Notes and Comments.
 ONE OF THE MOST pleasant features of the past election campaign was its freedom from personal attacks. It need to be in vogue for some candidates and supporters to open the floodgates of abuse as much as they dared, but gradually such methods have been dying out in recent years. There was very little of it anywhere in the campaign just passed, and the vindication of Hon. Howard Ferguson at the polls, and his elevation to the Premiership, shows how little that sort of thing pays to resort to. As one result of the change everyone has emerged with the best of feelings towards one another, and there is an exuberance of the verdict which leaves very little rankling. This is as it should be, and let us hope will always be hereafter. It is not possible to discuss political differences without resorting to personalities.

Canada Confident of the Future

Canada is endeavoring to regain her after-the-war stride in the midst of many difficulties—debt, deflation and depression being some of them.

Quick remedies and academic theories beset her path on every side. Some suggest that our debt worries can best be eased by going further into debt. Others preach blue ruin, decry their own country and indulge in mischievous propaganda generally, while still others look for a new social order or some miraculous sign to indicate a better coming day—all this in apparent forgetfulness of the fact that just as there was no royal road to win the war, there is now no royal road to pay for it or regain our former buoyancy, vigor and confidence.

Some are leaving Canada hoping to escape taxation, only to find there is no escape anywhere. In seeking for easy remedies too many of us overlook the fact that the greatest remedy is honest, hard work faithfully and intelligently performed, accompanied by old-fashioned thrift.

It takes time, it takes patience, it takes grit. But every Canadian knows in his heart that Canada is coming through all right.

Our Experience Proves It

Look back over the path Canada has trod. The French Colonists, cut off from civilization by 3,000 miles of sea, faced a continent—a wilderness—without the aid of even a biased trail. They had to fight savages, frosts, scurvy, loneliness and starvation.

The United Empire Loyalists subdued an timbered forest in one generation, growing their first wheat amid the stumps and snags of the slow clearing.

The Selkirk settlers came to Manitoba when the prairie was a buffalo pasture, and grew wheat where none had grown before and where those who knew the country best at that time said wheat would never grow. Today the Canadian prairies grow the finest wheat in the world.

In preparation to population Canada stands to-day among the wealthiest nations in the world, with average savings on deposit per family of $800. Canada's foreign trade per head of population stands amongst the highest of the commercial nations, being $192 per capita in 1922, as compared with $145 in 1913-14, the "peak" year before the war.

New Opportunities for Canada

In Canada, although prices in the world markets fell below war level, our farmers reaped last autumn the largest grain crop in Canadian history, and Canada became the world's largest exporter of wheat, thus in large measure making up for lower prices.

Last year, Great Britain, after an agitation extending over thirty years, removed the embargo on Canadian cattle, and a profitable and practically unlimited trade is opening up for Canadian stockers and feeders.

"The 20th Century belongs to Canada," if Canadians keep faith.

The next article will suggest practical opportunities for profit making on our Canadian farms.

Best I Ever Found
Says Thomas Heurter

Happy Experience of Hamilton Man With Drego, the Famous Health Builder, Found Wonderful Relief in Two Bottles.

Thomas Heurter of 62 Clyde street, Hamilton, Ont., put in a mighty tough time of it until he discovered Drego. This famous health builder went to the root of his troubles with amazing rapidity and put him on his feet again, a sound, healthy man. Let Mr. Heurter tell you his story.

"My trouble was mostly with my stomach and liver, caused, I think by constipation, as I always had trouble in keeping my bowels in shape. I always had a good appetite but was afraid to eat anything, as the distress afterwards was terrible. This would form, causing me to faint and belch and retain a sour, bitter taste in my mouth. I had pains around my heart, times my joints ached and cracked when I walked. Had dizzy spells and spots floated before my eyes, caused from my liver, which was sluggish and would not sleep at night, but would roll and toss all night. I have only taken two bottles of Drego, but it has made a big change in me. I can eat most anything now without being troubled afterwards. I have no more dizzy spells and I sleep fine, and the rheumatism in my joints is gone. Drego will always get a good word from me and I have recommended it to several of my friends. It's the best I ever found."

Drego acts quickly and naturally on the organs of digestion, purges the system and restores normal functioning. This is the secret of its wonderful benefit. All sufferers from Drego, from most every-day ailments can be traced to a run-down digestive system. Drego is a powerful regulator and blood purifier, the ideal spring tonic. Let it help you, as it has helped thousands of others.

Drego contains no mercury, no lead, and is being specially introduced in Georgetown by W. E. Watson and is sold by a good drug store everywhere.

The modern method of selling by Long Distance

The history of material progress is based on substituting non-fatiguing machinery for human labor, wherever possible.

No merchants in the world have ready to their hands such an extraordinary aid to making sales as is afforded by the Long Distance lines in Canada and the United States.

"Men differ," said Charles Darwin, the great scientist, "less in capacity than in their determination to use the powers they have."

Are you deriving the fullest advantage from Long Distance service? We can make you a report on how Long Distance is being used successfully in almost any business to increase sales.
