HINTS FOR HAYMAKING

When to Cut, Tedd, Rake, Coil and Haul In.

Curing Sweet Clover-Harvesting Alfalla-Handling Red Clover-Timothy Easiest to Cut-Rheumatic Hoge and Their Treatment.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of There is an old saying, "Make hay while_the-enn shines," with which Prof. Wade Tools of the O. A. College agrees; and fortunate in the farmer who gets sunshine for the Job, "However, with hay to marvest." one cannot siways wait for the weather. One of the essentials in the production of good hay is that it be cut at the proper time. It must have sufficient maturity to ensure curing quality, but over maturity means coarse, fibrous, low quality feed. Sweet clover should be cut in the late bud stage. Alfails is ready just as it begins to blossom, and the new shoots are starting at the base or the plants. Red clover is nandled to best advantage when approximately onethird of the blossoms have turned brown, and timothy just utter the second blossom falls.

Curing Sweet Clover. In curing sweet clover two methods re followed. Perhaps cutting with the binder and stooking up tife grain until the crop is ary saves leaves better and gives as good results as can be obtained. Or the crop may be cut down and allowed to lie in the swath for about two days' sun, and then raked tuto small windrows. If the weather is dry, about three days the wendrow with an occasional tedding makes it ready to harvest. It the weather is catchy it is advisable to coil the crop as soon as it is raked Harvesting Alfaifa. Alfalfa is more easily cured than sweet clover. If the weather is tine it may be cut in the morning and raked the afternoon of the following day. It must not be allowed to remain exposed to the dew too many uights of bleaching results. After raking, if the sun shines, one more ony in the windrow generally makes good hay. If rain threatens coil it up immediately and let it make in the coll. In any event be sure it is ary when harvested, and be careful of the leaves to handling as they constitute the most valuable portion of aundling Red Clover Hay. Red clover is the common clover ay crop. Much of it is allowed to

ec over-ripe because it then cures dore easily. It may be handled in | tue same manner as alfalfa; but, uneas the crop is heavy it does not usuaity take quite as long to curee The ayloader has changed methods to ome extent. It is good practice to cut one duy, tedd the following morning, and rake the next afternoon. If the crop is very heavy it may have to ay over an extra day. It is surprising how much faster hay will make, atter it has gone so far, when pulled or rolled into windrows. If it is to be could the work should be done boon after raking, and the hay should emain in the coils for a few days to west out. However, most of it is wrawn out of the windrows and if dry .unkes good feed.

'imothy is Easiest to Cut. Timothy is the easiest to cure. If crop and weather are right it may be solicit an opportunity to please cut one morning and haused the next atternoon, and, in fair weather, is always ready by the third day. It is not necessary to coil timothy to cure. No matter what the hay crop, cut in time, rake as soon as possible to Luste a drying, tedd outy when green " damp and con in catchy weather. to doubt attaits and red clover may or made into the nest hay by colling. out the good weather this extra work is not necessary, and the loader castens the harvest.-Dept. of Exten
