The Georgetown Herald

Wednesday, September 25, 1918.

IT IS FOR EVERY ONE OF US to say how much patriotic endeavor, how much loyal sacrifice we will make by saving our money, by "doing without," so that each day will see a surplus to add to our own and the nation's strength.

EVERY TIME you buy a thing you do not need you interfere with Canada's war work. Every dollar you spend on things not strictly necessary is a dollar not merely wasted but used to employ labor on things that have nothing to do with our efforts to win the war for freedom.

A FEW OF our motorists in town still disregard the request of the Motor League to be patriotic and save gasoline by refraining from joy riding on Sunday. It is a pity there are some so heedless of such a reasonable request, the granting of which means more power for the boys at the front, whose effort and sacrifice has made it possible for us to live and be able to motor during six days of the week. Be loyal. Save the gasoline.

COMMUNITARIAN are like people. They are apt to get "Out of Tune." Harmony is any work. Every dollar you spend on things not strictly necessary is a dollar not merely wasted but used to employ labor on things that have nothing to do with our efforts to win the war for freedom.

ON THE PRINCIPLE that so much gasoline was saved and that a penny saved is a penny gained, there are substantial grounds for arguing that the economy be continued for the balance of the war. At the same time the spirit of saving should not be held here next Wednesday and Thursday, and with fair weather the exhibit and crowd will outpace anything in the past history of the show. The big list of specialties is drawing many onlookers and an enjoyable time for all is assured. Got your entries in early.

Military Notes

Interesting Letters from Lieut. "Jim" Pedley and Pte. Bert Parr.

Major Grant has received word that Capt. Fred B. Goodwillie, an old Georgetown boy, who enlisted in the West in the early part of the war, was wounded on September 2nd.

Pte. J. D. Hood, who recently went overseas, writes from England to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hood, Stewarttown, that he arrived safely and was enjoying the best of health.

Cadet Ward Brown of the Royal Air Force, Hamilton, spent the week-end at his home, 9th line Esqueping, and called on friends in town.

When his machine caught fire while flying over one thousand feet in the air near Leaside, Camp Toronto, on September 12th, Cadet Harry Cessington Sanders, of Brin, was burned to death. Sanders was flying in the neighborhood of the camp, when his machine was seen to burst into flames and the burning engine fell to the ground. The body of the aviator was burned to a crisp and beyond recognition when the wrecked debris from the engine fell to the ground. What caused the engine to take fire could not be learned.

Another "Milton" boy has made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefields of France. Inspector Denyse received word from Ottawa last Wednesday morning that his son, Maschuan, who went over with the 164th Battalion, has been killed in action.

Word has been received that Pte. Howard Robinson, son of Mr. George Robinson, Oragh, has been killed in action. He also went over with the 164th.

Pte. Bert Parr who is recovering from his recent wound, writes from England under date of Aug. 28th, to his mother as follows:

My Dear Mother—Just a few lines to let you know I am getting along all O.K. and I guess I will soon be going to Convalascent now. I was out yesterday for the first time alone and I took a long walk around here of about two miles. I felt quite myself again. I will be in Convalascent a week or so, then for a few days leave and then to my Training Depot and get ready for France again.

Write out on my walk yesterday I met Wagstaffe from the Glen. I forget his first name now, he used to be in our Bn. but came to England before we did. I was quite surprised to meet him but believe it is nice to meet anyone you know, especially when you are in a town with people you never saw before, but I have met a lot of nice boys since I came here.

I think Charlie Ruddy is coming down to see me. I had a letter from him saying he would come down. I have not seen Charlie since a year ago last June, so it will be like olden times to see him again.

I have never had any mail from Canada for a long time. I guess it has gone to France.

Well mother I will come to a close. Best regards to all and write soon. I remain, with love

Bert.

Lieut. "Jim" Pedley writes to his father Rev. J. W. Pedley, of Toronto, formerly of Georgetown as follows:

Aug. 19th, 1918.
 Dear Mother and Father—Life lately has been like a moving picture to me. I do not need to tell you the two great events. My leave to Paris, and following close upon it the big battle in which I picked this lovely bright. Cables must be as common as garden sass at the old home now. I hope the official telegram did not worry you too much (if you got one at all). I sent one from hospital yesterday, at Beauvais, specifying that my wound was slight. Just to head off grief.

