PEACE
(Anonymous)

A little home down a lane,
A vine upon the fence in bloom;
A child face at the window pane,
A woodcock singing through the room.

A frugal board around whose rim
Bright faces of the morning
shine;

The music of a little hymn,
A bluebird in the creper vine,
A hopeful trust and confidence
In mutual purposes of life;
One woman and a constant love,
Fair children and a faithful wife.

Oh, masters of the force of things,
The powers and potentates that
be,

Look on the peace that hither
wings
And tell me if you envy me!

A little toil to make life mean,
A manly and a womanly task;
A bending tree, a plot of green,
A little for the poor who ask.

A feeling in my heart for those
Who face the thunder and the flame;

A charity for those who fall,
For every man a gentle name.

An elemental drift toward
The honest truth as far as men
Can see the purpose of the Lord,
And live as brothers should again.

A twilight when the purple skies
Die into shadows thin and gray,
And God looks down with tender
eyes
To see us put our cares away.

Saving Ontario's Forests

The recent disastrous forest fires in the north and bush fires in the old part of Ontario, have again brought to the fore the wastage of Ontario's natural resource as a result of the agency of forest fires.

Year after year hundreds of square miles of valuable forest reserves are destroyed by fire. In spite of the precautions taken and the energetic work of the fire rangers there seems to be no abatement of this scourge and in view of the fact that Ontario's forests come amongst the sources of public revenue as distinct from taxation, this wastage is a serious matter.

A party of forestry experts from Sweden visited Canada a short time ago, and before taking their departure, they expressed great surprise that so much of Canada's timber was being destroyed by fire. In their country, the fire losses were so small as to be insignificant and this condition they said was brought about by the co-operation of all the people who live in the forest areas. They pointed out that their methods aimed at fire prevention first and fire fighting next. Their success has been achieved by convincing the people first of all, the value of their timber resources, secondly to the necessity of preventing forest fires, lastly by having efficient equipment always on hand to fight them. In view of the fact that this method has been proven successful in Sweden it is being adopted by the Ontario Forestry Branch.

The Ontario Forestry Branch, in his reports for the past few years, has insisted that the large bulk of the forest fires have been due to carelessness on the part of the campers, hunters, and others who frequent the woods and in a campaign to educate the people of Ontario, so that they may take part in the work of prevention, has been undertaken. The Forestry Branch lays great stress on the forests of the province and has made an appeal to every citizen to help in the work of saving them. Such a campaign should have good results, for no man or woman would like to be guilty of carelessness which might result in serious loss to the province.

A realization of the situation is all that is necessary to bring about a substantial reduction in the amount of valuable timber which is yearly destroyed by the fire demon, and the present campaign, in which the matter is placed fairly and squarely before the public, cannot fail to keep preserved those the most important of all Ontario's resources. An advertisement appears on another page of this issue. Look it up and read it—every line.

It Would Be Suitable

The Thornbury Review-Herald says:

The honesty of some people is limited. Last week, while we were rendering accounts, we came across a subscriber who was four years in arrears. Accordingly we sent him our bill the next day and received a letter stating that he did not wish the paper any longer, and we could go to a place warmer than Thornbury was last week and look for our money. The gentleman (?) in question has a perfect right to discontinue taking the paper but we are certainly entitled to our own. If in due time we were asked to write an obituary for this subscriber and later would screw down the lid of the lightbox, we think the following would be suitable:

"In the due course of human events, Destiny finally came to its senses and the red reached out and yanked old _____ into the unknown. We don't know where he has gone and we care still less. So far as this community is concerned we can spare him with alacrity before you see the hind legs of progress; he was 'agin' everything that stood for the betterment of the town in which he lived; he was parasitic and low-down, and it must be a relief to his family to get rid of him. He died leaving a widow and small children, no estate, and an unpaid subscription to this paper of $6. But we are humane, we are forgiving, and just before the underwriter would screw down the lid we would put in an asbestos suit, a palm leaf fan and a thermometer, and hope that he would have a darn lot of us for all of them."

Milton

The Milton Lawn Bowling Club will hold their third annual tournament on Thursday next, August 11th.

Rev. W. M. McKay and family have gone to Rosedale, on the Kawartha Lakes, for their annual summer outing.

