"Shrewd old girl," I thought, as the water flowed into the pall. "I will try and draw her out. I wonder how she puts in the time. What is she thinking about anyway?" A Farm Woman's View of the Quiet

After filling the radiator with the clear, cold water, I returned to the door with the borrowed pail. No need of rapping this time. She met me with a kindly smile. "You have a nice farm here," said. "You must have a nice quiet life in the country where everything about you is just plain wholesome nature." 'Quiet 'lifel' she said with some emphasia. "Just plain dagure?" "Yes just too much so, so much so that we want to get away from it all, and be natural." Somewhat surprised at her expressions, especially the "be natural," I had always thought that if there was

. She replied, "We have no life here. My husband and I get up at five o'clock every morning. He at once goes to the barns to feed the stock. while I get the breakfast and attend the poultry. We hurry through breakfast, and then he rushes away to the barn or fields, returning at noon for one half hour in which to ence all day long, and that is what gets my goat. I do not hear the sound of ambther voice from one day's end to another. No woman to talk to, no neighbor handy by where i could call for a chat. No chance to exercise my tongue.

Farm Women Fed Up With Silence. "We farm women get fed up with so much silence. It is somewhat different with the men, they are working with animals and do not feel the loneliness as we women do. Once a week is not often enough for women to get together. Being kept apart so long is it any wonder that our tongues was at both ends when an opportunity to talk does come." Is There a Panacea for Rural Lone-

After hearing that little sermonette, I unconsciously started for the car that I had left standing on the roadway. Coming to my senses after a time, I began to think, just what there was in what the lady of the farm home had to say, and repeated to myself, her words, "No chance to exercise my tongue, so much silence." Perhaps, after all, the farm is too onely a place for the average woman of to-day, and with the trend of modern living it will be a more lonesome piace in the future unless something happens to change ideas and ideals. . Can anyone suggest a solution of the problem ?-L Stevenson, O. A. C.,
