Last Thursday at St. G orge's church an event long to be remembered was held, when all the to be forgotten by the members of Anglican choirs of Halton County two of our town's fraternal organ, united for the Ascension Day ser vice. In connection with the Ap nual Deanery meeting the idea of combining with it a choral festival was inaugurated last year, when it was held at Oakville. Mr. E. deCourcay Fletcher, or ganist and choirmaster of Judes, Oakville, conducted combined choirs, which in numbered about 130 voices. rendering of the service was nificent throughout and the bringing together of so many voices Tinder such a conductor has proven er several choirs, regardless of how efficient they may be individually, marched to Divine worship in St. is not a simple task, but Mr George's Anglican Church.
