YOUR CANCELLED CHEQUE IS A RECEIPT

If you pay each account by cheque on the Bank of Montreal the man who gets it automatically signs a receipt when he endorses the cheque to get his money from the bank. He can not cash your cheque without first signing his name on the back, thus acknowledging payment.

It is because of this method of doing business that payment through your bank is the sure, safe, economical way. You need not even call to pay a bill. Just mail your cheque to the person to be paid.

HIDE YOUR HEADACHES

It is human to suffer, the toothache's the thing. Which is apt to occur to both peasant and king: This body in prey to all manner of pain.

A headache will come to the commonest brain: There are all sorts of trouble for mortals to know, Which the foolish display and the wise never show.

Jim Green kept a shop and the wares he displayed And the prices he charged should have built up a trade.

But it was his headache, then all who might come To buy from his stock found him surly and grim: He'd quarrel o'er trifles and grouch through the day.

And 'twas if or leave it' he'd frequently say. The customers found in their dealings with Jim 'Twas a difficult thing to do business with him: They heard him complain of the troubles he bore, And they tired of his conduct and pushed up his store.

His prices were fair and his goods were the best, But to put up with Jim was too much of a test. It's the man, not the store, when it's all said and done! To the man goes the battle and when Jim's stock forgot was the stock on his shelf.

Could never be sold till he'd first sold himself: So his customers left for a pleasant place To be served by a man with a smile on his face.

The moral is plain: If you're troubled, don't show it! If you've a headache, don't let people know it! —Edgar A. Guest.

Liberal Conservative Meeting

Notices have been issued for the second annual meeting of the Centre District, Liberal-Conservative Association, to be held at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton, on Wednesday, July 8, at 2 p.m.

The gathering is primarily a business meeting for the election of officers and the receiving of reports from the riders but such outstanding speakers as Col. Arthur Hately, past president, Canadian Manufacturers Association, Maj.-Gen. Hon. S. G. Newburn, J. E. MacNeil, president National Liberal-Conservative Association, W. C. Clydale, secretary, Ontario Conservative Association, have accepted invitations to address the meeting.

The district comprises the constituencies of Hamilton, Halton, Hamilton, Lincoln, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Welland, Wentworth, and Wellington, and includes all members of the local organizations therein. A special invitation is issued to the ladies to attend. President L. H. Spencer, Welland, will preside.

Okaville Man Killed
John Davidson, aged 57, of Kerr street, Okaville, was struck and killed by a westbound train last Thursday, between the 9th and 10th lines, Trafalgar township. It is presumed that the deceased, who was employed by the C.N.R. on maintenance-of-way work, was walking to his job and did not see the train approach. Death was instantaneous. Coroner W. M. Wilkinson opened an inquest but adjourned the inquiry for a week. The late Mr. Davidson is survived by a wife and three sons, all of Okaville.

J. C. Laidlaw Dead
The funeral of John C. Laidlaw, aged 66, who passed away at his home, 1686 Eleventh avenue west, Vancouver, B.C., on Wednesday, will be conducted on Friday at 10 a.m. from the T. J. Kearney Co.'s chapel at Ocean View Burial Park. Rev. E. McGowan will officiate. Mr. Laidlaw was born in the county of Hailton, graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph. In 1879 he moved to Manitoba and to British Columbia in 1904, and engaged in the lumber business in this city. He is survived by his widow, three daughters and two sons, Mrs. P. Peast and Mrs. A. Finlayson of Kerrisdale, Miss Joan and Frank Laidlaw at home and James at Hamilton, one sister, Mrs. A. L. Purvis of Edmonton—Vancouver Province.

Pat Check On "Script"
The amendments to the Ontario Temperance act, as passed by the legislature last session, which limits the number of doctor's prescriptions for liquor to thirty per month, came into effect July 1st.

Notification of the fact has been sent out in a circular letter to the medical profession by the board of license commissioners. In the amendment, the number is definitely stipulated, which is a difference from previous legislation on the point. A penalty for disobedience is provided also. A doctor, who exceeds the authorized number, may be jailed into court and charged with a breach of the O.T.A. This latest move is the fourth reduction in the number of prescriptions issuable since the temperance act came into force.

Then the first number was set at 100, a further reduction to 75 was later made and still another amendment brought the number down to 50 per month.

Milton

Crown Attorney Dick will leave this evening for Montreal, where he will join his two sisters from Baltimore, to sail tomorrow to spend a month in the British Isles.

As required by law, Crown Attorney Dick will be in charge of the books of the Third Division Court in the County of Halton until a successor to its late Clerk, J. A. Tracy, has been appointed.

