BROWN'S BAKERY

"The Home of Milk Bread"

Why not eat the Best Bread that it is possible to buy?

Made from the purest ingredients. We do not use substitutes. We use "Crisco" in all our baked goods. "Crisco" is the purest and best vegetable shortening in Canada.

We also use Powdered Milk manufactured by the Canadian Milk Product Co., which is the most sanitary we can buy. This is why our bread and cakes stay fresh so long.

The better the bread the more you eat and the cheaper you live.

We appreciate our steady customers and are glad at all times to serve new ones.

Have our salesman call on you.

HOME LIGHTS

Lights that shine when the night is dark

Lights on a vista of street,

Twinkling and blinking far and near,

Lights that are bright or discreet.

Lights that glow in the gleaming rain

Shed on the city's street;

Lights that force windows pane

In rain-drops gleaming fleet.

Lights more glorious than all the rest,

Home lights shining for me,

Love light in eyes that I love best—

Light of eternity.

—George Elliston.

LIFE is a personal battle-hand-fight, not a dream. Nothing will ever be accomplished so long as you only sit still and think of what you would do if you were somebody else and in some other place. You are yourself, and God has put you where the most valuable training can be obtained—that of the things you see. The way will certainly open for further movement when you are ready for it; it always does. But until a door opens in another direction, see to it that you make the most of the huge opportunities that lie to hand in your home. If you neglect these, nothing will make up to you for the loss in after years. You cannot take the time to do things that you have had experience, till you have been tried.

Anything that is to last must be built on deep foundations. You will never be a power or an influence in the world if you find your home beyond your capabilities.

I REMEMBER

(By George Matthews Adams)

Loneliness is indeed one of the things that fairly shrink the heart.

And yet, even out of loneliness may come great things. And in loneliness one may rise to heights of joy, or it might not in any other way.

It is in times of loneliness that memory plays such a heroic part.

I sat by the bed once of a very noble and unselfish man whose body was racked by pain. And yet for hours he cheerfully recited from memory lengthy parts from the plays of Shakespeare, and his eyes glinted with pleasure and content which it brought him.

It is a common thing for me to hear these things in the quiet of the night, which I remember from my boy-hood, and every time I recall one I am thrilled all new again.

The things you remember are like pictures which beautify a room.

People who remember nothing of the things that have happened in their lives are like those who live in houses with no pictures upon the walls.

Memory brings back youth, beauty, bright companionships, the face of a long departed mother or father or friend.

Memory washes out the mind and leaves only a faint understanding.

There are sunsets that come to me over and over again, great stretches of mountains with caps of white and

THE LENTEN SEASON.

"Behold we go up to Jerusalem."

These words uttered by our Lord Jesus as he set out on his last journey to the Holy City, Jerusalem, are one of the most significant in the history of our race. He was then about thirty-three years of age, and was about to die for the redemption of the world.

The Lenten season is not observed by all Protestant churches. To some
