THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

Up through my office window came the city's gasless din...

I just had passed a moment when the evening mail came in...

A pile of business letters and the papers with the news...

Of wars and murders, fires and floods—most anything I'd choose...

I cast them one by one aside and found beneath them all...

A homely country paper, blurred with ink and somewhat small...

That drew my full attention to its content and down...

The little weekly paper that they print in my home town...

This country paper always tells of things in quiet tone...

It deals not with the outside world, but topics all its own...

It tells about the folks who visit the region up and down...

That most is soaring upward or that eggs are going down...

That some old chain is married, or a life long friend has died...

The stock has paid a visit and two hearts are swelled with pride...

This paper strikes a tender chord when far away you roam...

For one is always glad to hear what's going on at home.

Obituary

ANNIE MCBRIEN

At the home of her niece, Mrs. Archie Freeman, North Bay, the death occurred on Tuesday, July 28th, of Miss Annie McBrien, formerly of Milton.

The late Miss McBrien was born in the county of Fermanagh, Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents in 1868. She lived at Ashgrove for some time, afterwards moving to Milton. Her husband was associated for many years with the firm of the late Wm. Bews & Sons.

Five years ago she went to North Bay to make her home with her son. She lived a faithful, gentle, wholesome life, and walked down the path into the great unknown with confidence and fortitude that are born of right living and honorable conduct. She was a member of the Milton Methodist Church. Her remains were brought to Milton on Thursday, July 28th, and were interred in Ashgrove cemetery. In the absence of the pastor of her church, the service was conducted by Rev. Canon Natfor, of Grace Church.

Women Motor Drivers

Are women as good motor car drivers as men? This is the question that is being asked by some editors. Editors have to have something to talk about and suitable subjects are not always easy to find. The Walkerton Herald-Times thinks as good, or better than men, as long as the Petrolia Advertiser-Topic thinks men, and the Hanover Post is inclined to agree with the latter. The Petrolia Advertiser-Topic man says motor drivers require "quick head and foot work," and it is evident that the man who is superior to women in both "head and foot work." Our own opinion is that men, having been created the stronger and more aggressive sex, and having developed their natural bent during the countless ages of evolution by taking the lead in everything requiring adventure, while their wives stayed quietly at home to mind the children and cook the dinner (or serve it raw before the age of cooked food) for their lords, ought to be the best drivers, and if they aren't, they ought to be ashamed of themselves. There is no reason, however, why a woman who has good nerves should not handle a car so as to give herself and others much pleasure.—Hinton News-record.

To Rebuild Mt Pleasant Church

John McMeekin and Alexander McKinnon are making a canvass in behalf of the fund for rebuilding Mount Pleasant Church, burned during January. A list of members was made to clear the basement of the debris which had fallen in during the fire, and it was then found that the foundation and a part of the walls can be utilized for rebuilding the church. The architect, Mr. McLeod, of Toronto, reports that everything is in good shape for the restoration of the walls and has kindly offered his services. Donors are under consideration, and it is expected that the work of rebuilding will shortly be under way.

The farmers in the north end of Halton County are complaining of the destruction to property by wild rabbits, which are so numerous that they are overrunning the farms and doing great damage to crops and vegetable gardens.

Annual Field Day at Ferndale Park

For the second time the cottagers at Ferndale Park have enjoyed an annual field day, and succeeded in having this one very close to the "perfect day" mark. The affair was entirely organized and carried through by the cottagers, the committee having charge of the affair consisting of Dr. Rogers, Percy Adams, Mr. Raines and Mr. Warner. A collection was taken up among the cottagers and an amount approximating $150, was gathered for prizes, some very worthy prizes being contributed. The first event of the day was the quoit pitching match, in which there were 28 entries and which was carried on from early in the morning until late in the afternoon. Dave Adams of Toronto carried off the final honors. There was a softball game between the married and the single ladies, the latter securing the honors in this contest. In the afternoon the paper end of the park beat the lower end at softball and won the box of cigars donated by the Park management. A long program of races and other sports was carried out by the committee, everyone being given a chance to win something. Mrs. Toombs, Toronto, won the handsome bevelled glass table center donated by Percy Adams, Mrs. Nixon coming a close second. Mrs. Berry won the peanut race in the pavilion and Mrs. Bairich was first in the biggest eating contest. When evening came, everyone went to the pavilion where, with an orchestra made up of talent from the cottagers, a dance was held, following a program of music and readings by Miss Lenora Adams and Mr. Fred Jones. Miss Florence Curtis won the handsome coat offered by Mr. Bairich to the lady getting the lucky number dance, and Miss Lenora Adams won the balloon race. Dancing was prolonged until midnight, and then the guests were loath to depart. The Park was taxed to capacity over the holiday, a great many visitors coming out from the city with the idea of watching the sports.