George Gowling is already there. Doona is on the Gulf of Mexico, close to the mouth of the Rio Grande, in an irrigated district where oranges, grape fruit, etc., are produced, none better anywhere. All the growers are prosperous. Mr. Gowling will become one of them.

On Monday W. E. McCready, Sheriff's Bailiff, and an assistant escorted Lockie Burnham to Kingston to serve twenty-seven months. Burnham is an Indian, aged 19, had been at Burlington for some time and was sentenced last week for breaking into five garages in one night.—Champion.

Erin

Mrs. J. Leslie has returned home after visiting with her brother at Glen Williams. She is convalescing from a recent illness. A social evening was spent at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Abbott on Monday evening last, it being the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding. The immediate family sat down to a sumptuous dinner and a pleasant evening was spent. The company included: Mrs. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Everest; Mrs. McKechnie, Miss McKechnie and Miss Marshall of the village; Miss Marshall of Sterling; and Mrs. W. S. McKinnon and little daughter of Olds, Alberta.—Advocate.

J. D. Flavalle Dead

John D. Flavalle, former chairman of the Ontario License Commission and widely known business man, died at his home at Lindsay, at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. Mr. Flavalle had been ill nearly two weeks, pneumonia developing during the past few days. Most of Saturday he was unconscious and members of the family were at the bedside when the end came. Sir Joseph Flavalle is a brother.

Notes and Comments.

JUST BECAUSE we live in a small town it does not necessarily mean that we have small town minds. The trouble is that we spend too much time thinking about town thoughts. If any one in our community shows evidence of unusual ability or appears to be more successful and making more money than the rest of us, we immediately allow some narrow personal prejudice or dislike to influence our judgment and we go about knocking or belittling the individual. This doesn't help us, and it hinders the man who is trying to get-some-where.

ONCE EVERY WEEK every man should sit down in a big easy chair, cross his legs and make himself as comfortable as possible and for an hour calmly think about himself. He should inquire about his disposition, how to improve it, he should analyze his religion and if he has any desire to be steadfast in it, he should consider his business and figure out methods of reducing expenses without impairing service; he should ask himself whether or not he is doing the best possible by his employees and his neighbors; he should investigate his citizenship and deal frankly while considering it; and finally he should blintly ask himself if he isn't the most carelessly and most thoughtless man in the world while he is in his own home.

IT IS NOT THE LACK of new ideas that holds men back, nor is it the ability to generate ideas that pushes them forward. The value of new ideas is over rated. The one thing that takes a man ahead is his ability to get one good idea, and then stick with it through lean and fat years, through war and slaughter, through fire and blood. Too many of us jump from one idea to another, from one job to another, scrapping a host of good ideas and good experiences as we race along. Few business men ever die from lack of money who can carry out ideas—good executives, men who can take an assignment and then come back with a package under their arms, men who, if you please, "carry the message to Garcia." No one except the man who pays the bills knows how expensive it is to experiment with new ideas.

NOW AND THEN a writer crops up who still makes beautiful phrases in glorification of old-time foods that set the modern consumer of prepared breakfasts and restaurant luncheons wondering what it is all about. We read of vitamins, calories and balanced rations and marvel how the pioneer and his roving wife, who knew nothing of such things, ever managed to rear sturdy family of children. Scientists are now explaining some of the mysteries. They have found out by modern tests that many of the well-known dishes of the old days contained just what the human machinery wanted to keep it in running order. In fact, for instance, the scientific gentleman found vitamins in abundance.

Among later discoveries is that the old-fashioned molasses is strong still in vitamin B, which is held to be a vital factor in promoting health. It was into this molasses that the old-time mother stirred the sulphur which she gave to her children as a medicine. The mixture could scarcely be called palatable, but once down it served the purpose. There are still many who have a vivid recollection of their brimstone and treacle days. To those who have taken too much of the memory is not pleasant, but there is for them the satisfaction that their mothers and grandmothers knew what was good for them. These grand old folk of the brimstone and treacle days should be forever held in grateful memory. Why? it may be asked. The answer is because self-reliance was the rock upon which they laid the foundation of our nation.

Burglary Attempted
An attempt was made at 1:30 a.m. Friday to burglarize the store of Lambie & Son, Meadowdale, for the third time in six years. Mr. Lambie, who lives just across the road from his store, was awakened by the burglar alarm and immediately crossed to the store. He found that someone had entered by the back door, saw the flashlight working inside, and walked to the rear entrance for the intruder. He was very much surprised to see a man, with a red bandanna tied across the lower part of his face and his cap pulled down, emerge from the cellar window at his feet. The man grabbed Mr. Lambie, although the latter carried a revolver and said "Hands up." After a long tussle the burglar finally broke away and made for the radial track, Mr. Lambie firing three shots after him. He did not get anything, probably being disturbed before he found the till.
