Military News

Judging by the letters which are being received at Ottawa, there is still much uneasiness in the rural districts due to the widespread belief that the nineteen-year-olds who recently registered are to be called up at once and exemptions cancelled in cases of men 23, 24, 25 and 26 years of age.

It can be stated officially that there is no intention of calling out any of these classes for the present and official announcement to this effect will be made in the course of the next week. The present plan is to call up the fall, when harvesting is over. What will be done then will depend entirely on the state of the war and the need for reinforcements. If the situation is still as urgent and critical as it has been during the past few weeks the Government undoubtedly have to call up the nineteen-year-olds and cancel exemptions of some other ages.

The order cancelling exemptions between the ages of 20 and 23 has been highly successful, and has resulted in securing speedy reinforcements. There have now been called to the colors nearly 75,000 men under the Military Service Act. The next couple of months will increase the quota to one hundred thousand. This was all that was provided for by the act, and if the number is to be increased Parliament will have to be summoned early in the fall or on the return of Sir Robert Borden.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP

Backward, turn backward, oh cash in your flight,
 Let me be flush again just for to-night—
 Prices return from your limitless soar,
 Bankbook, dear bankbook, the days have been long—
 Since I last stood in a depositories' throng;
 Days without heat enough, nights without light—
 Mentless and heatless—no sugar in sight,
 Let me but dream of the days of things cheap,
 Rock me to sleep, brother—rock me to sleep.

Backward, flow backward, oh garments threadbare,
 Let me remember you as you once were;
 I am so weary of toiling for gain,
 Toil without pay enough—gain all in vain;
 Weary of spending my shekels each day,
 Weary of seeing them vanish away;
 Tired of the struggle to make my duds last—
 So tired of wearing my hats of the past,
 Let me but dream of a job with pay steep,
 Rock me to sleep, brother, rock me to sleep.

G. T.R. Time Change

A new time table came into effect on the Grand Trunk on Sunday but none of the trains going through Georgetown in any direction are affected. In future no train from the Canadian side of the river will be allowed to go through the Sarnia tunnel except freight trains.

Music in High Schools

To put the study of music on the curriculum for the High schools of Ontario is one of the first moves of the new Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody. It is said that the announcement of this change will be made soon. "Ontario is the only Province in Canada," said one prominent educationist, "which does not teach music in its High schools."

NO MILK FROM CHINESE COW

Bosky of the Flowery Kingdom Yields Only to Onspring—Used Only for Draft Purposes.

Americans who travel through the interior of China greatly miss "Cow's Milk and Her Butter," as a Japanese sign puts it. The people of the Orient use little of either. Mares' milk is sold to invalids at a high price, because the Chinese believe that it is a source of great bodily strength, says the Youth's Companion.

But the natives use cows solely for draft purposes and, having earned her living for years in this manner, bony stands upon her dignity when American demand milk of her. To her offspring she will give it, but not to man if by any possibility she can avoid it.

In Japan there are now a few American-bred cattle, owned by foreigners, that make the native cows look like goats. One of these cows was imported into Korea by a missionary, but he had difficulty in getting his cow to tend the beast. The servant was fresh from his country home, where he had heard little and seen less. He took the cow for an elephant and fled before her.

In Korea the little native cow is a petted darling that has been indulged to such an extent that, incredible as it seems, she refuses to eat grass unless it has been boiled.

It is not unusual in very cold weather to see a pet cow clothed in a thick, warm blanket, while the children of the family shiver in their cotton garments—and often very few of them.

Building a Trench.

Trenches on the western front appear to the civilian eye which is fixed upon photographs to be just a ditch backed by dugouts. In reality, details a trench correspondent, an enormous amount of work and scientific study is required for the establishment of a complete winter trench.

For every mile a trench over 4,000, 100 sand bags are needed. One man can fill a bag with earth and lift it to place 25 times in a night, when all the work of repairing trenches is done it would take a battalion eight months to do this work.

A mile of trench and its concomitant protection demands 12,000 six-foot stakes, 12,000 small pickets, 6,250,000 sandbags, weighing 1,000 tons in all; 16,000 feet of corrugated iron, 1,125,000 feet of timber, etc.

"Mamma, didn't you say last week you wanted the carving-knife and the chopper sharpened?"

Mrs. Stubb—Indeed I did. Bless your little heart! How thoughtful you are! They are both as blunt as to be used.

"Well, I'll take 'em round to the cobbler's for you."

"How sweet of you to offer to do such things for your mamma, my little cherub! I'll wrap them up."

"No, don't wrap them up. I want them to shew. There's a boy out there waiting to lick me! but I fancy when he sees me coming he'll go home!"

Smokeless Powder.

The advantages of smokeless powder, besides its virtue of high explosives, are two-fold. It does not create a smoke cloud that betrays the location of the gun or gunner, and at the same time the man behind the gun is not confused for a second by a pall of smoke that obscures the line of vision in the direction of the enemy.

Naval Cadet Stung.

"For certain slang expressions used by the Annapolis cadets," writes Julian Street in his new travel book, "American Adventures," "I am indebted to a member of the corps. From this admiral-to-be I learn that a 'bird' or 'wasso' is a man or boy; that 'steam' is marine engineering, and to be 'tilged for juice' is to fail in examination in electrical engineering; to get an 'unsat,' or unsatisfactory mark, or even a 'slip' or 'wabo,' which is a zero. Cadets do not escort girls to dances, but 'drag' them; a girl is a 'drag,' and a 'heavy drag' or 'brick' is an unattractive girl who must be taken to a dance. A 'slouth' or 'Jimmy-legs' is a night watchman, and to be 'ragged' is to be caught. Mess-hall waiters are sometimes called 'mokes,' while at other times the names of certain exalted dignitaries of the navy department or of the academy are applied to them."

Passing of London Landmark.

Another fine old London landmark, St. Olive's church, in Southwark, is to be closed. It derives its name from Olaf, the Christian Viking of whom Longfellow sings in stirring strains, writes a London correspondent. But England possesses churches with Danish associations of a different kind. When these pagan sea rovers invaded England and were caught, the ancient English used piously to flay them and nail their skins to their church doors. In the College of Surgeons are three grith relics of the sort, one taken from a church at Hadstock, Essex; a second from Copford in the same county, and a third from the north door of Worcester cathedral.
