To the Farmers of Georgetown and Vicinity.

Before we bought your cream you were trusting outsiders to test and weigh it. We have always paid the highest market price and will continue to do so. Honest weight and fair treatment have won for me a large trade and I shall endeavor to keep it by the same honest methods, I will buy your cream every day in the week and will give you the same price as paid by any creamery in Toronto. I am aware an effort is being made to put me out of business by bidding you a higher price than the market price, in order to get you shipping out of town, but it is only temporary and to injure me that this effort is put forth. Stay with the old reliable firm that is here every day in the week and all year round, to pay you possitively the highest market price, in cash, for your
