In Memoriam
BRANDYON—In loving memory of our dear beloved son and brother, Stanley B., who passed away on this date, March 6th, 1922.

The month of March again is here, for us, the saddest of all the months, but down in our hearts he was loved by all.

Do not ask us if we miss him, there is such a vacant place, we can never forget his footsteps, or his dear smiling face.

Sadly missed by mother, father, sister and brothers.

KING—In loving memory of my dear mother, died March 12th, 1922. Just one year ago to-day, when my dear mother passed away, friends may think that I am lonely, when times they see me smile, but they do not know my sorrow, which is a smile inside the while.

In my heart your memory lingers, sweetly tender, fond and true, there is not a day, dear mother, that I do not think of you.

Sadly missed by son Frank.

Who is Responsible?
Editor HERALD: Dear Sir:—I should like with your kind permission to say a word about a matter that concerns the welfare of our little town.

The annual outlay on our schools is a quite considerable amount. In view of this expenditure the town has a right to expect serious work from our schools and it is desirable that as few obstacles as possible should lie in the way of such serious work.

We have a good many things to contend with. Sickness, for example, has been a handicap this year. The movies are always here, and for a season the rink has great attractions.

When, in addition to these more or less inevitable difficulties in the way of progress of our pupils, we have sprung on us a pre-emption on their time and interest for a fortnight or more for the benefit of light opera, we can only wish that those responsible for the enterprise had a truer sense of values or a little more conscience.

They intended at first, I am informed, to exclude school children, but found that it would be easier to use them and so they decided to make the sacrifice, to be made to sacrifice the pupils of the schools for dollars.

It is quite useless to hope that school work can compete with attractions of this kind. Serious students appear poor, pale and palky in comparison with the limelight, comedy and dance, and easy social intercourse behind the scenes. Interest in study is a blighted and once blighted is hard to revive. If a boy devotes a fortnight to amusement when he should be preparing for his life's work, he is stepping off the high-road to success and is entering the by-path to failure.

Our secondary schools have only about one hundred and eighty teaching days out of the three hundred and sixty-five and our boys and girls should be able to find time for amusement without encroaching on school work.

It goes without saying that the dearest thing to the hearts of our children is the care of their parents. If parents would insist on driving the car themselves the results would be better. They need not be surprised to find their children acquiring a distaste for school work. They are really being blighted and once blighted is hard to revive.

In the present case the chief blame rests on those who, for a few dollars, struck this blow at our schools. It does not seem too much to say that their action was little less than a crime.

Ralph Ross.

"Katcha-koo" a Success
Oriental Musical Comedy Ably Presented by Seventy-five Local Artists

The Oriental Musical Comedy Katcha-koo, presented by seventy-five local artists, under the direction of Phil D. Morrison, in the town hall last Thursday and Friday evenings, was attended by large gatherings on both occasions and was a decided success. The different characters in the play were well taken by local talent. The various Oriental costumes worn by the actors were quite attractive and the choruses and dances good. There were many amusing features which kept the large audience in splendid humor during the entire performance. The children played their part well and Victor Tedder as Jack Cannon brought down the house when he appeared in the last scene.

The play was given under the auspices of the Georgetown Area Co. and the committee and performers are deserving of much credit for the splendid success and able production of this musical comedy.

The cast of characters was as follows: Katcha-koo—a holy fakir—Phil Morrison; Solajah, a widow of a wizard—Marion Gollip; Urbannah, a high priestess of the temple—Mildred Fleck; Dick Horton, a collector of adventures—Edward Barry; Harry Bradstone, collector of antiquities, A. Cole; Maharajah of Hingoo, an East Indian Ramesa—Ches. Cole; Boddyph, a slave—Jack Barber; LaBello Elysee, French wife of Maharajah—Lenora Cook; Patsy Eldara, Irish wife—Marie Fleck; Brazillita, Brazilian wife—Georgina Henry; Chin-chin Foo, Chinese wife—Dorothy Frampton; Mrs. Chaktie Gaddin, a rich American widow—Miss Benson; Dolly, her charming daughter—Josephine Wilton; Prudence, another daughter—Doreen McNaig; Jack Cannon—Victor Tedder; Pinnat, Miss Jessie Leavitt.

