FEEDING NEW CHICKS

O. A. C. POULTRY DEPT. TELLS OF ITS METHODS.

While Very Young Chicks Should Be Fed Very Carefully After the First Three Days.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

No feed is given the chicks until they are nearly three days old. Water may be given as a drink if the chill is taken off. The chicks for the first few weeks should be fed about six times daily at regular intervals.

We have adopted the plan for the first five or six days in the brooder, of weighing the feed. An experienced feeder may not need to weigh the feed, but the beginner usually does better by weighing it. We allow one ounce of the dry mixture for every fifty chicks at each feed, or six ounces per fifty chicks per day during the first five days in the brooder.

Many people do very well in rearing chicks by using the hopper method. The hopper method as compared to the six meals per day method, entails much less labor and with some people gives as good results. We have not been able to raise a high percentage of chicks on the hopper method but they do grow fairly well.

Feed each 100 chicks about three desert spoonfuls of fine chick feed, such as pinhead oatmeal and cracked corn each day, sprinkle in the litter that the chicks may exercise. If milk is given to drink take 75 per cent. of the beef scrap out of the ration given. If milk and water are both given then reduce the beef scrap one half.

Keep the feed boards clean, move them a little each day or better every feed, that the ground may be swept and clean. Grit is always in easy access of the chicks. It is advisable and necessary to add a little oyster shell dust or fine particles to the ration daily. A certain amount of lime is necessary. Moisty feeds, dirty feed boards, and rusty litter are to be avoided. Moulds kill large numbers of chicks.
