THE TRAIL

By hill and dale there is a trail
That leads my vaunting footsteps
And if perchance my compass fail
There is the over beckoning star.

The beckoning star, the guiding sun,
And south, why should I ask for more?
The pathways to oblivion stretch on and on before.

Oblivion, or the bourne of dreams,
Serene within the afterglow,
Where joy sits by the singing streams,
And there is peace for friend and foe.

So, high of heart, I take the trail
So, sure of soul, I make the quest.
But at the end, whatever prevail,
I need must bow to what is best.

Important Changes in High School Courses

In the Lower School and the Middle School not more than eight subjects may be taken in any year.
The following subjects are in the Lower School to be a one year course each:—Canadian History, Physiography, Algebra, Geometry, Arithmetic, Grammar, Art, Geography, Botany, Zoology.
Class Matriculation will be a two year course in the Middle School.
At the Departmental examinations, including Matriculation, the standard of passing will be fifty per cent on each paper. Credits will be given for any paper on which fifty per cent is obtained. This provision will also be retroactive.

The course for First Class Teachers (formerly the Faculty Entrance), is now a one year course and consists of six subjects: English and History, two Mathematical subjects, and two languages or sciences. This First Class Course is likely to be a popular one. The First Class Certificate is bound to be valuable in the future.

The Lower School examination is to be taken in the first year and four in the second year. The school lesson periods will be fewer but longer. The object is to secure more time for individual work by the pupils.

Novral

On Tuesday evening of last week Miss Ethel Cunningham on the eve of her marriage was presented with a beautiful silver tea set service and the following address which was read by Mrs. Timothy Eaton Reid:—

Novral, Sept. 20th, 1921.
Dear Miss Cunningham:
We, the members of Novral Presbytery, in Church, hearing of your approaching marriage, feel that it creates an opportunity of expressing our esteem of your high Christian character and our appreciation of the valuable services you have rendered to the church.
For many years you have worked earnestly and faithfully in various departments of the work. In the Sabbath school you have been an able teacher; in the class your quiet devotion to duty—and these, coupled with gentleness, courtesy and blessing, have won the esteem of all.
We wish you every happiness and blessing in your married life, and desire your acceptance of this gift as a visible token of the high regard in which you are held by us.

Yours on behalf of the church—Timothy E. Reid, session; John Hunter, manager; John Nobles, chorist; Norman Russell, Sabbath School; Mrs. D. A. McLaughlin, W.M.S.; Walter Patterson, minister.
The presentation was made by Miss Charlotte Macpherson.
Miss Cunningham, who was taken much by surprise, feelingly replied thanking all for their kind words and beautiful gift.
After numerous speeches by a number of those present, a splendid supper was served by the ladies of the church and a pleasant social evening spent.
All join in extending to Miss Cunningham every wish for future happiness.

When He Felt Small

An exchange tells the following story: "One day not long since a Baptist preacher of Tennessee was out hunting, and during the day a rain-storm came on. In order to keep dry, he crawled into a hollow log. When the rain began to fall the log began to swell, until his brother could get neither way. He thought his end had come, and he thought of all the wrong he had done, and when he recalled that he had not paid his subscription to the local paper he felt so small that he crawled right out of the log without difficulty."

—BYEN TO THE FALL FAIR did nothing better than afford a meeting place for people of town and country and an opportunity for intercourse with an element of amusement, would not that in itself be worth while? There are not too many such opportunities and the people who patronize the fall fairs are the very people who have need for the relaxation and recreation which they afford.
A NEW YORKMAN considers that any artist "with admit that" looked hair is hideous to look at. "His style," said Zulus, "invented—the 'why' and that circus clown is to go so as to appear more comical. Then why should a charming girl deface her beauty by cutting her hair short to look like a Zulu or a clown? The question is his. We might answer that there are girls and girls. Many of them look well with short locks; others are very like the wild men and circus people to whom the gentleman in question likens everyone of the feminine sex whose head has been shorn of its erstwhile crowning glory.
FOR THE FIRST TIME all the women of Canada will have a vote in Federal affairs. They had a vote in the last Provincial election, and those specially named in the Dominion Act voted in the Dominion election of 1917, but the giving all the women of Canada a vote in the nation's affairs was passed but recently, and thus for the first time it will be in operation in the present election. Those who argue that the women will vote as their husbands, fathers and brothers, forget that although the women wear very little in skirts, in election affairs not a few of them wear "blue trousers. Men are influenced not a little in their vote by the women of the household, particularly when moral issues, the cost of living, or such like questions are involved. The women of Canada are rapidly becoming conversant with public affairs, and they will not be backward in proclaiming their views, nor in voting in substantiation of them at the polls. There seems to be a general consensus of opinion among this new body of voters that they do not desire separate organizations, or to be treated differently from the men. They want to know what is going on and expect that equality of recognition and responsibility conferred upon them by the law. The parties must recognize this wonderful inspiring force that now has a legal place in the affairs of the nation.