Friends and Slaves—Wakelield Ford; Robert Corke; Ross Cameron; Finlay Allen; Leonard Short; Dan Cook; Dickson Roe; Raymond Whitman.

Oriental Ladies—Gladys Tost; Olive Foster; Marjorie Tost; Lilian Watson; Mrs. Vance Kentner; Elsie Cook; Mrs. Percy Blackburn; Irene Thompson; Amy McDonald; Yvonne Adams; Mearle Buck; Della Thompson; Margaret Kennedy; Aileen Moore; Margaret McKay; Vera Thompson; Sna Frampton; Edith Owens; Wilhemena Hynds; Veil Dancers—Marion McKay; Maud McDonald; Jean McGibbon; Lola Thompson; Minna Saxe; Ruth Orr; Dorothy Balaustine Retta Tost.

Auld Lang Syne Group—Marion McKay; Minna Saxe; Aileen Ross; Kathleen Treanor; Jean McKenzie; Janet McDougall; Myrtle Tost; Marie Cameron.

English—Jackies—Myrtle Tost; Maizie McDonald; Jennie McDougall; Kathleen Treanor; Aileen Ross; Marie Cameron; Minna Saxe; Pina Frampton.

Italians—Helen Foster; Maud Allen; Eleanor Treanor; Kathleen Wright; Gertrude Hirschorn; Marjorie McKenzie; Marie Cook; Madeline Erwin; Stella Coulter; Irma Thompson.

Chinese—Margaret Wright; Mabel Sparling; Isabel Loucheed; Eileen Groat; Gladys Henry; Edith Legrow.

French—Gladys Hill; Margaret Beatty; Annie Hirschorn; Edith Francis; Bessie Dobbie; Gertrude Clark.

Belgian—Violet Tedder; Eleanor Maw; Maizie Fountain; Margaret Moulby; Louise Barker; Alice Mackenzie.

Mayor Dale on behalf of the Arena Co. thanked all for their patronage, after which he called Miss Jessie Leavitt the capable accompanist to the platform where she was presented with a beautiful bouquet of carnations by little Miss Margaret Kentner.

Past Masters Night
On Friday evening after the regular business of the Lodge had been transacted the following Past Masters of Credit Lodge assumed the various chairs as follows:

Better Live Stock Train

Great enthusiasm is being shown by breeders and farmers throughout the province in the Better Live Stock Train which is touring Ontario. This tour is made possible by the co-operation of the railways with the Ontario and Dominion Departments of Agriculture.

Seven cars on this train are given exclusively to cattle. Steers representing the market grades both for the home and old country trade are being carried. This is especially interesting in view of the removal of the embargo of Canadian cattle going to the old country. Steers, the result of actual experiment at the Ontario Agricultural College, showing the results in the use of good sires, are being carried. The result as shown in the steers themselves is simply remarkable. All these steers from the good pure bred bull and from the ordinary bull, were out of as nearly as possible, grade cows of average merit. Each group of steers received the same care and feed. The difference in result is so striking that the worth of the good bull is proven beyond all doubt.

Five carloads of pure bred bulls, representing all the breeds commonly found in Ontario, are being carried for sale. These bulls have been especially selected and represent the best of breeding and conformation. All bulls will have successfully passed the tuberculin test and are guaranteed breeders. Here is a real opportunity for intending purchasers of bulls. All bulls will be sold at actual cost.

Several communities have already reported that they are waiting for the train in order to purchase a bull. In some instances farmers are arranging with one another to form a syndicate in purchasing a good bull. Capable men will be in charge of these bulls to explain the pedigree of breeding and assist farmers in selecting bulls to meet their requirements.

Milton
On Wednesday evening of last week, Mr. John Randall was walking down Martin street from his work, he slipped on the ice and fell, breaking his shoulder.

The Official Board of the Milton Methodist Church has given their sanction to Rev. T. H. Bole, a unanimous invitation to re-appoint another year.

Mr. W. H. Cross of Elmira has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Sprout.

On Monday last Mr. Robt. Prentiss, formerly of Milton, died at Brampton, aged 88 years.

After a somewhat protracted illness, Mrs. Charles McDougall, whose maiden name was Sarah Smith, died last Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Mitchell, Naessagaweya. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. The funeral took place on Tuesday, and the remains being interred in Evergreen Cemetery, Milton.—Reformer.
