Damage by Storm

Many Buildings Unroofed and Trees Blown Down

The wind storm of Saturday night last and on Sunday was the worst experienced in this section for many years. Not much damage was done in the town, some trees and fences were blown down, but in the surrounding country many buildings were damaged. The loss in this line will be considerable to the farmers, and what makes it worse is the season of the year. Those we have heard of who suffered by the storm were:

J. M. Buck, windmill down
H. Barnes, Esqueing, roof off barn
Jno. Giffen, Esqueing, roof partly off barn
S. Trimble, Esqueing, shed unroofed and silo down
M. Campbell, Esqueing, roof off barn
A. S. McEnery, Esqueing, roof off barn
J. Ackit, Ballinafad, roof off barn
Hall at Ballinafad, unroofed.

BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS
Be sure to secure your seats for Town Hall, Georgetown, Thursday December 4th, when Bunty, with youthful charm and certainty, sets to work to pull the strings. Throughout the three acts Bunty's delicate hand manipulates the wires that entangle the situation until all is clear, and then she takes her patient Wellum and promises to manage him for the rest of his life.

It is almost impossible to convey any idea of the fascination exercised by this enchanting play. The atmosphere created by the old-fashioned costumes—the play is laid in hoop skirt days—by the homely surroundings, and above all, the beautiful burr that sounds in every word spoken, is needed. A line here and there may be recalled; for instance, the hopeful air with which the elder promises, when the "meanister" is unable to appear at "kirk," "Never mind, we'll ha' a langer service next Sabbath," and the disapprobation of the minister's man when it is suggested that he give the church bell one more ring, expressed, "It's unusual; it will be spoken about—perhaps in the general assembly." And a scene may be referred to as that in front of the church, when Bunty's Wellum, clad in his importance, "watching the members of the congregation put in their mites as they enter."

And after all, delicious as the play undoubtedly is, it would fall dull and flat if it were not enacted by a thoroughly competent company. And in this we have every assurance that the coming organization is proficient in every part. Miss McNaughton was Graham Moffat's own choice. She was sent to America from Glasgow for the New York and Chicago engagements. Eastern papers heralded Miss McNaughton as the best "Bunty," but more recent reports from Spokane, Portland, Vancouver, Winnipeg and other neighboring cities where this company has played, pronounce Miss McNaughton as one of the most charming artists that has ever been seen in the play.

All the other members are from various other "Bunty" companies of the past seasons, and are the original players who first made "Bunty Pulls the Strings" so popular in America.

Seats now on Sale at Mathew's Drug Store.

SURPRISE THE FAMILY WITH A Brunswick Phonograph FOR CHRISTMAS

If you are thinking of buying a Phonograph, be sure that you get the LATEST and the BEST. If you don't you will regret it when you SEE and HEAR the Brunswick.

People are changing these Phonographs every day, to become an owner of the Brunswick, the final Phonograph. All other Phonographs are old style when you place them beside the Brunswick.

