

MOTHER'S MENDING BASKET

Over and under, and in and out,
The swift little needle flies.
For always between her and idleness
The mending basket lies;
And the patient hands, though weary
Work lovingly on and on
At tasks that never are finished;
For mending is never done.

She takes up the father's stocking
And skillfully knits in the heel
And smooths the seam with a tender touch,
That he may no roughness feel;
And her thoughts to her merry girlhood
And her early wifehood go,
And she smiles at the first pair of stockings
She knits so long ago.

Then she speaks to the little maiden
Learning to knit at her side,
And tells her about those stockings—
"Unseen and shapeless and wide,
I had to crawl them out, my dear;
Don't be discouraged, but try;
And after a while you'll learn to knit.
As swift and even as I."

She takes up a little white apron,
And thinks of the woeful face
Of her darling when she came crying:
"Oh, mamma! I've torn my lace."

So she mended the child's pet apron,
Then took up a tiny shoe,
And fastened a stitch that was broken
And tied the ribbon of blue.

The maiden has wearied of working.
And goes away to her play,

The sun in the west is sinking
At the close of the quiet day.

Now the mother's hands are resting
Still, holding a stocking of red,
And her thoughts in the twilight shadow.

To the far off future have fled.

"Oh, where will the little feet wander?

Before they have time to rest?
Where will the bright heads be pillowled?

When the mother's loving breast
Is under the soft blue violets,
And under the summer grass,
When over her fall the autumn leaves,

And the storms of winter pass?
And a prayer from her heart she utters,

"God bless them, my dears ones all!

Or may it be many, many years
Her sorrow them befall!

To to work from the mending bench.

She turns with a heart at rest,
For she knows that to husband and children

She is always the first and best.

The Hunting Season

That vast territory known as Northern Ontario, reaching from the Eastern boundary of the provinces of Manitoba to the Western province of Quebec, is probably the finest hunting region in America. Almost in every district of this vast area game animals of some kind may be found. From Georgian Bay east to Algoma Park and from the Kawartha Lakes North in a veritable hunter's paradise for red deer, while farther north including the territory north of Georgian Bay and lake Superior up to and along the line of the Canadian National Railways for hundreds of miles, moose are plentiful and red deer are found in some sections. Caribou are found in the Lake Nipigon country and in the more northern districts between the line of the Canadian National and James Bay. Bears are plentiful in all parts of the country.

Write for our "Hunter's Guide" to Fish Hunt and Paddle in the New North! Any agent of the Canadian National Railways will obtain full information for interested hunters.

To Egg Buyers and Sellers

The Dominion Department of Agriculture issues the following warning: "Some country dealers and shippers are still offering eggs on a straight gathered basis. This practice is now against the law and it is also against the law for persons to buy from these particular dealers on a straight gathered basis. Some egg buyers are taking it upon themselves to advise storekeepers that the latter are not required to buy on grade. Following such advice may in the long run be costly to the store keeper."

On You Hunters

Clean up your guns, trim up the dogs, get out your traps and we will furnish you with complete information where to go to obtain the finest hunting in the land. The great north country of Ontario is near at hand, a veritable paradise, the home of the moose and red deer as well as other game animals.

Get in touch with your nearest agent of the Canadian National Railways for full particulars.
