WE WONDER what spite Warden Forster has at his home county when he is using his vote and influence to have the Children's Shelter located in Peel. Halton has more desirable properties in both Georgetown and Milton that can be secured for less money than the Brampton property, and yet our Warden, assisted by some other members of County Council at whom we are surprised, would go out of our own county for a location. Better move the county buildings over to Peel and be done with it.

IF ANY MERCHANT wants a concrete instance of what influence advertising will do, he would find it in the daily press recently when the plans for the new T. Eaton Co.'s new mail order building was given publicity. A huge $8,000,000 building is not put up nowadays by anyone who has his wits about him, asks does it pay to advertise, and finally give up letting the public know what they have for sale. Instead of considering cutting down space, increase it. Do not give the large city firms the chance to carry off your business, because you are afraid to spend the money letting the people of your vicinity now about the bargains you can give them at once.

Obituary
MRS. LAMBERT.
One of those very sudden deaths which shock every community in which they are so frequently happening, occurred in Mrs. J. A. Lambert, the dearly beloved wife of the editor of the Representative passed away on Friday when she was 58 years of age. She was a devoted wife and mother and in many ways had enjoyed better health of late, was performing her household duties in her usual cheerful way on Friday, enjoyed her dinner with her husband and after disposing of the after-dinner duties laid down to a couch to rest. A few minutes afterwards she fell into a swoon and never again spoke to her, but setting up her head, she lay on her back and expired. She was buried in the family plot and entombed in a vault, Mrs. Lambert was a member of the Methodist church and was a devoted member of the church. Deceased was a faithful, earnest Christian woman of high ideals and shed an influence for good on her home and the community. She was at one time an active member of the Altissimum Club and was for a while its vice president, but her delicate health prevented her becoming prominent in social circles. Cooper, in the absence of Rev. D. W. Wood, conducted the services and deceased's two sons and two nephews—Messrs. Wesley, Harry, and Frank Trimble and Walter Pickard of Toronto—were the pallbearers. Obituary
MRS. LAMBERT.
One of those very sudden deaths which shock every community in which they are so frequently happening, occurred in Mrs. J. A. Lambert, the dearly beloved wife of the editor of the Representative passed away on Friday when she was 58 years of age. She was a devoted wife and mother and in many ways had enjoyed better health of late, was performing her household duties in her usual cheerful way on Friday, enjoyed her dinner with her husband and after disposing of the after-dinner duties laid down to a couch to rest. A few minutes afterwards she fell into a swoon and never again spoke to her, but setting up her head, she lay on her back and expired. She was buried in the family plot and entombed in a vault, Mrs. Lambert was a member of the Methodist church and was a devoted member of the church. She was a very kind and generous woman and was a devoted mother and wife. She was born in the town of Milton, Ontario, on June 24th, 1860, and was the youngest daughter of the late Geo. Wrigglesworth, ex-rev. of the township. On Aug. 10th, 1881, she was married at the home of her father, the late Mrs. W. Trimble in Trafalgar by, to J. A. Lambert of Mt. Forest. Coming to this town a fortnight after her marriage she has resided here ever since with the exception of six months, 28 years ago, when she with her husband were residents of Bramford and Acton. Deceased was a faithful, earnest Christian woman of high ideals and shed an influence for good on her home and the community. She was at one time an active member of the Altissimum Club and was for a while its vice president, but her delicate health prevented her becoming prominent in social circles. In the Methodist church she was a useful member; early in life a member of its choir and at the time of her death she belonged to the W.M.S. and Ladies Aid. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Norman of Winnipeg, and Elmer of Toronto; also by three sisters and four brothers, Mrs. David Trimble and Mrs. J. H. Cameron, of Toronto; Mrs. L. M. Parsons, of Minneapolis; Mr. John Wrigglesworth, of Esquesing also ex-rev. of the township; Mr. Geo. Wrigglesworth of Georgetown; Mr. Wm. Wrigglesworth of Didsbury, Alta.; and Dr. Thos. G. Wrigglesworth, V. S., of Eau Claire, Wis. The funeral Monday afternoon from the home on Normanly st. to the Mt. Forest cemetery was private, with the request for no flowers. Rev. D.