Revero Blain and daughter, Miss Blain, who have been on a visit to his old home in Scotland and other places, returned home last week, having had a most pleasant and enjoyable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Inman and children, of Dundas, were weekend guests at her parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Stewart, in Milton, and Mrs. Stewart, of Dundas, who were working for John McLeod, near Milton, about a week ago, James Weir fell off a load of hay and broke his collar bone.

Notes and Comments

THE NATIONAL Hair Dressers' Association, at its first annual convention, which met at Chicago for a three-day session, will fight to make the United States safe for curls.

Ear muffs must go. The ultimatum was issued yesterday by several delegates. Ear muffs will come out. They will not emerge timidly and reluctantly. Neither will they be half-revealed, half-concealed by curls. But the ear, the whole ear, singly and in pairs, will come right out into the open and declare itself. A return to the high, dignified, carefully-constructed collar, carefully-constructed Bobbed hair will be permissible only for the flappers.

THE EVERY DAY fatalities which are being recorded from nearby cities and country districts reveal an alarming increase in automobile accidents and call attention to the necessity of determined efforts to put a stop to automobilists who appear unable to resist temptation to "step on the gas," especially in the early hours in the morning when they think no one else is about. It is strange that ordinarily cautious men seem to accept the apparently deserted streets and roads as a challenge to speed, with the consequence that they appear to be suffering from a species of midnight madness. The cure for such a disease rests with the police magistrates, who are called upon to protect the innocent pedestrians by prescribing a dose of medicine for the "sleepers on the gas" that will prove so innocuous as to prevent a return of the disease.

WHILE INDUSTRIAL and business conditions in Georgetown are not what we would wish to see them, inquiry reveals the fact that they are infinitely better and more prosperous here than anywhere else in the province of Ontario. This is saying a good deal, but it is the fact. The result is that unemployment, while more than desirable, is not existent in Georgetown in its acute form as it can be found in other places. The reason for this state of affairs may be two-fold; a more solid, saving community, with the cash to get odd jobs going, and manufacturers who have a "heart" and desire to keep the wheels of industry moving, even though trade conditions are unsatisfactory and it is not certain whether they will get their money out of the goods manufactured even though the market out which they have been subjected to. With co-operation all the way around it ought to be able to turn the corner until Good Times come, or once more reached.

KEEPING WELL said that the female of the species were more deadly than the male, and you can easily find out the truth of this statement if you awake in the middle of the night to find that two or three lady mosquitoes, disregarding the conventions, have been spending the first part of the evening with you in your bedroom. What they have succeeded in doing is to bring in my sleep by legs, only your scratching arms, legs or feet can testify to.

Any married man will back me up when I say that man seems born to be stung. If it isn't one thing it is another. I know the line at being stung in my sleep by a mosquito. The chap who says that mosquitoes don't sting a sleeping person is a provocator of no mean type, and the truth is not in them. I know because I got stung the other night, and after applying soothing lotion to the various parts affected one is not in the mood for analyzing why it is the female mosquito that stings and not the male. The male stings it's because the latter is a much of a gentleman to do such a thing. At all events it is good advice to look about your bedroom a bit before you go to bed these nights and if you see the hind legs of a female mosquito protrude from underneath the bed, just take my advice and yank her out of the room. She's not there for any good purpose, believe me.

County Rate 6 1-2 Mills

The County Council met at Milton on Friday, July the 9th.

A by-law was passed striking the county rate at 6 1/2 mills.

D. Hutcheon, County Treasurer, was granted leave of absence for five or six weeks to take a trip out west. Mr. Hutcheon has not had a holiday for eight years.

Mr. A. McGibbon was appointed treasurer pro tem.

The Inspector's report on the Balton-Peel House of Refuge was received and read, and considered very satisfactory.

The council endorsed a resolution passed by the Oxford County Council, urging that the Provincial Government establish a central place for the safeguarding of prisoners and execution of the death penalty.

A by-law was passed for $100,000 for building good roads in the Townships of Trafalgar, Nelson and Beesley. Trafalgar will require $40,000; Nelson, $50,000 and Beesley, $10,000.

The council adjourned to meet at the Biltmore bridge at 10 a. m. on August 25th, and then adjourn to Milton at 2 p. m.
