Teach the Children to Save
Habits are acquired early in life. Children, who are taught the value of money and the habit of saving, grow up into good business men and capable workers.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much work and self-denial it represents.

THE BUSY MAN
By some obliging friend,
And want a promise safe and sound,
On which you may depend,
Don't go to him who always has
Much leisure time to plan.
But if you want your favor done
Just ask the busy man.
The man who has leisure never has
A moment to be spared,
He's always "putting-off" until
His friends are in despair,
But he whose every waking hour
Is crowded full of work,
Forgets the art of wasting time—
He cannot stop to slack.

Great Britain Honored
By Large Celebrations
Held in the United States

NOVEMBER 11, the day on which the armistice was signed, is likely to be observed as a great holiday by all the nations engaged in the war, but the individual nations are likely to hold in perpetual observance those days which contain special memories for them. A more remarkable sort of commemoration is that which one of the Allied nations offers in honor of a comrade nation. In this class we must place the celebration that was held in the United States on December 8, 7 and 8 in honor of Great Britain's part in the war. On Friday, the 6th, the schools all over the United States paid their tribute. The day following was the turn of the nation, and on Sunday the churches throughout the nation held special services to do honor to the part Great Britain has played in the war.

The celebrations are all the more remarkable that they were arranged spontaneously without any hint from London or Washington. The organizations under whose auspices they were held are the Sulgrave Institution, the American Defence Society, the National Security League and the National Committee of Patriotic Societies. The first of these societies maintains the Washington House in Northamptonshire, England, and the other societies have come into birth since the beginning of the war. Prominent Americans connected with the various societies are Mr. Taft, Alton B. Parker, a former Presidential candidate; Elihu Root, ex-Justice Hughes, Col. Roosevelt, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Governor Whitman, Charles F. Patterson, and other men of almost equal prominence. In the observance several ex-ambassadors participated, the most being James W. Gerard, David Jayne Hill and Robert Bacon.

The honoring of Great Britain in part to return the great compliment paid the United States by the Empire on July 4 last. On that occasion a service was held in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, and Dr. Walter Hines Pater gave equal precedence with King George, each sitting on a dais. According to P. W. Wilson, a correspondent of the London Daily News, who contributed to the New York Tribune, King George sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," after thanking God for the Declaration of Independence, which, it will be recalled, makes some painful reference to a well-known ancestor of his Majesty's. Over the Houses of Parliament the Stars and Stripes was flown side by side with the Union Jack at the mast-head. We doubt if it is on record of one nation so royally saluting another, so handsomely celebrating an anniversary which would have aroused unpleasant memories to a country less royal-hearted.

The three days in December must give profound satisfaction to what was only a short time ago almost entirely unknown company of American citizens who have worked so unselfishly to promote greater cordiality and better understanding between the English-speaking peoples. They had to oppose powerful political influences such as that controlled by the English-hating Hearst newspapers. It was not so long ago since a politician in almost any state in the Union could get a hand for a vigorous twist of the lion's tail. This unfortunate and unreasonable anti-British sentiment was fostered by the school books in the United States, which were at that time largely written in Great Britain, and taught the children of the republic that the War of Independence was an almost uninterrupted series of American triumphs against a cowardly and ruffianly English army. The schools are now being purged of these perverters of history, and anti-British sentiment has almost wholly disappeared. It has been a long time and again that one of the great and lasting benefits of this war has been the drawing of the two nations, and there is every reason to believe that the new relation is a permanent one. Canada, in a sense, has been a link between the Empire as a whole and the United States, for even at this time the efforts of Great Britain were not appreciated by our cousins, their newspapers vying with those of Canada in their denigration of the people of all the dominions and colonies named in the American Declaration of Independence. The ties of affection uniting the scattered loyalists of the American people to the common cause, once war was declared, has also been a lesson and an inspiration to us in Canada and to the Empire at large. The war has taught us to respect each other to an extent that perhaps a century ago could not have done. We have learned that upon the great issues we are of one flesh and blood.

Over Three Million Men
Was the Price of Liberty
Paid by British Empire

BRITISH casualties during the war including all the theatre of activity, totalled 3,049,891, it was announced by the British House of Commons today by James McPherson, British Secretary for the Colonies. Of these, 1,750,205 were killed, wounded, missing, or otherwise aggregated 1,433,684 and the men 2,807,567. The total losses in the fighting on the Franco-Belgian front were 2,719,652. The total of British losses in killed on all fronts during the war was 2,823,122. The total of British officers and men 3,049,891 were killed.

The aggregate British losses in the Mediterranean theatre were nearly 1,000,000, according to Mr. McPherson's figures, the total being 2,823,122. The missing, including prisoners, totalled 360,145. Of the wounded 2,464 were officers and 338,478 were men. The missing and prisoners totalled 15,355 comprising 58 officers and 14,789 men.