Notes and Comments

A MIGHTY journal discusses the question of flag incidents in a reasonable way. It sees no patriotism in decorating with American flags a car travelling in another country. The "man" who does it is just being boastful, that is all, and he is not using very good taste and he is not being patriotic in his boasting, because when all is said and done he is a guest of the country through which he is touring, and there on sufferance. He is enjoying privileges for which the people of the country whose unbidden guest he is, have paid, and he is putting all the advertising as to the place he holds from that he needs from his license plates." If the flag of the United States is shown, that of the country visited should be flown also. It would be well if citizens of both countries would bear in mind that the relation of the traveller to the foreign country is that of the guest to the host, and that there are obligations on both sides. The obligation of the guest is well described by our Michigan contemporary. On the other hand, a good host does not readily take offence at his guest. The flying of the flag even where not strictly proper is often due to mere thoughtless exuberance, and does not call for any angry protest. The relations of Canada and the United States are not like those of European countries. War is regarded here as out of the question, and international behavior should be based upon that condition.

WHEN A MAN exclaims that he is a free man he speaks in particularities rather than generalities. In Canada a man are free in so far as they cannot be bought and sold as chattels or slaves and to the extent that they can hold public office and possess the elective franchise. It is right and proper for men to seek and glory in freedom, but absolute liberty is incompatible with civilization. Every law takes away a liberty, and parliament, legislatures and municipal governments are enacting new laws which cannot be violated with impunity. Employers and employers are masters of each other. Men who take unto themselves wives and acquire progeny are not at liberty to do and act as personal wishes dictate. No man is at liberty to operate his automobile as he will because there are traffic rules, the rights of others and statutes to be observed. But to continue in this manner might convince us that there is no freedom, that the black slave had more freedom than our first citizens. But there are two ways of looking at the restrictions of civilization. One is that every restriction is a denial of an inalienable right of the individual. The other is that every restriction liberates each individual from the trampling of other individuals. Legislation is a concomitant of civilization. We enact, enforce and obey laws not for our restriction but for our protection. We have not outgrown the proverb "one man's rights end where another's begin."

WE HAVE a friend who broods into our offices at stated intervals, and if perchance he finds us at our desk he sings, "The editor sits in his easy chair." Now this man is one of our very best friends, but we regret his continual assumption that the editor does nothing but sit in his easy chair. Then there is another wise guy who calls at the office at intervals and brings a column or two of matter "just to help fill up the paper." If the average reader of any newspaper could see the editorial waste basket he would be amazed at the amount of propaganda, free press agent stuff and vain efforts to get advertising published as news, that goes into that waste basket every day. Just why otherwise intelligent men will spend money in an effort to get something for nothing in the local newspaper is one of the big problems of the day. Ever since the world war, when newspaper editors generously printed columns of free matter for the war loans, the army and navy activities, and other appeals for foreign relief, a hundred corporations have been trying to get into print on the same basis. They have wasted enough money in this effort to pay the space they seek at the regular advertising rates. Politicians, reformers, charity workers, a hundred welfare organizations that pay everybody else a salary, pile the editor's desk high with free publicity. For a time the editor smiled and hung the copy on the compositor's hook, but as everybody got to doing it, the hook wouldn't hold the free copy and the waste basket got the overflow. To-day the waste basket won't hold it and most of it goes direct from the editorial desk to the baler. In self defence the editor who seeks to meet his bills and pay his employees has adopted the very simple slogan "You charge, we charge." Which means that advertising for all events where an admission fee is charged must be paid for.—Simcoe Reformer.

It is estimated that over 60,000 people attended the "Kitchener Old Boys' Re Union" last week.

Sunday School Teacher "When vast swarms of flies decend upon the Egyptian, were there any on the children of Israel?" Pupil: "No, ma'am; and there ain't none now."
