When the caucus for members in the Horticultural Society is in progress this spring, cheer the directors in their efforts; become a member, and secure your ticket. Remember, one who plants a bed of flowers in the spring, and cares for it during the sultry days of summer that the eyes of the passerby may be cheered by beautiful foliage and bloom, has a right to count himself one whose patriotism keeps active in time of peace by assisting to beautify his home town.

—Have You Seen Them Yet?
Georgetown has been favored this winter by the visit of a pair of rare southern birds—the Cardinals. The male is nearly as large as a blue jay and is a brilliant vermilion red, while his mate is a sassy-brown with faint red markings. He can beat any boy in town as a whistler. Thirty years ago the Cardinal was mentioned as only a casual summer visitor in south western Ontario, but of late years they have been working northward and remaining for the winter. Observers report them as residents this winter at London and Woodstock. Mrs. H. W. Kennedy says they have been feeding on the berries of the virginia creeper on her back porch. Let's hear how many more have seen them.

—Norval.
Some 60 young people of Knox Church, Georgetown, visited Norval young people on Monday evening when a most enjoyable evening was spent. A feature of the evening was the debate "Resolved that the Minister does more good than the Doctor." The Affirmative, which was taken by Miss Jean Watson, Miss Hazel Webb and Mr. Ross Cameron of Georgetown, won out by a few points.
