Teach the Children to Save

Habits are acquired early in life.
Children, who are taught the value of money and the habit of saving, grow up into good business men and capable women.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much work and self-denial it represents.

Save the Money

You Waste and Make It
Earn You More Money

How much of your wages do you fritter away each week on trifles?
If you reckon it up you will probably find that at least five per cent. disappears thus "like snow wreaths in thaw." If your weekly wage is $15.00 you spend easily 75 cents of that on "mere trifles" before you know it.
But suppose you said to your employer:
"Each week I want you to keep 75 cents out of my pay envelope and invest it for me in War Savings Stamps. As you buy each War Savings Stamp put it in my pay envelope, and go on doing that for a year." You will never miss that 75 cents. But at the end of the year you will have over $36.00 invested in Savings Stamps. By then they will be worth considerably more than $36.00, and by 1924 they will be worth $45.00.
War Savings Stamps are guaranteed by the Dominion Government. They have the same resources of Canada as their security, the same as Victory Loans. And they bear an unusually high rate of interest. You can cash them at any time, however, if you need to.

KEEP IT TO YOURSELF

If a friend has done you harm Give it no wider spread alarm, Don't tell him his wrongful place, Help him mend his evil ways,
And keep it to yourself.

If you hear of one "gone wrong," Do your best to make him strong;
Don't think a man who's down,
Or add the goods of the town.
Keep it to yourself.

Errors men commit live long.
Many are weak and are strong;
Help the weak to see the light,
And keep it to yourself.

The Troublesome Tenant

By AGNES G. BROGAN
(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union)

July 14th.
Mr. Amos Giles.
Dear Sir: I have been greatly inconvenienced since moving into the house rented from you a week ago—by a leaking in the roof directly over the cook stove. Also, the stove cannot be made to cook. Will you kindly send your agent, immediately upon receipt of this, to attend to the matter, and oblige, the new tenant?
HELENA BRIGGS.

Lyndenville, July 15th.
Helena Briggs.
Dear Madam: I understand that my agent stated, when renting the house, that it was offered at present low figure, because of its unusual condition, the understanding being that occupant could afford needed repairs because of the decided reduction in price. This is still condition of agreement. Truly yours, AMOS GILES.

Lyndenville, July 16th.
Mr. Amos Giles.
No one could possibly agree to have rain pouring on their vicinals at any low figure. The deceiving man who rented your house, suggested merely that desired alterations might be accomplished with the reduction of rent.
What are you going to do about it?
B. BRIGGS.

July 17th.
Helena Briggs.
Dear Madam: Will send man to fix roof. Any further difficulty will have to be remedied at your own expense.
A. GILES.

July 20th.
Dear Mr. Giles:
It is now the bedroom roof which leaks. Damp sleeping rooms are bad for rheumatism. Will you send your workman over again as soon as possible?
HELENA BRIGGS.

July 20th.
My Dear Mrs. Briggs:
It will be impossible for me to attend to any more repairs. My son's car and your husband up to fix the leak?
A. GILES.

July 21st.
If I had a husband, he never would have rented this house. Only a woman could be so imposed upon. I am going to move out.
HELENA BRIGGS.

July 22nd.
Miss Briggs:
Some other place will probably be more conducive to the improvement of your rheumatic condition. My agent failed to inform me that he had rented the place to an elderly woman living alone. Will you forward key at once, as I wish to take possession of the house myself.
A. GILES.

July 22nd.
Mr. Giles:
Enclosed find key. Would like to know if I might have my complaint less peremptory, had I known that you were an elderly invalid. You were pointed out to me only this morning at the post office.
May I suggest the south bedroom as the most healthful in your house?
Sincerely,
HELENA BRIGGS.

P. S.—Have taken for the summer, the small cottage across the way.
B. B.

July 20,
Lyndenville.
My Dear Miss Briggs:
Pardon what may appear impertinent curiosity. Was it not the white cottage opposite, which you had rented for the summer? And was I not given to understand that you live alone? Yet this afternoon, a young and beautiful girl suddenly faced me from the window seat of my own living room, beneath which she explained she had left her music while occupying this house; possessing the music, she passed out of my house and directly over to yours. I may also add that I have inadvertently noticed the young woman from time to time in your garden. Was it by your authority, Miss Briggs, that she came to the music? Respectfully, AMOS GILES.

July 20th.
Dear Mr. Giles:
Am returning answer by messenger.
I, Helena Briggs, want for the music; I must be your "young and beautiful girl." I never told you that I was addressed to you, but merely mentioned the fact that damp is injurious to rheumatism. I'm working out here on a book of children's stories and my husband is my sole companion. But this is very perplexing. It was a youngish man who faced me at the window seat today, you, I did not see at all. Perhaps my spinsterish ways upset you, thinking that that's what I like to call myself just now.

