NOT MUCH OF A MAN

He may be as rich as a millionaire Or a scion of noble name: No sage with his wisdom may compare-He may shine in the blaze of fame, He may be the most marvellous thing in sight. That our humble eyes can scan. But if his heart is not in our fight He isn't much of a man!

He may be as square as the day is long And Just in his every deal;

He may seek the right and eschew the And to Gods of all ages kneel.

He may be a saint in his boly ways, Soul pure since his life began, But if out of his Country's war he stays He isn't much of a man!

A man may be true to his child and And loyal to all mankind; He may do no fil in his whole long life, And yet to his horror find. When no patriot fervour floods his breast

At the threat of a foeman's clan He lacks in that which, of all is best For he isn't much of a man! -Laurana Sheldon

Ancient Bird, the Pterodactyl, Had Twenty-Five Fast Wings, Weighed About Twenty-Five Pounds.

Whence do the angels derive their wings—the angels, that is to say, of painting and sculptural art? From what source is the accepted model for these appendages derived?

It is rather difficult to say, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger. But apparently the wings conventionally worn by angels are those of the albatross. At all events, albatross wings correspond most nearly to the patterns.

The albatross weighs about 18 pounds and has a wing spread of 11% feet. Ench of dis wings has an area of seven shuare teet. With a wing spread proportionate to size, an angel as well. equipped for flight as the albatross ought to be able to fly very wall. The trumpeter swan, which is the greatest weight-carrier of all long-distance flyers, would be at a disadvantage as compared with an angel. It weighs '28' pounds and link a wing But no angel or mollern bird could compare as a flyer with the pierowhich, weighing perhaps 25 pounds, had a wing spread of 25 feet. Its bones were almost paperifice and its. to its wings. With a liest that was principally a dangerlike beak, and pouch like that of a pelican, it fluttered motilitie (looking for fish) slong the shores of the Creticeous sen that extended northward from the present Gulf of Mexico to and over Kansas. He was "some"-flyer, the "pteranolon" (as naturalists call this species of pterodactyl); our modern flying machines have yet to rival his perform-sources-our agricultural and mineral wealth, our forests, our fisheries, everything that is Canada's. Germany won't be satisfied with European territory, with teeming masses, wrangling, factions and depleted natural resources. She wants colonies-big, thinly-populated countries in temperate zones for her sons and daughters to go to propagate their kind. The Kaiser would sacrifice millions of Germans-to-morrow if he thought that by so doing he could set foot on Canada's shores as Conqueror.

And what's more, the Germans would offer themselves for the sacrifice, so great is their subjection to the military ideal.

The only thing that balks German ambition is that battle line from the North Sea to Switzerland-and the British Navy.

The Only Thing That Sustains Our Men on Land and Sea-is Food

What are we, each one of us, prepared to do to insure that Food supply?

Germany, by her submarine campaign, has seen that great Armada, the British Mercantile Marine, shrink in volume. Germany has seen South America, Australia, New Zealand, India and far away outposts of the Empire practically cut off from supplying food to the Motherland because of the lack of ships. Forty million Allied men and women having been put on warwork, food production has dangerously decreased in Europe.

These forty million consume more food than when they were in ordinary occupations, and there are fewer men for farming. Hence an direct necessity and a direct plea. The Canadian and the United States citizen who sees war as I see it needs no inducement and no inspiration but the thought that every spade full of earth turned and every animal reared is les-sening human suffering and guaranteeing the liberty of the world."

sharing with France and Italy their limited stock of food. For in this there is mighty pride, a conscious measuring of their glory with the best traditions of ncient Sparta, and of Imperial Rome, for Britons know that upon them rests the burden of saving humanity. The story of their service shall ring and echo forever along the hilltops of history. To Send More Food to Our Allies is Not Charity

It is war. The Allies have a right to demand it. They have a right to resent the offer of only what is "left over." Those who are fighting the common battle for civilization and for our protec-tion have a higher claim than had Laz-arus, to only the "crumbs that fall from the rich man's table."

The Canadian people must recognize that our Allies have the first claim on our food supplies. As the shipping situation makes the Allies dependent upon the North American continent for food, it is vitally necessary that Canada should increase her production of food in order to take a larger part in providing for the Allies' require-

Disaster in the Very-Word "Peace" . Lord Leverhulme, long known in Canada as Sir William Lever, who knows

well the German mind, in a recent interview stated: "You will never be able to dictate terms to Germany till she is beaten. The argument you mention is founded on the dangerous fallacy that because Germany is sick of this war she is sick of war in general. She isn't. I doubt if her Government is even sick of this war. You've read the speech of that old brigand, Hertling. Is there any sign of re-pentance in that speech? Is it a chas-tened speech? Is it the speech of a statesman who wants disarmament and a league of nations? No! Germany is back in her mood of 1914. She believes she is wirning the war. She believes she has won now. And if we talk of peace to her she HAS won it. Why, it would be better a thousand times that every man in England should be dead than that Germany should issue from this war with the feeling of a conqueror, You hear people use the phrase, 'to the last

GET TOGETHER IN THE FIGHT FOR LIBERTY Let us not lament what MIGHT be, but earnestly face what MUST be. Fifteen thousand boys between the ages of fifteen and nineteen must be or-ganized as "Soldiers of the Soil" to work on Ontario farms this season. Farmers can get one or more of these boys by applying to the District Representatives or to the Public Employment Bureaux at Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton or London. Unmarried men, exempted from military service, are urged to take up farm work. Married men who have had previous experience on a farm are urged to resume farm work for a season. Employers of labor are asked to assist men o take up farm work.

We urge the farmer and the towns-

men to get together for greater produc-
