SONG OF SONGS

There's a song that falls like the early breeze
Where the white mists shroud the meadow,
And a song that crooms to the friendly trees
In the twilight's silver shadow:
There's a song of storm and a song of shine
And it's each to its tune and meter—
But the song that lives in this heart of mine
Is a better song and sweeter.

There's a song that comes with the day's good wage,
And a song to light it's earning.
There are songs that fall like the calm of age,
And a song of youthful yearning.
There's a song that flits when the day dreams go
And the glad years turn to many
But the blithest song is a song I knew—
And I love it more than any.

There's a song that springs from the heart of things
With the wondrous others round it,
And I hear it still as it sings and sings,
And I know that I have found it!
But the song that's best in the winging gloam
When the rest trail silent after,
Is the thrill and lilt of a welcome home
Of love—and a baby's laughter.

Refreshments at Fall Fair

Esquesing Women's Institute will serve tea, coffee, pie, ice cream hot dogs, etc at their booth at the Fall Fair at Georgetown, Oct. 2nd, and 3rd. Patronize them and help supply comforts for the boys at the front. 2t.

Stop too Close to Tracks

The Ontario Safety League reports that it has noticed a large increase in accidents along electric railway tracks, especially on grades. It has investigated a number of accidents and finds that one of the most fruitful causes is the common practice among drivers of automobiles and other vehicles of keeping on the tracks unnecessarily and stopping close to tracks. This practice is particularly dangerous on account of the increasing width of the railway cars and the increasing congestion of this branch of traffic. Six feet at least from the tracks, where possible, should be allowed to permit railway cars to pass with safety to vehicles and the passengers.

To the Public

I am the only man in Georgetown now who can buy the McPerson shoe right out of the factory in Hamilton, and as this is the oldest and most reliable firm in Canada I have secured the agency for Georgetown and put in a big stock of Women's, Men's, Boy's and Children's shoes for fall and winter. The leather in the McPherson shoe is tanned by a new process and as near waterproof as it is possible to make them. For Sale only at J. Roney's, the most reliable and cheapest repair shop in the county. Buy the McPherson shoe at J. Roney's and keep your feet dry. I have three boys at the front helping to make huns run.

DOGS WILL BE SHOT

During the past week dogs have attacked sheep and geese on this property. We respectfully warn dog owners that if they have no further use for their dogs just let them appear on these farms. Bradley & Rush.

CALLS FOR BRAKE

Middle-Aged Man Would Slow Up Wheels of Time.

Is Living in Hope That Some Man Will Devise a Workable Scheme for Renewing One's Lease of Life, and Do It Quickly.

"What we really need," said the middle-aged man, "is some way of slowing up the wheels of time.

"As every man who has begun to get on in life knows, the older we grow the faster time seems to fly. In our youth even single days seem to be endless; but when we get to be about so old the years go so fast that they seem to spin around like pinwheels.

"There was once an advertiser with a patent medicine to sell who started off his advertisement by describing himself as a retired physician whose sands of life had nearly run out. A well-meaning friend in the far West wrote to him saying that if he would mix a little molasses with the sands they wouldn't run out so fast.

"Of course there was an idea in that; but the minute you come to think it over seriously you see that there is really nothing to it. To make the wheels of time turn slower you'd have to have something more than molasses. I have thought that perhaps we might invent some sort of brake, a very powerful brake, for this purpose, but I guess there's really nothing in this idea, either.

"Lacking the means of making the wheels of time turn slower, so that we would seem to have more time, I have thought that perhaps somebody may yet devise a way of renewing our lease of life. If we could get an indefinite renewal of our life lease we wouldn't care how fast the wheels turned, because we'd have endless years for them to turn in.

"The man who could devise a workable plan of this sort would get rich beyond any sort of dreams whatever; that is, if he could prolong his own life as well as sell life-renewal leases to others; for I fancy that, hard as this world may be in some respects, the great majority of us would like to continue living in it a long, long time, and would give all we had for that privilege.

"For myself, I can say that I like the world very well and I would like to stay on it interminably. If there is anybody now working on this life-lease-renewal device I hope he will get it running before the sands of my old-fashioned life shall have run out completely; and if when he opens up for business he will let me know where to find him I shall go to him; and, if I have the price, take out as a first extension a renewal for about a century."

Dealing With the Occult.

An astonishing number of books on occult subjects are being published in these days, especially on lines relating to the future life, the theme taking on a new interest because of the war and its losses. One writer, Prof. W. J. Crawford of Belfast, is dealing with so-called spirit manifestations in a new way. For one thing, he has tried seating the medium on a weighing machine while the manifestations are going on and watching the varying record of her weight. He has found that where a chair or table was levitated an increase in her weight almost corresponding to the weight of the piece of furniture was noted. When there were rappings her weight lessened, the amount lost varying with the intensity of the sounds. What these phenomena indicate to his mind or what he expects to prove by them does not appear.

Balzac Would Have Starved.

Some of the geniuses of earlier generations would have a hard time of it with civilian rations in Europe. Many of them are still remembered for their appetites. Thackeray and Dickens were both masterful at the table. Balzac was equal to making a dinner of eight dozen oysters, twelve cutlets, a duck, a pair of partridges, and all the customary "trimmings." Herbert Spencer once went upon a vegetable diet, and declared that after he returned to meat he had to rewrite everything he did in the interval to get virility into it.

Regardless of the effect on genius, rationing is spreading. Even walking sticks have come under governmental control in England, and presumably a prospective purchaser will soon have to present a license to carry such an ornament.—Nation's Business.

Big Tuna Cannery.

Half a million dollars is to be expended in the construction of a large tuna cannery on the island of Maui, in the Hawaiian group, states The Canner. The waters around the islands swarm with fish of every description, among which the tuna is predominant and attains an enormous size. The operation of this plant will be a valuable addition to the food supply of the United States and may lead to the establishment of an important fishing industry in the island territory.

Puzzling the Kaiser.

"Dere's one t'ing puzzles me," said the kaiser.

"Vot's dot, eggsellency?" asked an underling.

"Mid dose Yanks sbending all dere time making money und inventioating fine machines for us to swipe venever did dey learn how to fight de way dey do?"
