The Greatest Service—The Least Attention
There's no piece of farm equipment that gives so much service over so long a period with so little attention as a good windmill. That's why I recommend the Toronto Self-Oiling Windmill so highly. Lots of Toronto Windmills have given from sixteen to twenty years' service with practically no attention outside an occasional oiling and are still operating satisfactorily every day.
In the Toronto Self-Oiling Windmill all gears operate in a bath of special oil affected by neither heat or cold—every bearing thoroughly and automatically lubricated. New oil is required "only once a year."
If you already own a Toronto Windmill, I can give you the self-oiling feature by merely interchanging the head and using your present wheel. Most Toronto Windmills, too, can be made absolutely self-regulating in operation.

GRIEF

I could not utter it last night. Because the voice was dumb. But now when I try to write The words which would not come.

When all the bitter tears are dried Sometime when you're alone, You'll find a calm to those denied Who never grief have known.

I know the hurt is keen today, I know the loss is great, But what if you should go away With no one there to wait? And oh how lonely Heaven would be

If all you loved were here And there was none you longed to see To welcome you, my dear?

If God had spared you every blow Which chafed you from every foe And filled your years with mirth, And then at last he bade you leave Your place above to find? Throughout eternity you'd grieve For those you'd left behind.

Oh you have had a lovely child, And you have lost a son But soon you shall be reconciled—When life's brief time is done, For Heaven is made of those we love.

The beautiful and true, And God has taken him above To build a Heaven for you.

—Edgar A. Goost.

Keepin' the Sabbath

"Let's pack the basket up and scot, let's fill the pitcher with cold tea, and ere the Sabbath gets a-near-by sixty miles toward the sea."

In such a frame of mind as this the folks what's dwellin' in this age seem fearin' that some giant will come and rush them off into a cage, where they can't fly around like mad when comes the day of quiet rest, a-fairin' they can't scamper off and raise the dust from east to west.

We're breakin' from the way that was when on the Sabbath came a pause, when we was taught to read the Book and ponder on it clause by clause.

When on the Sabbath morn we went and filed into the family pew and heard the parson preach a spell about the wicked things we do.

"Twas then our fathers quit their toil and dodged from out the daily strain, when young and old they eased a bit and got new vigor in their frame.

And folks had time to think a spell free from the noise of jest and laughter, they had a chance to let their thoughts reach out into the great hereafter.

But 'tain't the way we do things now, we're tearin' up the ancient rock, we're greet the Sabbath as a day to sleep upon the gas and scot; let's get a long way out of here, let's chase the wild and faded flower, nor pause at all in all the day to have a quiet peaceful hour.

Let's pour the cold tea in a pail let's gather up a merry load, and churn the dust up in the air a-tearin' of the country road.

We'll fill the air out by the stream with noise and with a merry shout, we'll come back home late morn more tired than what we were at startin' out.

Perhaps I'm ancient in my views, nor keepin' step in '24, when notes pour on Sunday morn, a streamin' past the old Kirk door.

It don't seem right to use the day for beratin' just gas and scot, and workin' hard after sport than most folks do in daily toil—ARK.

A new store is under construction on the lot on Mill Street between Woodland Theatre and Miss Murray's residence. Mr. W. J. Honey, Georgetown, will occupy the new premises, with a shoe store.

The increased admission fee to the Fair deterred no one from attending. The crowd this year was larger than ever, and the gate receipts sufficiently enhanced to put the finances of the Fair beyond peradventure.

Mr. Beatty Arnold has purchased the fine new two-story brick residence recently built by Mr. S. Cordier at the corner of Bower Avenue and Wilbur Streets. Mr. Arnold will remove from Georgetown in a few days to his new home.—Free Press.

"Drive out big car. Buy gas. Buy moonshine. Fill up on both. Step on gas. Trees and fence go by heap fast. See big bridge coming down road. Turn out to left bridge pass. Bang! Here I am."

—An Order-in-Council was passed on August 28 forbidding the shooting of wood and elder duck until further notice. Hunters should make a mental note of this change.

New Courses School Study Issued by Education Dept.

Schedule of Studies for Forms 1 to 8 Set Out by Minister of Education in Book Form

The courses of study of the Public and Separate Schools of the province have been revised by the Department of Education under Premier Ferguson and are made public in the form of a complete booklet setting out the subjects and the manner of teaching to be followed from the Kindergarten grade to the Normal School entrance.

The minister, in a prefatory notice, urges that these changes with the presentation of the courses make careful tests as to their suitability for the pupils for whom they are intended. He invites the cooperation of school boards, inspectors, teachers and others in determining desirable modifications for a further revision next year.

It is pointed out that the new courses are merely tentative and that forms will be issued later in the year for the purpose of pointing out any suggestions for improvement that might be made. "A serious attempt has been made to give the courses greater elasticity," states the preface.

The syllabus of the courses set for forms 1 to 4 makes the following subjects obligatory—Reading and literature, composition and spelling, writing, arithmetic, history, geography, grammar, hygiene and physical culture, art and constructive work (a minimum course), nature study and agriculture (a minimum course), vocal music (a minimum course).

The following subjects are optional: Art and constructive work (supplementary course), nature study and agriculture (supplementary course), vocal music (supplementary course), manual training, household science.

According to the new regulations the local school board of Education may from the above list of optional subjects select such subjects as are desirable and practical in the condition of the school. With the approval of the Minister of Education, the Board may add to the list of optional subjects such other subjects as may be suitable to meet the needs of the locality.

The new course also provides that throughout the courses, the teacher shall give instruction in moral principles and practices, and in good manners, from occurred incidents, from the lessons in literature, history, etc., by anecdotes and didactic talks, and by his own example as well as by precept.