The total British wounded in the war was more than two million. The Parliamentary Secretary's figures showing the aggregate to be 2,823,122. The missing, including prisoners, totalled 360,145. Of the wounded 2,464 were officers and 338,478 were men. The missing and prisoners totalled 15,355 comprising 58 officers and 14,789 men.

In Italy the British losses totalled 6,738. Of these 86 officers and 941 men were killed, and 31,717 others were wounded. Of these 765 missing, 38 were officers and 727 were men.

The Dardanelles expedition cost the British 119,729 casualties. Of this number 1,785 officers were killed or died, and 31,717 others were wounded. The missing, including prisoners, totalled 328,686, comprising 10,346 officers and 318,340 men.

Esqueving Council

Esqueving, March 10, 1919. The Council met pursuant to adjournment, the Rev. J. L. Elliott, in the chair, and members all present. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The report of the Georgetown Municipal Council and others re County Provincial Road, were received and heard. Hampshire-Elliott—that leave be granted to introduce a by-law to appoint overseers of highways for the year 1919 and that said by-law be now read the first time.—Carried. McDowell-Thompson—that the by-law to appoint overseers of highways be now read the second and third times and passed.—Carried. Elliott—McDowell—that the treasurer pay W. O. Moore for tile commission $4, total $10; W. J. L. Hampshire 8 days expenses $8; commission $8, total $16; J. L. Standish 1 day expenses $8; commission $8, total $16.—Carried. Elliott—McDowell—that the treasurer pay W. O. Moore for tile commission $4, total $10; W. J. L. Hampshire 8 days expenses $8; commission $8, total $16; J. L. Standish 1 day expenses $8; commission $8, total $16.—Carried.

Elliott—Thompson—that the treasurer pay D. Neilson $2.50 for operating road machine one day.—Carried. Hampshire-Elliott—that a copy of the following resolution passed at the meeting of the Rural Municipal Association of Ontario be forwarded to Dr. A. W. Nixon, M.L.A. for the County of Halton, and that he be requested to take the matter up with Sir William Hearst, Premier of Ontario, and the Executive Council of the Province.—Carried. Moved by W. J. L. Hampshire, Councillor of the Township of Esqueving, and seconded by E. C. Thompson, Councillor of the same Township, that whereas the Upper Canada College purchased 500 acres of land in the Township of Esqueving some five years ago, which, under the terms of the Upper Canada College Act, is exempt from Municipal taxation, although none of the said land is, or ever has been used for college purposes, and whereas it appears to be an injustice to local Municipalities, that land used for farming purposes, although owned by educational institutions should be exempt from Municipal rates. Be it therefore resolved that the Provincial Legislature be requested to so amend the statutes, general and special, as to provide that lands owned by the Upper Canada College and other educational institutions, which are not in use for purely college or school purposes, be no longer exempt from Municipal taxation.

Hampshire-Elliott—that this Council do now adjourn and stand adjourned until April 14th next, at 10 o'clock a.m.—Carried.

Judging Class and Seed Fair

The Judging Class held by the Farmers' Clubs of Halton Co. and the Department of Agriculture and the Seed Fair held by the Halton Agricultural Society, on Monday, March 10th, at Milton, were a huge success. A large crowd attended the class and the interest never lagged. Thirty-nine boys from all parts of the county entered the competition. The judges were very much pleased with the high average in marks made by the boys. The winners were: 1st—G. T. Moffat, Acton, prize, a Shorthorn calf. 2nd—J. Willmott, Milton, prize, a Yorkshire sow. 3rd—E. E. Patterson, Milton, Leicester sheep. 4th—Lorne McLean, Oakville, Shropshire sheep. 5th—Fred Irvine, Hornby, Holstein calf. 6th—Donald Pickering, Oakville, Leicester sheep. 7th—John Elliott, Milton, Ayrshire calf.

The exhibits at the seed fair were good samples for seed and considerable seed was sold. The winners were: Early oats—J. F. Ford. Late oats—Edwin Harrop, J. F. Ford, Fletcher Campbell. Barley—J. F. Ford, H. Cartwright, James Stark. Peas—M. J. Carton. Marquis wheat—J. F. Ford, E. McCann, J. E. Hunter. Coarse wheat—J. F. Ford, A. W. Milne. Red clover—H. Cartwright, J. E. Wilson. Alalfa—J. F. Ford, A. E. McMurray. Alfalfa—E. McCann, E. Harrop. Potatoes, late—W. D. Gastie. Best exhibit—J. F. Ford.

The evening meeting in the Princess theatre was well attended considering the bad weather and roads, and those who were present enjoyed the splendid programme. Addresses were given by Mrs. Fletcher, of Newmarket; Mr. Mason, of Cambridge; Mr. Harding, Middlesex; Mr. Fulthorpe, Winnipeg; and Mr. Rettle, of Toronto. J. F. Ford very ably acted as chairman. —Hear Lieut. Beverley Robertson, R.A.F., in the town hall on Thursday, March 27th.
