Laidlaw—Ruddell

"Fairview Place" the residence of Mr and Mrs. S. K. Ruddell was the scene of a pretty home wedding on October 9th when their second eldest daughter, Frances Estelle, was united in marriage with Mr William Percy Laidlaw of Norval. At 4 o'clock the bride, unattended, entered the drawing room with her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Music rendered by her sister, Miss Olive. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens and white asters by Rev. Judson Truax, Georgetown, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride was gowned in white silk crepe de chene with conventional veil and orange blossoms and carried a boquet of cream roses. She wore the groom's gift, a lavallaere of pearls and peridots, and to the pianist he gave a pearl pendant. After the ceremony dejeuner was served in the dining room which was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums and smilax. Later Mr and Mrs Laidlaw left for a short trip and on their return will reside at "Evergreen" on 5th line, Chinguacousy.

"Birth of a Nation" Coming

"The Birth of a Nation," D. W. Griffith's massive spectacle, coming to the Town Georgetown, Tuesday October 23rd is the largest and most important production of a decade, yet not a word is spoken throughout the performance of nearly three hours. Music supplies the absence of speech, mechanical effects and realism, whilst the wizard of the screen, David W. Griffith, unfolds in 12,000 feet of film the thrilling romance of the war between the States and the Reconstruction of the Southland. Some idea of its magnitude may be had from the facts that 18,000 actors and 3,000 horses took part and that the staging of this great "outdoor" drama cost half a million dollars. Several of the actors are of Southern lineage. Henry Walthall, who plays the heroic role of the little Confederate colonel, is a member of the well-known Walthall family of Alabama. Miriam Cooper, who appears as Margaret Cameron, is a direct descendant of Charles Carroll, the Maryland signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr Griffith is the son of a Brigadier General of the Confederate Army. For every character, however small, Mr Griffith has found just the personality needed. After that his masterly direction made each one give a perfect characterization of the widely varying roles. The result was not acting but life itself. Such realism is never seen in the old-fashioned stage. The limitations of the theatre were swept away for nature was Mr Griffith's stage. Panoramas after panoramas is revealed to the astonished eyes of the spectator. The most inventive imagination could hardly picture to itself such scenes of splendor.
