

THE MAN ON THE JOB

It's never the job or its wages that determines the worth of a man. It's the faith and the courage he uses. In doing the best that he can. It's the vision that carries him upward to success with a better all around.

For no one will carry him upward; he must climb to the top by himself. If he falters or strays from a purpose. He is apt to be left on the shelf. Though the job may be humble or menial.

Irksome, distasteful, or lone. There's always some chap who can use it. For an upward stepping stone.

And though the toll may be weary And rewards seem uncertain and slow. Dame Fortune is ready and waiting For the chap full of hustle and go.

So whether we work for a living At a desk or a lathe or a loom. In the fields that are ripe for a harvest. Or deep in a mine's laden gloom.

Or a pittry and mean forty box. There's a job for the man who can make it. It's always the man—not the job.

Convicted of Bigamy On Tuesday morning Victor Prentiss was tried by Judge Elliott on the charge of bigamy on which he had been committed for trial by Police Magistrate Shields.

Prentiss, who served in the Great War in the C.E.F., was married while overseas, in England, and his wife remained there when he came home.

He married Miss Frost, of Oakville. Prentiss gave evidence in his defence. He swore that before he had married Miss Frost he had received a letter from England from his mother-in-law, telling him that his wife was dead.

He carried it in a pocket until it was worn out. His Honor found him guilty, but ordered his release on suspended sentence.

Mail Order Man on the Job Herman Rosenfield, advertising manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said: "We have a bureau whose duty it is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country."

This is one of the strongest arguments we have seen in some time for local merchants to continue an aggressive advertising campaign.

Every merchant who is not appealing for patronage through his local newspaper is inviting more strenuous advertising on the part of the mail order houses.

Every merchant who does not make a weekly appeal for patronage through his local newspaper is helping to keep the line of defence from outside competition.

A poorly patronized newspaper is helping to keep the line of defence from outside competition. In other words, it is not the constant worry of finance that devote more time to the defence of his home town.

Ambling Along With the Trail Riders

(1) Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance. (2) Lunch in the Wolverine Pines. (3) One of the Guides. (4) On the Wolverine Plateau with Tumbling Glacier in the background. (5) Chief Louis Arty with his Kootenay Indian.

The Official Ride of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, commenced this year on the morning of August 8th and ended at Waipa Camp on the night of the 10th. Over a hundred members participated.

The riders, among them a number of prominent society people, scientists and artists, all travelling on horse-back, blazed a new passage across the Wolverine Plateau.

Seven Indians were in the party, six being Kootenays under Chief Louis Arty, while the seventh was Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance who gave a lecture on the Indian Races of Canada to the Canadian Club of Montreal during the winter.

The artists included Leonard Richmond, R.B.A., and A. L. Leighton of England; Carl Rungius, Belmont Browns and Richard M. Kimbel, of New York, and R. Palenski of Chicago.

This was the second annual Ride and Pow-wow of the organization. On the morning of August the eighth, motor cars conveyed the riders from Lake Louise and Banff to the point of departure on the Banff-Windermere Highway. These guides and horses were in readiness and the party immediately mounted and the ride commenced.

The ride then proceeded along the Plateau with the Wolverine Plateau, Mount Helmit and the Washmawapta Icefield and Waterfalls on the left, giving the riders a view of the Ten Peaks on the right.

That night camp was pitched on the Goodwin Plateau and before retiring the campers gathered around the fire for the usual sing-song, in the shadow of the cliff which rises sheer six thousand, five hundred feet above its valley.

On the second day the ride led down to Goodwin Creek and up McArthur Creek, past Lake McArthur. That night was spent of the shores of Lake O'Hara, the camp there being placed at the disposal of the Trail Riders by the Alpine Club of Canada.

On the third day, August 10th, the final ride was made from Lake O'Hara to Waipa Lake, where the expedition was concluded with a Pow-wow, sing-song and pale-face dance at Pipi Camp.

A new high-water mark for the 1925 season in navigation in regard to number of passengers landed at Quebec over a week-end, was established during the week-end of September 6th when six boats docked with nearly 5,000 passengers. The three Canadian Pacific steamers, the Montreal, Marich and Stella, brought 2,824 of the total passengers landed.

A memorial known as "The Altar of Peace" has recently been unveiled in Stanley Park, Vancouver, to symbolize the spirit of international good-will existing between the United States and Canada. The memorial was raised by joint subscription of United States and Canadian Kiwanis Clubs, and stands at the spot where the late President Harding delivered the last speech of his life while visiting Canada, in July, 1923.

One of the largest shipments of live foxes for export ever leaves Prince Edward Island, left recently for New York for transshipment to Norway. The shipment comprised 280 foxes in all, with a gross value of $40,000. Several small shipments of animals were consigned to Norway last year and this large order has followed the success which the Norwegian breeders have had with those animals previously sent from this country.

As illustrating the volume of grain delivered by the Port of Montreal compared with that of Vancouver, figures given by the Pacific coast port for the crop year ending July 31 last, show Montreal deliveries were six and three-quarters times those from the British Columbia port. Vancouver shipped 25,133,218 bushels of grain for the crop year ending July 31, while Montreal, during this period, disposed of 169,929,818 bushels.
