Glenwilliams

After a residence in Glenwilliams for over 18 years, Mr. W. A. Scott and family are leaving the village and going to Brampton. For a short time Mr. Scott conducted a successful shoemaking business here, then accepted a position in the knitting factory, and until a few months ago was one of Mr Beaumont's most trusted employees. Mr. and Mrs. Scott were earnest church people and took a deep interest in the founding of St Alban's parish, and subsequent building of the church. Mr Scott, at one time, was a Sunday School teacher and held different offices of trust. Mrs. Scott was a member of St. Alban's church Women's Guild from its inception and was indefatigable in her efforts to advance the church's welfare. On Monday evening the members of the Guild and other friends met at her home and presented her with a piece of silver and the following address:

Dear Mrs Scott,

It is with sincere regret that the members of St. Albans Guild have heard of your removal from amongst us. The assistance which you have rendered will ever be gratefully and lovingly remembered and our united wishes and prayer for you is that God will honour you by permitting you to carry on the good work. The members, desirous that you should possess some token of their regard and deep appreciation of your labour, ask your acceptance of this small token of our love, they hope it may prove a reminder of the many friends you are leaving.

Signed on behalf of Guild,
E. Beaumont,
H. Peck.

Glenwilliams, Jan. 22, 1917.

At the close of the proceedings refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs Scott will be greatly missed, especially from the church circle, and they will carry with them the best wishes of the entire village.

The Anniversary of the Methodist church, on Sunday last, was highly successful. The special music by the choir was exceptionally well rendered. The Rev. Mr. Simpson, of Brampton, was the preacher at both services, which were well attended.

We again draw the attention of Glen residents to the fact that owing to the generosity of our Township Council they are now entitled to the privileges of the Georgetown Public Library. The Library is well equipped with good literature and it is hoped good use will be made of the privilege.

Mr. Clarence Mullin, who has been ill, is now fully recovered.

Mr. Robt McMaster, Miss Ethel McMaster, Miss Nellie Weaver and Miss Mamie Hartshorn were among those from here who attended the presentation of colors to the 164th Batt., in Hamilton, on Friday.

Special features at the Sale of Work February 20th in St. Alban's parish hall, home-made cooking. Tea served from 4 o'clock.
