Seventh Line Improved

For several years both motorists and the drivers of horse-drawn vehicles have rather dreaded driving over the seventh line, from the Acton to the Georgetown crossroads. The Silver Creek hill section has been very rough, the gravel being washed from the abundance of stones there; and the Henderson hill, which has so much clay and quicksand, have been great bug-bears to drivers. This being the route of the Toronto to Sarnia highway from Acton to Georgetown the highway engineers have undertaken to keep the roadway in passable condition until the highway construction is proceeded with. Last week the ruts were cut down, the depressions filled, and gravel distributed where most needed. This work has been done from the sixth line to the Georgetown crossroad, and as a result this road is in a better condition than it has been for several years.—Free Press.

Playground Equipped

The attention of our citizens is drawn to the playground equipment recently placed in Central Park, consisting of swings, teeters and slides. Georgetown is the only place west of Toronto to have similar equipment. Toronto this year having put eight throughout the city. Those living near Central Park say it has afforded great enjoyment to the kiddies as it has been in constant use since the first day of its installation. All the juveniles of Georgetown and the country around about are invited to make use of this at any time.

He rides a motorcycle and keeps check on speed fiends, those who carry antiquated markers, people who allow horses, cattle, swine and sheep to run at large within the limits of a provincial highway. As to the latter, it may be well to know that owners of such stock are liable to a fine of from $1 to $5 per head.
