—THE NIGHT

[By Mrs. Annie E. W. Nottingham]

Feeling your day to be waning,
As though in the wear and tear,
Of the blood of the great dead,
The day you have judged and released,
The day with its light and bright Has come, but it shall be shortened,
The night "What of the Night?"

The day is closing around you,
The shadows are creeping on,
And darkness will soon surround you,
Your glory will soon be gone,
You over the hills and valleys
Made haste by your blood and light, Stare justice will overtake you,
So traitor "What of the Night?"

"What of the night" of darkness,
When some to be waning power,
At what will be the reaction,
In your dark and trying hour,
No light from the sun shall you see,
No ray from the sun shall you see,
By the blood that is on your hand,
And the blood that is on your hand,
Not only of soldiers slain,
But of women and little children,
When you buried and sealed Loovias
You tortured and killed your victims, Without ever having seen,
Your hands were more atrocious,
Than those of the men of darkness,
For these shall your days be shortened,
And your night is coming fast,
For God will avenge brave Loovias,
When it is all around you,
All that will you shrink with horror,
At the thought that meet your sight,
Blood, tillage, fire and outrage,
Oh traitor "What of the Night?"

DEATH BY BOILING

The Way Poisoners Fared in the Old Days in England.

TORTURE FOR MINOR CRIMES.

Medication used to be a powerful form of punishment, and the punishment was inflicted on the body for high treason.

In these medieval days, when a man who committed a crime of the high degree, with a few nobles' indignation, was so far as 1870 the punishment of the law for high treason, was that the offender should be drawn to a scaffold in the place of execution and there should be hanged by the neck until he was dead; that this his head should be severed from his body; that his body be divided into four quarters and that his head and quarters be of the disposal of the King.

And this was to be done the worse the crime that had been committed, as in the case of Henry VIII, who found in his coat. Those who were convicted of the heinous crime of putting poison in the broth intended for the king, or of less heinous a personage than the bishop of Rochester. For such a crime hanging, drawing and quartering was too merciful a punishment.
"Something lingering, with boiling oil" or at least water, was decided to be the punishment that would drive the crime, as the king's old days, as one John Hooper, one of Henry VIII's day, found in his coat. Those who were
poison in the broth intended for the
king, or of less heinous a personage than
the bishop of Rochester. For such a
crime hanging, drawing and quartering
was too merciful a punishment.

Overland

Undoubtedly the Industry's Crowning Achievement

From your point of view this announcement is most important.

For herein we set forth the achievement toward which the Willys-Overland organization has aimed for the last eight years.

This achievement in a word is the completion of the gigantic Willys-Overland organization to a point where a comprehensive line of automobiles can be made and marketed under one head.

This means tremendous economies—much greater than ever before.

This means the elimination of all waste, all lost motion and much greater factory efficiency.

This means an even higher grade of cars at much more attractive prices.

All of which means a substantial saving for you on the next car you buy.

For now and for the first time in the history of the automobile business we as one single organization offer the public a full and comprehensive line of automobiles.

This concentration—this greater efficiency—this more effective means of pulling together is going to set a new standard of low priced high-grade automobile values.

For we operate on the basis of——one executive organization
—one factory management
—one purchasing unit
—one sales expense
—one group of dealers
—to plan, produce and sell all Overland, Willys and Willys-Knight models.

Buying power is concentrated. Costs are distributed over all these cars. The savings are enormous.

As a result we are producing cars of exceptional quality—and marketing them at unusually low prices.

Every car is built to a rigid standard of performance, comfort and appearance.

The new models are listed in this announcement.
They include Overland models from the snappy compact $690 Light-Four to the beautiful Light Six Sedan at $2170.

They include also the big, handsome Willys-Knight from the Four at $1800, to the super efficient Eight at $2720.

These new models establish price records, value records and performance records which we believe will prove to the public conclusively that the vast economies of our production are the key note and manufacturing secret of the greatest value for the least amount of money.

R. M. McIntyre, Georgetown Representative for this District.