According to the new course, the course of study for fifth form is designed to meet the needs of those pupils who desire a general education, or who wish to prepare for admission to a Model School, or for the Public schools graduation diploma. In this course the following subjects are obligatory: Reading and literature, Canadian history and civics, geography, grammar and arithmetic.

The following subjects are optional: Physiography, Algebra, Geometry, Art, Botany, Zoology, Agriculture and Horticulture, Latin, French, German, Manual Training, Household Science, Music, Business Practice, Stenography and Typewriting.

The above courses for the fifth form are the same as those prescribed for the Lower School of the High School.

The booklet sets out the method of teaching the courses and gives suggestions as to text books to be used.

Under the heading "Examination Requirements" for entrance to the High Schools, the regulations say: "Candidates for admission to High Schools shall have completed the courses in the subjects prescribed for Form 4 in the following groups:

Group 1—Art and Constructive Work; Hygiene and Physical Culture; Nature Study and Agriculture.

Group 2—Oral Reading, Writing, Spelling, Geography, History, Grammar, Literature, Composition and Arithmetic.

Candidates will be admitted to the Lower school, or High school on a certificate of the principal that the subjects in group 1 have been taken up. In the case of group 2 written examinations must be tried. The written examinations shall be held annually at centres provided by the Schools Act. Before the examinations the principal shall send to the Public school inspector for the consideration of the Entrance Board, a report on the standing of the candidates and a certificate that the requirements of the course in supplementary reading have been fully carried out.

A Wife's Prudges
It is generally recognized that wives may go through their husbands' pockets whenever they please. Sometimes it serves a very useful purpose. This was brought to our attention the other day when a lady called to pay up her husband's subscription to this paper, which was in arrears. She had no idea that it was so far not paid until she found a bill in her husband's pocket. She promptly called and paid the amount. Would that all wives were so sensitive to the overights of their lesser halves.

—The annual convention of Halton and Wentworth Inspectors will be held in the Normal School, Toronto, on Thursday and Friday, October 9 and 10. A programme of much interest has been prepared. The county teachers who are to give addresses are Mrs. Minnie R. Moore, of Acton, on "Fit Year in School," and Miss E. Neil of Glen Williams, on "Composition in Forms III and IV." Inspector Denyes of Milton, will conduct a half hour conference. Features of the two days will be attending a meeting at Massey Hall on Thursday evening, to be addressed by H. A. L. Fisher, late Minister of Education in the British Government, and visiting Toronto Schools on Friday afternoon. Miss E. Brown, Oakville, is President, and Miss M. Z. Bennett, Acton, Secretary.

Notes and Comments

HAVE YOU HEARD the new two dollar Dominion of Canada note? Although the date of issue is given as June 25, 1923, there are few who have seen the bill in circulation. A teller of one of the local financial institutions recalls having handled the new issue as far back as three or four months ago, but they were by no means common. The appearance of the new bill is such as to compel immediate attention. A "clean-cut" picture of the Prince of Wales occupies a central position, formerly allocated to a large "2," while the figure denoting the denomination at the top of the bill is much enlarged. For the first time, the maple leaf is included in the scheme of decoration, and the seal of the department of finance appears on the face. Altogether it is quite different from the old issue.

A CARPENTER WHO says he has worked faithfully at his trade in Toronto for 52 years asks who will get him a pension and expresses the opinion that he is as much entitled to consideration of this kind as civic employees, who are paid as well as he. There are many who sympathize with the view he holds. There are men in all lines of life making provision as best they can for their old age and at the same time contributing to pension funds for civic and dominion officials. Such cases as that of Sir Eugene Fiset emphasize the unfairness of the whole superannuation system. Retiring from the Militia Department at 49 years of age, on account of ill-health, he received a pension of $3,000 a year. This he still enjoys. A short time ago he was elected to parliament and will receive $4,000 indemnity. Why should a carpenter or anyone else be taxed to make such generous allowances possible.

WHEN A HOUSE is reared, each brick laid, each nail driven, each rafter set in place finds its position on the basis of all that was done up to that moment. There must be a solid underpinning that the superstructure may be substantial. It is impossible to derive a rock-bottom stability from a quick-sand foundation. The structure of society depends on the performance of each man in his place through the generations. Age builds on age; and as we come on the scene we inherit the fruit of the soil and travail of civilized mankind before us. In our turn we are bound to leave "on going" hence some immemorial thing. All we can do is to live our lives as well as we know how to live them, and leave the issue with the Master Builder whom the stars obey. A good name, like the inferior fortune that is money, is a matter of accretion. The good neighbor and useful citizen is known to-day by what he has been consistently for many years. In rare instances, which headlines seldom fail to emphasize, the pillar of church and state topples suddenly to ruin; and there is grief, with general amazement. When we see such a collapse, we remember the infinitely small proportions measured by the number of those who continue to justify the affectionate general confidence. That public esteem is not a man's ceaseless effort to acquire; and it is better to uphold such a reputation than to rear the most palatial of the houses made with hands.

Milton
The condition of J. W. Crozier, who has been ill for some weeks, is very serious. An operation has been decided to be advisable, but it has been postponed on account of his weakness.

A splendid kitchen shower, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, Hornby, was given on Monday evening, Miss Daisy Cantelon, previous to her marriage, at the home of Mrs. Fred Wrigglesworth. A very happy time was spent.

Mrs. S. R. Bows attended the meeting of the Board of Managers of the W.M.S., held in Toronto last week. She was honored by being elected one of the Field Secretaries of the Board, in succession to Mrs. E. E. Marshall. She will have under her supervision the Indian, the French and the Italian missions, controlled by the W.M.S.—Champion.
