THE TOLLERS

We who toil in field and mill,
When our weary limbs are still,
To the graveyard shall be borne
With perchance a few to mourn.

No pompous patient leads the way,
Where common clay is mixed in clay,
No bust or urn shall ever arise
To laud our virtues to the skies.

No lines to tell of husband-wife
Who drugg'd for bairns, for bread,
For life.

The wolf stands ever at the door,
Upon the threshold of the poor.

At all costs saw the old folk
Through, and widows sorrowing through
The night.

One generation by the next forgot,
Our humble headstones fall and rot,
Only the industrious and great,
Find a postemporium of their fate.

-H. J. Dawney.

Is There a Santa Claus?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of the Herald:

"Dear Editor - I am eight years old.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

"Papa says, 'If you see it in the Herald it's so.'

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"Virginia O'Hanlon,"

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which child-hood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. You might get your papa to imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a voice coming out of the unseen world, which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside the curtain and view the picture of the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! He lives and He lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, may ten times ten thousand years from now, He will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Dr. and Mrs. T. J. D. Farmer have to-morrow for St. Petersburg, Florida, and will spend the winter in the south.

Messrs. Robert and John Warren were in town last week to give their support to the waterworks extension by law.

Mr. Robert Bennett, Lake Ave., is not improving. He takes little nourishment, but suffers no pain. He has been confined to bed now for more than a week.

Postmaster Matthews' condition has not improved during the week. While he has slight relief of head ailments his mind is usually wandering. He seems to be growing weaker.

Mr. H. S. Holmes, agent of the Canadian National Railway had a painful fall on the ice on Friday on the cement platform near the station. In the fall he severely sprained his wrist and smashed his eyeglasses. He has felt pretty stiff from the fall ever since.

Hornby

Gordon Chisholm of Hornby presented Wilson and Wilcott, grain merchants, Milton, with a quantity of red fall wheat which his father, the late Thomas Chisholm of Esquimaux, bought at a sale 32 years ago, when it was already 32 years old. Some of it will be sown next spring to see if it will grow thick place at Guelph General Hospital on Sunday, Dec. 7th, of William Gilmore, aged 25. Deceased took suddenly ill at the home of his employer, Lindsay Neelard, at Hornby, east of Milton, on Friday, Dec. 5th, and was removed to the hospital, where in spite of the most skillful physicians the young man passed away two days later. Deceased was a member of the I.O.O.F. An effort is being made to find the relatives of the young man.

Notes and Comments

A TRIBUTE TO REAL having to do with printing tells us that the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater is short of printers, so short indeed that, unless there are some some new barbers who understand the business, it will be necessary to publish the "Prison Mirror" outside the prison walls. At present, says this journal, the prison contains only few printers, and one of those is old decrepit, a flake. They could, run the accounts, equip a church of almost any denomination, or a college with a full list of instructors. They have, moreover, a sufficient force of trained bankers to operate half a dozen banks, but there are not enough printers to equip one tiny print shop.

Ballinalad

"THANK-YOU" is such a little thing to say. Yet it is often left unsaid. Is the omission just the result of thoughtlessness, and a bad habit consequently formed, or is it the result of ingratitude and indifference for kindly acts and gracious deeds. There is nothing that gives a clearer indication of the kind of home training a child receives than the spontaneous "Thank-You" for any kindness conferred. Children do not say these things naturally but in imitation of their elders, and in consequence of being impressed by the necessity for "Thank-you's." It is such a little thing to be courteous and grateful, but it is the best quality of it making for harmonious running in human relationships. It is well to practice as well as preach "Thank you."
