The Georgetown Herald
Wednesday Ev'g., Oct. 15th, 1919

EVERY WOMAN whose name appears on the electoral list as a voter is also entitled to vote in the provincial elections. This is a fact of which many women seem to be in ignorance.

A CONSTANT READER of THE HERALD writes to suggest that the town's first Mayor, for several decades Mr. Allen has been one of Georgetown's most progressive citizens, and during recent months he has done much to bring about a better understanding of the town's needs, notably, the making of Georgetown a city town.

JUST A WORD TO THE WOMEN. Two votes will be taken on Election Day, October 20th, one on the temperance referendum and the other to elect members to the Legislature. This is the first election in Ontario when all women may vote. It is important for every woman to remember when voting on election day that she should receive the referendum ballot and the ballot to elect members to the Legislature. Answer every question on the referendum ballot and mark your legislative ballot for your choice of candidates.

WHEN WE GET THROUGH with the election and referendum campaign probably a little thought to another very important matter. We refer, OF COURSE, to the matter of showing our appreciation in some tangible way of the services rendered by our boys who have returned from overseas. If they and others had not responded to the call we would not have the privilege today of casting our votes under the British flag. Surely, surely the good citizens of Georgetown are not going to fall down on this matter.

WE'RE MIGHTY GLAD the brave boys from Georgetown who sleep in Flanders Fields will never know how slow we have been in our effort here to commemorate their heroic death. Is it possible we are going to forget the sacrifices they made for us? Has the winning of the war made us selfish, miserably selfish and so darn mean in this prosperous town that nobody seems to want to speak of a memorial for fear it will cost him something? Those heroes who gave their lives, that you and yours and me and mine might live in comfort and happiness, will sleep in peace in their poppy covered graves whether or not a monument is erected to their sacred memory; but God forbid that we should be so ungrateful.

THE LADIES, GOD BLESS THEM, are those days chattering over the fact that they will shortly be in a position to show the men a thing or two at the polls. The new temperance is going to change woman's attitude in many ways. She won't be content, as in the past, to take for granted all that she hears from the man of the house; and with enlightenment will come independence and the habit of forming her own judgment on many points that she has not bothered about in the past. The maid whose vote will equalize that of her master and mistress, is not going to be as meek and lowly as she used to be, and she will go all the way round. They can now start to even up on some old scores—and the first solar plexus would appear to be that of keeping drink out of the men's way. They not only intend doing that, but they purpose the and stinging in an earnest, growing sort of way that to the men resembles an irate mother scolding a bad boy who has had his own way long enough.

No use telling 'em anything, they simply regard you with a "bad boy" look or anxious to remark that some people cannot have all they want—a method of dealing with a fellow that is at least exasperating. Life is scarcely worth living in many homes these days, and one isn't surprised to learn that the crowds are increasing at the movies and the fraternal societies. Whatever woman lacks in knowledge of the ways of the world—and that you cannot reform a man in one generation—she certainly does know how to use her day and power and the ability to throw the harpoon. Ah, well, it looks very much as if man had had his day and there is little use of him getting stubborn about it. Should he try to retaliate it is more than likely the dear ladies would have the nerve to get even by refusing to get us our suppers, or find us a clean shirt, or tell us where we laid our Sunday trousers! There's no relying upon what a woman would do.

—Mr. Frank L. Robson, for years the popular leader of the Royal Orchestra, and who was well known in Georgetown, died at his home in Brampton on Saturday, October 4.

Citizens of Georgetown
Speaking of a Very Timely Matter
What do You Think of The Ontario Temperance Act?

WOULD YOU like to see liquor back in the saddle again --- not in Stratford, or Newmarket, or Peterborough--- but right here in our own fine, clean, progressive industrial Georgetown?

DO YOU KNOW of any or many happier homes, better nourished children, more considerate husbands---and some worldly comforts added?

MR. MERCHANT, has the loss of the 'booze industry destroyed your business as was solemnly predicted?

MR. MANUFACTURER, how do you feel about it?

Well suppose we just let this liquor curse crawl back and regain its feet. How would you like to see some mighty decent fellows who have cleaned up and got a fair start again, exposed to the old temptations? They don't want it --- and they certainly don't want you to wish it on them.

Quite apart from the moral view of things, from a strictly material side, has it not been about the best thing that ever happened Georgetown?

There is only one perfectly safe course, and that is

Place a Distinct X under each No on Your Ballot.

AND DON'T FORGET---This is "Ladies' Day" too. They now help settle the question for all time, and they surely will.

Have you ruffled you? If we did, it was quite unintentional. But those things will happen, once in a while. Not very often—very seldom, in fact. But do this—Sit right down and get it off your chest by rubbing a piece of paper. Don't rub it too hard if you can help it, but write anyway, or better still, come in and tell us. Next to having you satisfied (which is what we are in business for) we want to hear when you are not satisfied, so we can fix it up. We don't believe in dissatisfied customers and will prevent it if at all possible.
