FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 5

What 'Orange Pekoe' Means

Many buyers of tea have come to ask for 'Orange Pekoe' believing that it signifies fine quality. This is not, however, necessarily the case. In the trade 'Orange Pekoe' is only a name given to the first leaf below the bud or tip, on any Indian or Ceylon tea bush. An 'Orange Pekoe' leaf grown at a high elevation usually possesses a very fine flavour. If, however, the plant is grown at a low elevation, it may still be 'Orange Pekoe' but also be of very poor quality. The consumer's only safeguard is to buy a tea of recognized goodness. High grown 'Orange Pekoes' comprise a large part of every blend of 'SALADA' and give to 'SALADA' its unequalled flavour.

EARTH

How wonderful is earth!
This soil of precious worth!
Though gold be good, it has no life to give!
But in the furrow dark
There dwells a vital spark
That whispers to the seed, "Awake and live!"
Sunset and dawn of bloom
Rise from that rayless gloom,
And thence the oak receives his massive crown,
The timid wilding flower,
Fruit fairy of an hour,
From dust has made her artless gown.
Far in that night profound
Each tree its fruit has found,
Each season drawn from dust its treasures aill,
In happy flower and tree
Dust utters joyously
A language of eternal tone and will.
Toiler beneath the sod!
O worker calm with God!
In grandeur of a silent vast design
In lifting to light
Out of an ancient night,
Love's purpose in the human heart
of thine!
—Archibald Rutledge.

Use Slugs Stamp
The postal department has issued a poster asking patrons to use, wherever possible, a single postage stamp on a letter, parcel or other piece of mail, because in some instances the use of more stamps may so encroach on the space for address and date stamping as to cause confusion and consequent delay in the mail.

Tennis Club Officers

The annual meeting of the Georgetown Tennis Club was held on Tuesday evening, April 21st, at the office of H. R. Adams, when a large number of members were present. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:
President—T. Imbeau.
Hon. Pres.—H. R. Adams.
1st Vice Pres.—Mildred Kennedy
2nd Vice Pres.—W. B. Ford.
Sec. Treas.—Margaret Treanor.
Grounds Committee—W. C. Mullin, Arthur Beaumont, Wilfred Hunter, Robt. Corke.
Membership Committee—Ross Cameron, Yvonne Adams, Marie Fleck, Bert Thompson.
Social Committee—Mesdames J. D. Kelly, C. V. Williams, C. E. Greenham, Misses Beth Mims, Mary Lawson, Irene Thompson, Edith O'Connell, Marie Fleck.
Tournament Committee—Arthur Beaumont, Mildred Kennedy, Dick Roe, Josephine Willson.
Constitution Committee—Arthur Beaumont, Robt. Corke, Mrs. C. V. Williams, Josephine Willson, Jack Thompson.
The treasurer's report for last year was highly satisfactory and showed a favorable balance. It was unanimously decided that a vigorous campaign for additional members should be begun at once and in accordance with the wish of the meeting a special committee was appointed to carry on this work about town. It is the hope of every member of the present club that the work of the committee will meet with favor from all those approached with a view to membership. If anyone desirous of playing should happen to be overlooked by the committee, we trust they will communicate with any member of the club. The courts will be conditioned at once and to overcome the confusion existing last year at certain times, it has been decided to inaugurate a more systematic arrangement so that all members will have equal opportunities of play.

Essay Competition

The Local Council of Women provided a very interesting competition when they offered prizes to the pupils of the Public and High Schools for essays on the Public Library. The co-operation of the teachers made it possible that all except the smaller children should think a little about the subject and try their hand at an essay. The resulting papers were read over and the better ones sent to a committee for the council to be judged.
It would require more space than could be spared to print any of these essays or even parts of them, but the purpose of the Council has been very well attained. The children have had their attention drawn to the advantages they have in a local library. They have learned the story of the building, thought of the variety, the benefit and the pleasure of the books and the happiness provided for them in having access to good literature. There follow a few extracts that may be interesting and even furnish an idea or two to some of the older heads:
"We can pay a few cents and get books free. That is far better than borrowing a book for when a page and then you might lose a friend."
"Some of the books are educating and some just stories without any meaning."
"We, as citizens of Georgetown, are not grateful enough for the benefit the library provides for us."
"We men and boys should remove our caps and only whisper."
"It is in childhood that one's habit in reading begins to develop and it is impossible for any one to reach the stage where there is nothing left for him to learn."
"A very thoughtful paper closes with the quotation:
"Books we know are a substantial world.
Both pure and good.
Round which, with tendril strong
As flesh and blood,
Our pastime and our happiness
can grow."
"A younger writer concludes:
"We ought to count the library one of our regular places to go."

Foot Ball

Football will be one of the leading sports in Georgetown this coming summer and the schedule of games in the league in which our boys are interested are as follows:
May 26—Acton vs. Taylor Forbes.
May 27—Georgetown vs. Acton.
May 28—Taylor Forbes vs. Geolp A.
June 4—Acton vs. Geolp A.
June 13—Taylor Forbes vs. Geolp A.
June 20—Taylor Forbes vs. Acton.
June 27—Georgetown vs. Geolp A.
June 27—Acton vs. Taylor Forbes.

Notes and Comments

WHAT IS NEEDED today is more home life. It is a lamentable fact that after seven months in the evening the various members of the family are usually scattered to the four winds. Various activities outside of the home during the children's presence not on the right of the work but on many. Rarely do the members of a family spend an evening together in the home. This fact is widely recognized and is one that calls for serious thought if the home as an institution is not to be wiped from the social map. Georgetown is a town of homes, but homes without home life are more shells, and have missed the very object for which they were created.

IT IS AN OLD and true saying that loyalty is the mark of an honest man. To begin with, loyalty—which has its root in healthy localism—gives one's neighbors a square deal. Distinct hills look green, and faraway cities seem full of money making deals. But hills fifty or an hundred miles away do not feel one's own sheep, and money paid out of one's city or country for goods or professional services supports no schools, builds no roads pays for no court of justice, pays no wages, and lifts no burdens in one's own locality. No one in his senses asks anyone to be loyal to local men or stores or institutions at a personal loss, financial or otherwise. There is no sentiment in business or professional service. The dealer without the goods, and the professional man lacking in skill and knowledge, have no claim to anyone. The world is every man's competitor. But what a healthy localism requires is that the local man shall have a fair chance to show his goods or his skill. If he suffers by fair comparison, the fault is his. If he is on all fours with his competitor, it is only just to help the man who is paying taxes and otherwise doing his bit in carrying on all that makes his locality decent and prosperous. Every dollar spent at home means bread and butter for local labor, better service, and better village or town or city. The dollar spent out of the country rarely returns, while the dollar spent at home is twice blessed—it benefits the local business or professional man and assures the spender of a better bargain, nine times out of ten, than he can make abroad.

Fined For Careless
Last Saturday, at Burlington, Police Magistrate Barr convicted J. Hayden, a Nelson farmer, of cruelty to animals, fined him $15 and costs and ordered him to remedy conditions. The charge was laid by S. C. A. Inspector Barlinghoff, Hamilton, who had inspected the son farms and found bad conditions, as reported in the Champion last week. Farmers were ordered to clean up. Farms in Nassau County, Trafalgar and Esquimaux are being inspected.—Champion.