DAMASCUS STEEL LONG BEST Old City for Many Centuries Led the World in Producing and Distributing Finer Grades.

Before the use of gunpowder, weapons of steel, such as sword and spear, were the soldier's chief reliance; and in making and distributing the finer grades of steel, Damascus led the world. The knight who owned a "Damascus blade" had the very best thing of its kind, still unsurpassed, though the sword has gone out of fashion. According to a writer in the Journal of the Royal Society of Arts, this high-grade steel came originally from India and was the result of a process devised and developed by Hindu artificers.

"One of the many articles which contributed to the world importance of India was the famous Indian steel," he writes. "It appeared first in western Europe during the middle ages, under the name of damasceen, or Damascus steel. By another trade route through Persia and the Caspian it found its way into Russia.

"The iron and steel industry was highly developed in ancient India. A witness to this exists not only in the famous wrought-iron pillars of India, but in many other specimens, some of them at least being undoubtedly high carbon crucible steels.

"To this last category belonged the swords or small knives of carbon steel, from which the damasceen blades were manufactured. Some of such knives were investigated by Reaumur, but he found nobody in Paris who knew the secret. Some others were presented to the Royal Society by Doctor Scott of Bombay, and brought to this country by Doctor Pearson. Par-sady took a keen interest in them, and his investigation of alloy steel, conducted in conjunction with Studart, was the result.

HAVE CAUSE FOR GRATITUDE

People of Today Enjoy Luxuries Not Thought of Only a Few Short Years Ago.

"Have you ever thought of the fact," said the middle-aged man who always takes the same table in a little restaurant in Herald square, according to the New York Herald, "that as regards inventions and discoveries the last twenty-five years are the richest and most momentous in all the world's history?
Of course you haven't. We take all such things so lightly. When I was a boy we had no motion pictures to entertain us, and the only amusement we had was to be taken occasionally to a dime museum or a Punch and Judy show.

"Just think of what the children now have compared to that. We used to ride in dingy horse cars, with straw on the floor in winter and a little stove in the corner. And it was impossible to read in those cars by the flickering oil lamps. Now, just let me give you a list of a few things that make for our comfort, convenience and entertainment today—all things which have come to us within a quarter of a century. Here they are:

"The electric light, the telephone, the automobile, the electric car, the motion picture, the phonograph, the airplane, the subway, the tubes under the rivers, the typewriter, duplex telegraphy, wireless telegraphy, the air-brake, the repeating machine, the inter press, sanitary plumbing and the al-lure in almost every home, antiseptics and marvelous advances in photography. Now, my friends, think this over and you will be amazed how much farther advanced this generation is and what comforts and advantages we enjoy to which we give so little thought.
Surely we have reason to be thankful."

Twenty Years in One Room.
If we devote, on an average, eight hours to sleep, says Sir St. Clair Thomson, the English throat and nose specialist, at least of our 24-hour day is spent indoors, and each individual who reaches sixty years of life will have passed no less than twenty years of his existence in the one room, and only one room where he is likely to be sole arbitrator of the ventilation. Unless there are exceptional conditions, the windows of every sleeping room should be wide open all night and every night.
"The blinds should be drawn up, otherwise, from their valve-like action, they will only permit intermittent and uncertain ingress of fresh air, while the only egress for deoxidized air is by the inadequate route of the chimney.

Old Songs.
Who can fittingly describe the warmth of feeling, the awakening of tender memories that come to us when we hear an old song—one that we have known and loved in other years? asks David Blapham. In this we find a sentiment at once true and deep, and a sentiment it may be of the romantic, weaving its magic in aromatic lives like our own.

McGowan Hartshorne
Knox Presbyterian Church, Georgetown, was the scene of a wedding on Thursday, June 5th, at 2:30, when Lily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hartshorne, Glenwilliam, became the bride of Mr. James McConeh, of Toronto. The Rev. Mr. Cameron performed the ceremony and Mrs.
Henderson played the wedding march. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white georgette and lace, tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of orchids, lilies, and carnations and Lily of the Valley. She also wore a diamond hair pin, the gift of the groom.
Miss Mary Hartshorne and Miss M. Campbell, of Toronto, acted as bridesmaids, wearing frocks of crepe de chine and carrying bouquets of orchids. The groom's gift to them being gold bar pins. Mr.
Martin, of Toronto, acted as best man. A reception was held after the ceremony at the bride's home, which was tastefully decorated with carnations, sweet peas and lilies, with a dainty lunch was served.
The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly gifts, showing the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends in Toronto and Glenwilliam. The happy couple will make their home in Toronto.—Com.