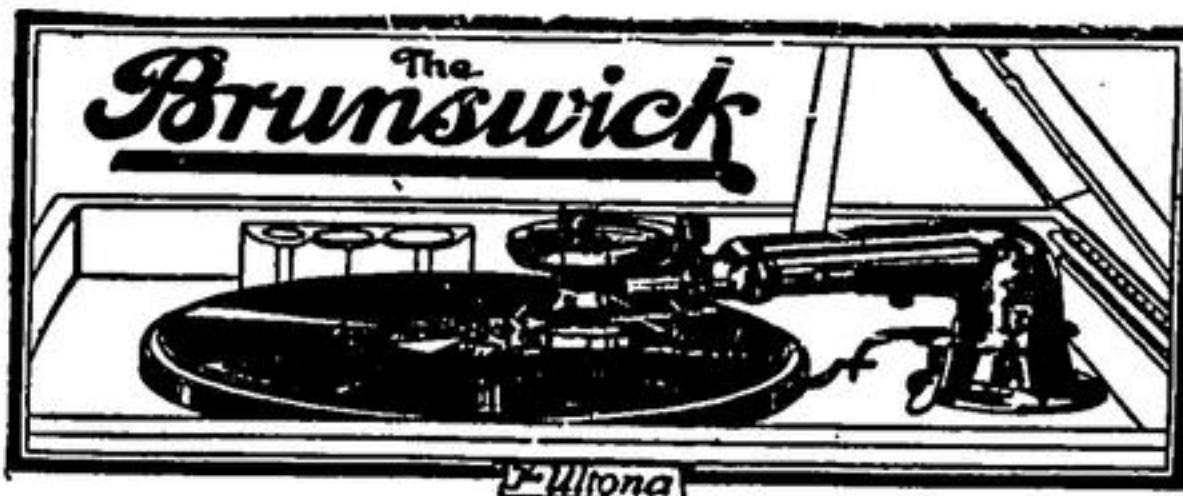

People say their next Phonograph will be a Brunswick. Here is ONE reason why: The "Round" All-Wood Horn. You never heard of a "square" horn in a band, or any musical instrument, or you never saw a square megaphone. We were taught that all sound-waves travel in circles or ovals, yet you will not find any round horn in any of the Old-Style Talking Machines.

Artists sing INTO a round horn and the Brunswick sends it OUT in a round horn. That's a simple "secret," isn't it? Yet no one has ever made a round WOOD Horn before, and more than that, no one ever will because this is one of the exclusive patented features of the Brunswick.

Here's another reason why:

The All-Record, All-Needle Ultona

This wonderful reproducer was designed after all the great Record Libraries were formed. It is not an attachment, it plays any make or type of record without removing or attaching anything, a twist of the wrist and it is ready for any make of record. No needles to change. It plays every record CORRECTLY with just the right needle, just the right weight, describing just the right arc across the record and your needle type records actually last longer.

Since the Brunswick came with this wonderful invention notice how they all say "Play All Records." Just you see how they do it, then investigate the Ultona.

You cannot afford to make a mistake and it costs you nothing to be sure.

Owing to the great demand for the Brunswick Phonograph we advise you to come in and select your model now, and we will keep it until Christmas for you if you will pay a small deposit down. The balance can be paid by small monthly payments to suit the purchaser.

Mothers and Wives to Get Crosses

Details of the regulations to govern the distribution of memorial crosses to mothers and wives of Canadian soldiers killed in action are now available. The Minister of Militia, Hon. S. C. Mewburn, in the House of Commons on March 10 last, stated that the issue of a memorial cross was proposed. This proposal has now been given effect, and the regulations extend to soldiers and sailors who served in the Canadian naval or military forces, or who, having been resident in Canada on August 4, 1914, served in the naval or military forces of his Majesty or any of his allies.

The cross will be issued only to the widow of a married soldier or sailor and to the mother of an unmarried soldier or sailor. The preparation and examination of details and designs have been completed, and it is expected that issues will commence to be made within the next week.

The cross, which is an inch and a quarter square, is of silver, and beautifully designed, and includes as features the Crown and Royal cipher, the maple leaf and the laurel. It will be engraved with the number, rank and name of the soldier commemorated. Only one cross will be issued in respect of each sailor or soldier.

The county council received eleven tenders for the Tansley bridge twenty-year, 5 1/2 per cent debentures, $80,000. The highest was that of Messrs. Brent, Noxon & Co., Toronto, 97 per cent. It was accepted.

At their last meeting the road and bridge committee of the county council reported, as the result of an interview with the Minister of Public Works of the new Government of Ontario that the Department would pay the county 60 per cent of the expenditure on Tansley bridge, dating from the making of Dundas Street a county provincial highway, and that there was reason to hope for a grant of 60 per cent of the total expenditure. —Champion.
