JUST AS YOU ARE
Just as you are, no change for me, True-hearted friend,
I like the faults that others see,
We don't pretend
That life is much beside a dream
And things are not the way they seem.

Just as you are, I do not ask
Perfection; no,
I only want to see the task
That tries you on.
And this you fit to the last,
And ward from you life's temptest blast.

Just as you are, change not your voice,
Nor yet your smile.
Both make me constantly rejoiced.
Linger a while on
And let me see again those eyes
That make me strong to silence sighs.

To you virtue I would not add;
Ye gods doth suffice
Example fair to make all glad
At any price,
I'll try to emulate your grace,
For your heart find my resting place
I'd change you not, to time leave all.

Too soon, alas,
The stage is dark, the curtains fall,
The actors pass;
And I will know, to my distress,
Not o'en your faults can I possess.

A Hint to Smokers

Occasionally a hint is given out that the abolition of the liquor evil will be followed by a crusade on smoking. No doubt there are some who would embark on such a plan to-morrow if they thought they could get much support, but the average person, women especially, noticing what a harmless person the man is who is enjoying a good smoke, is going to think twice before they do anything of the sort. Smokers, however, owe it to themselves to eliminate some objectionable practices which do more than ought else to bring censure upon smoking. Some of the tobacco used in vials, and we have all seen the fellow who smokes in the street and blows great clouds of smoke into women's faces. We are acquainted with the man who loses cigar and cigarette stubs carelessly away often setting fire to property. We know men who insist on smoking in mixed gatherings, irrespective of whether the women in the party object to it or not. It is their regular working hours in filling and lighting their pipes that they were unable to keep up with their fellow-workmen, and their employer was forced in justice to himself and the workman to issue a "no smoking" order.

Consideration for the comfort of those who may not be smokers, and object to smoking, is one of the first objects of some smokers, but unfortunately with a great many it is the last thing they think of. In fact, some men act on the principle that they have an inalienable right to do as they please in smoking as in every thing else, it is these, not the considerate smokers—that are doing the harm, and one often feels like taking them out into the yard and pouring a lot of smoke down their throats until they could recognize the suffering they inflict upon others who never touch a cigar or pipe.

How's this for the fellow who is strapped the day before pay day:
Forward, turn forward,
Oh, time is thy flight,
Make it to-morrow
Just for to-night.

Anglers Met
The annual meeting of the Milton Fish and Game Club, Ltd., was held at the club house near Campbellville last Saturday. Among those present were Messrs. L. E. Fleck, of Georgetown, C. B. Lewis, Toronto, M. E. Mitchell, Port Credit and Dr. Woodhouse, Toronto. Mr. Fleck was re-elected President. The members did not all fish, but a few large trout were caught.

There was a Reason
"Why do you turn out for every road hog that comes along?" said the missus, rather crossly. "The right of way is ours, isn't it?"
"Oh, undoubtedly!" answered he calmly. "As for turning out, the reason is plainly suggested in this epithet which appeared in a newspaper recently:
"Here lies the body of William Jay,
Who died maintaining his right of way;
He was right, dead right, as he went along,
But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong."

Prohibitionists Seek Prescriptions
At the annual meeting of the Oxford County Medical Association last week a resolution was introduced that in future no prescriptions for liquor be issued except to patients ill in bed. The resolution was defeated. In the discussion on the resolution a number of the members took occasion to severely condemn those out-and-out temperance persons who go out on election day and work hard for passing of prohibition and then come around to the doctors in an effort to secure prescriptions for liquor and practically ask the doctor to break the law.

Notes and Comments

THE HEADS OF A number of marriage licenses were found in the political waste basket on these days. No more will jewelers sell the documents that allow persons to tie a knot that only death or divorce will undo, and sell a wedding ring at the same time. Municipal clerks are to get one dollar of the five for filling in the state's part of this legal document, the balance going to the government. If a clerk receives over $2,000 in fees in a year he must hand all over that sum to the municipality. In large towns the clerks do not require the extra salary as they are pretty well paid, but in rural sections the township clerk is not overpaid by any means, so the extra hand-out will assist him in a considerable degree.

THE DOMINION MINISTER OF Finance estimates that war obligations, current and capital, have been met by Canada to the extent of nearly $700,000,000. In addition, to this the expenditure on pensions and other war aftermath, which largely comes out of current revenues, will be about $225,000,000. By next March, therefore, Canada will have paid approximately $925,000,000 of war obligations, and the cost of the war to the Dominion up to that date will have been something like $2,625,000,000.

Such a debt entails a huge interest bill payable year after year, and the people of Canada may well take reasonable pride that the public expenditures are being met as well as they are.

ON APRIL 20TH King George issued a proclamation commending the membership enrollment campaign of the Canadian Red Cross Society in this month and June. The proclamation quoted a resolution adopted by the General Council of the League of Red Cross Societies at Geneva, in March, 1920: "That widespread and popular membership in a National Red Cross Society is the necessary condition of success in its peace-time programme." The King says "It is deemed to be of the greatest importance to the well-being of our people throughout the Dominion that the purpose of the Red Cross Society in carrying on its peace-time programme for the relief of suffering, should be regarded to the greatest possible extent."

International Dairy Congress

There is probably no branch of agriculture in which Canada has made more progress in recent years than dairying. An opportunity will be afforded next year to let the world know how far this is the case, for in the summer of 1922, to be held at Chicago, Ill., the Seventh International Dairy Congress at which there will be present officially appointed representatives from thirty to fifty different countries. At the sixth congress held at Berne, Switzerland in 1914 Mr. J. Riddick, Dominion Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, was Canada's representative, among a total of 800 delegates representing twenty nine countries.

The congresses are organized under the auspices of the International Dairy Federation, of which any person interested in dairying, corporation or association can become a member on payment of the annual fee, which at present is twenty francs. Papers are read at congresses and the reports are published in English, French and two other languages. Already Mr. Riddick is engaged by authority of the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, in preparing for Canada's representation at next year's congress in Chicago, and a committee is being formed on which the heads of the dairy branch in every province will be invited to act. This committee will arrange for the questions to be discussed and the papers to be read as far as Canada is concerned. A pamphlet will also be prepared and distributed among the delegates descriptive of the dairy industry in this country. It is further proposed to establish in connection with the congress a bureau of information at which facts will be set forth regarding not only dairying in Canada, but agriculture generally and the manufactures and resources of the country. In addition, leaflets will be circulated suggesting itineraries for delegates who might like to visit Canada before returning home.

—More boots land every week in Georgetown for J. Money than all others put together. I always pick my own boots in the factory and do my best to get the boots I know will give my customers satisfaction. Children's boots, boys' boots, all sold in our store $2.50 to $3. I warrant these boots to wear well and will replace them if you find any shoddy in either insoles or heels. There are no boots made now-a-days that should cost over $5. Look a good strong plow boot at $2.50, solid leather. Some of my customers are wearing the McPherson boots over three years. J. Money, the man that is making a name for Georgetown for good boots. Repairing as cheap as ever.

The following from the Post Office Department has been sent to all post-masters: Post-masters are warned against allowing notices from being exhibited in the lobby of the Post Office. The Department is aware that pressure is often brought to bear upon Post-masters to exhibit notices of meetings for charitable and religious purposes, "Lost" and "Found" notices, etc., but it is considered that the Post Office proper should be given an opportunity to the Post Office order that the official notices of the Department may receive the undivided attention which the public interests require.

—A drug has now been invented which puts a man to sleep and makes him tell the truth about his past life. This is the last straw for man, if the women ever get hold of that drug.

—It's a strange world. The new tenant gets the wall paper the retiring tenant prayed for.
