

CANADA'S SEASIDE AND MOUNTAIN LINKS PLEASE GOLFERS

The history of golf in Canada is a long story. The first game played on this continent took place in this country and the development of the game here has gone forward with rapid strides. Today the Dominion is dotted with links noted for their excellence from St. Andrews by the Sea in New Brunswick, to Vancouver in British Columbia. Guests are welcome everywhere and United States experts like "Clide" Fearn and Oswald Kirby are unanimous in declaring that the quality of Canadian golf is very high. Canada's first club was the Royal Montreal founded in 1873 about fifteen years before St. Andrews Golf Club, the first in the United States, was started in Yonkers, N.Y.

The Canada's government owns and manages at Banff, Alberta, one of the most interesting and picturesque links in the world. Since the Golf Course, this year expanded to 18 holes, is nearly a mile above sea level along the banks of the Bow River. From the edge of the fair ways majestic mountains tower up to the sky above the links and the golfer enjoys his favorite sport in a scenic setting of undisturbed beauty. Now and then the "golfer" watching the game is suggested by wild mountain goats who peer down from some lofty ledge at the players. The links are in charge of a competent professional and are a fine test of the game.

Further west Vancouver and Victoria enjoy golf both summer and winter on links which are a delight to both expert and novice.

HUNTERS FLOCK TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

Byron Harmon, of Seattle, Ala., brings down his first silver and gold pheasant and other birds.

Seventy-six year old hunter and Indian guide hunting in the Cassiar District in B.C.

BRITISH Columbia offers the best still remaining, easily accessible big game hunting territory on the continent. It is not necessary to go far afield from the railway and some of the best hunting grounds are as follows: Beginning at the east, there is the Kootenay District, reached from Invermere. Two ranges may be hunted here; in the Rockies the best are to be found in the mountain and whitetail deer, mountain goat, mountain sheep, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear, while among the Selkirk on the west, are caribou, mule and whitetail deer, mountain goat, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear. Very satisfactory wild fowl shooting may be enjoyed on the lakes and flats in the lower Falls. Deer, grizzly and black bear, caribou and goat are found in the country around Chase. Deer are found from 4 miles of the town; bear from 20 miles; caribou beyond the 30 mile mark, and goat from 30 miles. Excellent game bird shooting is to be had here, including the Solitaires in the gateway to a rich and varied game country. Developing Canada's Oriental Trade

With its fleet of fast-moving, luxuriously fitted steamers, trans-continental express train services, and chain of palatial hotels, the Canadian Pacific Company has laid an easy highway around the world, and another link between West and East has been established by the magnificent new steamer "Empress of Australia," which recently joined the trans-Pacific service from Vancouver to Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Manila and Hong-Kong.

The "Empress of Russia" and "Empress of Asia" are already well known on the Pacific Ocean, and accommodation on these steamers has always been difficult to obtain owing to their popularity. With the addition of the still larger steamer, "Empress of Canada" and "Empress of Australia," sailings from Vancouver will now be so frequent as to provide in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Atlantic Express a fortnightly through service per deck, and of about 21,500 tons gross. She is of the shelter deck type with a continuous bridge above, extending the full length of the ship, and the lower and upper promenade decks fully built the length of the ship. She has a straight stem, an elliptical stern, three funnels, and two masts, and has a very beautiful appearance. She has a splendid accommodation for 400 first class, 165 second class, 300 third class, and 670 stateroom passengers, and a crew of about 520. The first class dining saloon (with accommodation for 300 diners), the first class ladies' room, the first class smoking room, and the first class writing room are all decorated in the Louis XVI style; the first class lounge is in the Empire style, and the swimming bath in the Pompeian style, while there are also a first class card room, a verandah cafe, a children's room, an electric bath, a special entrance hall and ladies' and gentlemen's hairdressing rooms - these and all the staterooms being furnished and decorated in the most modern and artistic manner.

In Flanders' Fields

Written by Colonel John McCrae, of Guelph, Ontario, Canada, Serving in France, 1917.

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch - be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

If we would be worthy of our noble dead---who died that we might live in freedom---the very least we can do is to
