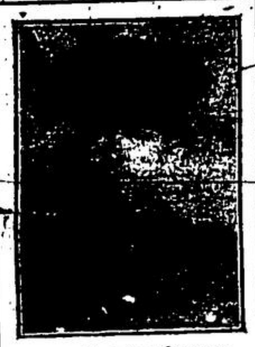
Memorial Service.

To the Late Lieut. Edwin Leslie

Knox church was packed to the doors on Sunday morning last, it being the occasion of the memorial service to the late Lieut. Edwin T. Leslie. The object of the beautiful service was devoted to Lieut. Leslie, fourteen of whose comrades attended the service in a body and occupied the honor roll of boys on the front. The vacant chair of deceased in the choir was covered with a Union Jack. The centre of the auditorium was occupied by Sabbath school children, the 20th Batt. Band and a company of men of the 164th Batt. under command of Major Gordon Brown. Lt.-Col. Dobrville of the 164th Batt. in which deceased was an officer before going overseas, was also present. The bereaved parents, members of family and relatives of deceased occupied draped pews in front of the men of the 164th Batt.

The service throughout was very impressive, and many a sympathetic tear was shed by women and men alike, during the speaker's reference to the honored and beloved son who had given his life for King and Country.



The late Lieut. Edwin T. Leslie.

Rev. Mr. Cameron chose as his text the last clause of the 2nd verse of the 14th Chapter of St. John, viz.:—"I go to prepare a place for you" He said in part:

"The thoughts of many to-day are across the sea thinking of friends and loved ones who have been wounded and are recovering. Others of friends who have recovered, been honorably discharged from the army and are returning home where they will be honored the remainder of their days. What about those who have died upon the field and in hospitals, attended by strangers, and laid in graves possibly known only to God? Have not they gone home too? Resurrection to-day means more than ever before. Never was there as many bereaved hearts; but the mighty God has spoken and we know the truth about death. Death comes to us as sleep and the life beyond is the true life to the faithful. The resurrection sends upon our sorrows the transfiguring light. How about those not faithful who have fallen? It is true that a good soldier calls forth the love of every honest heart. Courage is a real virtue. No one likes a coward. Self sacrifice is one of the finest elements and brings [illegible] Christ. Christ [illegible] that reprobate leader of a sect and his followers who tell us Christians should not fight God has put the responsibility on us and there is no nobler spirit than that of fighting for the highest principles. We marvel at the great self sacrifice men have made in this war and to them we bow our heads. Among the bravest some had not lived wisely. Redemption does not depend upon dying well, but we must not give up hope for them, because men realize when fighting their nearness to eternity and many are the silent prayers heard only by God. In the story of the thief on the cross who was saved at the last minute our Lord taught us the power of salvation. Whoever turns his face to Christ before death receives salvation. His sins are washed away. Christ said: "Verily, I say unto you, whosoever believeth in me shall not perish but have everlasting life." Whoever believes in the Lord Jesus Christ at death shall assuredly be saved. It may be that most people are saved in this manner. If the thief was an exceptional case we would have been told so. Christ said, "I go to prepare a place for you." When these dear lads came to this world a place was prepared, little garments were ready and mothers welcomed them in their arms. So when they pass to the new world they are expected, welcomed and their needs all supplied. Christ is engaged in preparing and interceeding. They enter into nobler service and meet old friends there who have gone before. The resurrection is our goal and Paradise a home of rest and joyful work. Death admits the faithful to a larger life.

There were no misgivings about the spiritual condition of Edwin Leslie. He was born here, lived here, attended High School, then became a member of the bank staff. A model young man who loved company, but it must be pure; he was the life of young people's gathering. I know not a single stain on his life. A pure young man in talk and actions, a friend to everyone In his quiet and pleasant way he exercised a splendid influence upon the young. He was an honored member of this congregation and a most trusted worker, a member of the Board, the church choir, (his chair is vacant ——), and treasurer of the Guild. In writing home he referred to our anniversary as the first he had missed in many years. He did not enlist for vain glory or show but through a stern sense of duty. He was not fond of fighting for he wrote "I hope this life of bloodshed may soon cease forever." What a grand thing could every man place himself in the presence of God as did Edwin Leslie. Writing to his mother from the battle front he said:

"I expect to go up any day now. Don't worry about me, I will be alright. I have long looked forward to my first trip into the front line, and now I have no fear for my life, as He who cares for and guides us all, will care for me too, and bring me out and home again, if it be His will. We can only wait and hope and trust and eventually all will be well."

These are noble words becoming any soldier, words of faith, the utterance of a soul. He lived years during a few days. This service is a fitting tribute and none make any apology, he was worthy of it all. Edwin Leslie has meant to me all I have said of him. Our hearts are sad, yet this is only one of many cases. Every community has been saddened by the loss of noble sons. May it make us more determined to defeat the enemy who has brought all this sadness on the world to-day. Christ said "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth on me, though he were dead, yet shall he live."

Rev John McColl, D.D., read the lesson and assisted in the service.

At the conclusion of the service Mrs. Henderson played the "Dead March" while the audience remained with heads bowed. It was very impressive.

After the service the 20th Batt. Band played, "Unto the hills will I lift up my longing eyes," "The Church's One Foundation" and "Abide with Me."

Warden's Dinner.

L. E. Fleck, Warden of Halton, Entertained Members of Council.

One of the most pleasant functions we have had the pleasure of attending was the Warden's Dinner to Hon. Mr. Foy, Milton, on Monday evening last. The meal was excellent and the toast list most pleasantly enjoyed.

During the past Warden Fleck has filled the position with which he has been honored, with credit to the county and himself. Always courteous but thorough in his business dealings, he has looked after the affairs of the county in a most satisfactory manner. The many kind words by the speakers of the evening reflected the esteem in which he is held by his colleagues and others.

The toast list of evening was as follows:

"The King," proposed by Warden Fleck and responded to by singing the National Anthem.

"Army and Navy," proposed by Major Anderson, responded to by Mayor Mac Smith, Major Grant and Lt.-Col. Mobile.

"The Warden and County Council" proposed by Judge Elliott, responded to by Warden Fleck, Reeve Eastwood, Reeve Porter, Deputy Reeve Ellison, Deputy Reeve Jos. ...

"Ex-Wardens" proposed by Reeve Little, responded to by R. D. Warren, Geo. Andrew, E. F. Earle and Reeve Duncan Campbell.

"Bench and Bar," proposed by Reeve Forster, responded to by Judge Elliott and Wm. Morrison.

"Professions," proposed by J. A. Tracy, responded to by Dr. J. R. Hixon and Dr. McColl.

"The Press," proposed by Reeve Forster, responded to by H. P. Moore, R. White, E. A. Harris and J. M. Moore.

"The Ladies," proposed by J. M. Mount, responded to by John Irving.

"Mine Host," proposed by Reeve Little, responded to by Warden Fleck.

The singing of the National Anthem brought a most pleasant occasion to a close.
