At this time of the year the double duty performed by

is especially reasonable. For that persistent Bronchial cough that so many are suffering from just now it is unexcelled, and its splendid Tonic qualities help to build up the system in preparation for the rigors of Winter.

Said in Monthly Report
We are always pleased to publish school reports when sent in by the teachers. "Copy" mailed to a printing office goes for a cent if the envelope is not sealed, and marked "Copy" or "Manuscript." The best way is to enclose the envelope flap and turn it in. This holds the contents from getting out. We are always pleased also to receive reliable news from any source. We desire a few more correspondents in unrepresented districts.

Tide of Christmas Traffic Flows East

1.—Typical Christmas scene in Montreal. 2.—Finish of Eastern Dog Derby in Quebec. 3.—Riding and Skiing in Winter.

Ever since that time, some years ago now, when the West was discovered by the East as the most likely place to amass a fortune in the briefest possible time, the simple words, "Go West, young man," were the best advice a parent could give a son, well, ever since that time, the young man who heeded the advice has been coming back East at least once a year, and that once is generally Christmas.

Perhaps the young man has amassed no great fortune, perhaps he has, and perhaps again he has fared rather ill, but in any event he usually finds that as Christmas draws near, recollections of his childhood Christmas stockings, the tree at home, the plum pudding or the turkey and cranberries, constitute a powerful memory to increase. And because these recollections are so potent, transportation companies operate special services to handle what they call the Christmas traffic.

This year the crop has been extremely good; money will be more free in the West than for some time past. The season's work is done and the Westerner will have lots of time on his hands. If he has few financial worries he may spend quite some time in the East. There is much to attract him. There is the social life in the big hotels, where all is business comfort; winter sports such as hockey, skating, skiing, sledging and tobogganing to indulge in, or to watch, if he so prefers, the round of theatres to make, where he will hear the times that will be popular for the year, or see the plays that will be discussed at most civilized dinner tables.

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that many inquiries and requests for reservations have already been made at their agencies throughout western Canada. This would indicate the likelihood of a huge volume of traffic moving in an easterly direction this December. A portion of it will no doubt move straight through to the British Isles and the continent, as many settlers are originally from those places. The Canadian Pacific will run special trains from all western centres, connecting directly with their Atlantic liners, sailing from the winter port of Saint John, N.B., to all the larger ports in northern Europe.

But the great portion of the traffic will be pointed for Eastern Canada and the company will facilitate its movement by offering special train services and special tourist rates that will obviate the necessity of change at any point along the route, and further than this, special excursion rates will be given. These conditions will prevail from December 31st to January 31st, and will be effective from all stations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.
