MISS GERTRUDE DAYFOOT In the death of Miss Dayfoot Georgetown loses one of its best known and most highly esteemed citizens. Born here, she passed through the public and high schools and the Milton Model school, and taught a few years in after which she joined the firm of oversight of the office.

To ber duties in the business, she added a number of activities. A faithful member of the Baptist Church, she gave unlimited time and strength to the Sunday School, choir, Mission Band and Young People. Her faitbfulness and ability in her home church was recognized by the Baptist church at large and she was given the; honored position of Directress of sociation, and made a member of week, provides this opportunity. the Women's Foreign Mission Board of the Baptist Convention of Optario and Quebec. Her in terest in Missions was not confined to the work of her church! alone. She has been a lifelong! member of the Leper Mission Circle and the Grenfell Associa you. tion, both of which organizations; will greatly miss her active inter est and financial support.

Dear Mr. Editor:-So many want to know why the Band brings another play, "Kath leen." to town next week, that, possibly, you will let me state briefly the object in view.

It is common knowledge that the Band has been struggling to keep alive for several years, and it is not my desire or intention to discuss the reason.