"It is a beauty and the Lord only knows how it is I only got one when there were so many flying about. There was not even a blade of grass for cover, and I was walking upright wondering how many more steps old Fritz would let me take, when Bingo a mule kicked me, as one might say, and I was lying down feeling rather relieved, I think, and I could hear voices calling all around me. Stretcher bearers! Stretcher bearers! Stretcher bearers!" I waved the S.B. back, for it was no healthy place for anyone to be, but became right on up across the open and dressed my wound. Then I brewed back shook hands with Capt. Jolliffe, who was directing operations from a shell-hole about three inches deep, and started to the aid post (a big shell-hole), accompanied by one of the men. This last, after seeing the thro, returned to the front line, but was hit on the way up and landed back at the aid post before I started on my long journey out. Vern Armstrong, too, who was with me when I got mine, stopped one with his arm a few minutes later. He caught me up at the aid post, and we went down together. I saw him last night at Rouen, and he should reach England to-day.

"My bullet slanted through muscle at the back of the leg about as high as the top of the puttee, clean and nice. There will hardly be a scar after she heals.

Obituary

MRS. MARSHALL HOLMES
 One of the choice spirits of the community passed away when Mrs. Marshall Holmes, of Nasasagweya, departed this life on September 7, in Guelph General Hospital. Mrs. Holmes had been in poor health for some time. Deceased was the daughter of the late Duncan Morrison, of Pushtich. Her mother was a member of the well known McCaig family and a sister of the late Donald McCaig, for years Principal of Rockwood Academy and late Inspector of Public Schools for Algoma. Forty-four years ago Mrs. Morrison and Marshall Holmes were joined in holy wedlock. They commenced their life work together on a farm in Nasasagweya. All the intervening years were happily spent and this wife died in the 71st year of her life. One son and two daughters blessed the home. Duncan, who occupies the homestead, near Moffat, Mamie, the wife of William Goydy, Manager, Toronto Lime Co., Limestone, Catharines, and a daughter, Mrs. J. H. Goydy, of Mariposa College of Agriculture, Winnipeg, Betsieva, wife of James Lowry, of Nasasagweya, and Annie widow of the late John B. Dredge, whose sudden death occurred on the way west towards Toronto. While Mrs. Holmes' first consideration was always for home, she found time also to devote to church and social work. She was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, a member of the Guelph Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, and a member of the Guelph Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Her husband was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and a member of the Guelph Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Her husband was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and a member of the Guelph Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Rev. (Capt.) W. E. Hindson, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church Georgetown, passed away at his home in London, Ont., on Wednesday morning last. Capt. Hindson suffered a nervous breakdown due to over work, and this was followed by an operation, after which he was stricken with pneumonia. His physical condition became so weakened that he was unable to withstand the strain and he passed away. Capt. Hindson had many friends in Georgetown who will be exceedingly sorry to learn of his demise. He was a loyal and true subject of His Majesty the King, and his good work and all parts of Western Ontario, particularly in Military District No. 1, where for a time he was chief recruiting officer, resulted in the securing of many men to join the colors. He was a forceful and convincing speaker and had no use for anyone who was not doing all they could to win this war. He was also absolutely fearless on the platform and it was due to the hard work he put in as a recruiting officer which had a great deal to do with undermining his health. He was engaged for some time as the chief public representative in connection with the work of the Military Service Act in Western Ontario and did valuable work up to the time of his death.

Capt. Hindson was born 27 years ago at St. Catharines and was married in 1905 to Miss Margaret Iverson, and she with four boys aged 4, 7, 9 and 11 respectively, are left to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and loving father. His father is also living at Tillsonburg. They will all receive the heartfelt sympathy of many Georgetown friends.

WANTED
 Driver for grocery wagon. Apply at once to A. M. Grandy, Grocer 9-25-18

This souvenir business is a real part of a battle, I find, and it has a useful function. I used to think it foolish, but it has the power to relieve the strain of the long campaigns, to make a joke of tragic things. You do not see the ghastly death-face of a man, you are too busy looking for his watch. Dead and alive are searched fifty times before the day is over, amid much joking and interest.

(Concluded next week.)
