LECTURE COURSES BY WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

Arrangements for 725 lectures to be held during the latter part of May and the early part of June are made next week at the annual conference at the Parliament Buildings of the lectures of the Women's Institutes Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Almost 1,000 institutes are established throughout the province for the purpose of giving the summer lecture many of them are amalgamating, so that the 725 lectures will cover the institutes of all Ontario.

The subjects of the lectures are to be practically the same as last year when the work met with conspicuous success. All phases of community life are covered, as well as the active life of the farm home. Citizenship, health suggestions, home decoration schemes, entertainment suggestions, dressmaking, business courses and all other topics which have an interest for the farm lady, are covered by one or other of the workers.

The conference at the Parliament buildings yesterday covered the field of institute work generally, discussing its activities in feeding, clothing and housing upon the farm and in promoting community halls and libraries. Enthusiasm for the work ran high and a most excellent response upon the part of the farm women was reported by all the workers present.

Some 25 lectures were in attendance at the conference, over which George Putnam, superintendent of Women's Institutes for the Government, presided.

Old-Time Fiddling Contest.
Twelve disciples of Mellic Dunham, champion old-time fiddler, met in competition for one of the Guelpi theatre last week, and Edward Kennedy of Streetsville was declared the winner of a handsome silver cup for his best performance. He is a typical old-timer, and he made his instrument himself. Hundreds were turned away from the theatre, its seating capacity being taxed to the limit.

Five Bats the Limit.
Henceforward it will be illegal for fishermen in Ontario to take more than five bass in one day. This reduction from the previous legal catch of eight per diem and was decided upon by the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario Legislature in an effort to conserve the fish of the province. The committee decided to make no change regarding the legal catch of muskellunge and pickerel.

DON'T WORRY.

When you have done your very best, don't worry. Just wait, and leave to fate the rest. Don't worry. Sit tight. The cars that press today with time are apt to pass away. So turn your face to the fray. Don't worry. Time will straighten out the kinks. Don't worry. With passing days most troubles shrink. Why worry? To this one question please give care: Today that which worried you last year? Does it nig and snuck appear? Don't worry! —Chilton Chase.

THE KILLER

Stanley Writly.
In the forest where no law is observed save the eternal law of self-preservation, the song bird flits brightly and there through the bushes, filling the shaded aisles with the spirit of freedom and happiness. The insect drone contentedly around the flowers, and the rodent lazily seeks himself on a log. It is true that each is surrounded by his natural enemies, but he does not particularly fear them. Those that would take his life would do so only for food; and his instinct for protecting himself is equal to their craft of preying. Probably only a few feet away a hawk or a fox creeps quietly in his lair, but he may lie stretched upon a limb of a tree, viewing with safety and happiness on all sides of him the life of which only nature is the master. He comes and goes as he chooses, and he fears no other living creature of the forest.

But, when a breeze wafts the scent of man through the woodland, the scene changes. Very suddenly the gay song of the bird in the underbrush becomes a cautious twitter in the tops of some tall tree; the insect wheels a retreat into the distant shadows; the rodent scuttles to his hole in the ground; the head of prey slinks grudgingly back into the safety of his lair. Instinct apparently warns them that they are in danger.

What living creature does not fear man? Even the venous reptile glides away for us. We boast that we are rulers of the earth, and history records that dumb beasts have played an important role in the building of our great human civilization. But at what cost is it true? A vigorous predator was also registered against legalized race track gambling, and a resolution was adopted opposing the province stepping share by taxation in the profits of the vice.

Copies of the resolutions will be forwarded to Premier King and Ferguson. The Presbytery also strongly urged the province stepping share by taxation in the profits of the vice. The Presbytery also strongly urged the province stepping share by taxation in the profits of the vice.

GEORGETOWN FOOTBALL CLUB ANNUAL REPORT

The annual meeting of the Georgetown Football Club was held in the Council Chambers on Thursday, 15th April, 1926, at 8 p.m. In the absence of Mr. E. Redshaw, Mr. H. Redshaw presided over a fair gathering. The minutes for 1925 were read and adopted. The chairman referred to the services rendered to the club in the past season by the following: Messrs. Foulis, Robinson, Scrymgeour, Creelman, Walker, and last but not least, Dr. C. V. Williams, who was at all times ready to render such service as was necessary to any player who was unfortunate enough to get injured; this he did on three occasions without any cost to the club, which was and is interested by all interested.

The treasurer, Mr. R. B. Foulis, presented the financial statement showing receipts $128.40 and expenditures $96.81, showing a surplus balance in hand of $32.59.

The chairman remarked that it was gratifying to know that the club came out with such a substantial balance in the bank and hoped that the public would render the same support as they had done in the past season.

The next item of business was the election of officers for 1926 and the following were appointed:
Honorary Presidents—Mayor Dale, William Barclay, E. Y. Barraclough, F. Cook, J. M. Mackenzie, J. M. Moore, J. L. Thompson, J. A. Willoughby, J. B. Wallace, Dr. C. V. Williams, Dr. Watson, W. E. Watson.
President—E. Rigby; Vice-President, H. Redshaw.
Committee—Messrs. Creelman, Horderley, Evans, Macintosh, Walker.

Manager and trainer, T. Scrymgeour; Treasurer, R. B. Foulis; Secretary, A. Robinson; Asst. Secretary, D. Cook, Auditors, J. B. Wallace and J. B. Mackenzie.

MILTON
Miss Ida Clark, of Nanaimo, B.C., visited Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Bews last week. For nearly 35 years Miss Clark has worked among the Indians in B.C. as a missionary, with great success.

Two members of the firm of R. E. Young & Co., chartered accountants of Toronto, County Auditors, have been at work in the treasurer's office since Friday morning. Their report may be presented to the county council at its meeting on Tuesday, 20th inst.

Rev. W. T. Cranston preached his far-well sermon in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Nelson, last Sunday. After the service he was presented with a well-filled purse and an address from the congregation. The Sunday School gave Miss Mary Grant a handsome lamp.

Tinkler Bros., who live on the mountain in Nelson, went to Milton Heights on Monday to buy groceries. When they went into the store they left their driver standing in front of it. The horses were frightened by the approach of a silver dish and meat fork by the branches of the district. Mrs. Atkinson of Palomares read the address, and Mrs. Clairidge of Acton made the presentation.

FOR THOSE IN PERIL

On the street
O'er bounding wave, through splashing foam,
Ships safely carry people home,
But here on land the ocean runs,
And claim their victims by the score.
So hear the cry, all ye that roam,
For those in peril on the street.
No longer are the highways safe,
For cars run wild while people chafe,
But, on the busy travellers know,
White-figures show the havoc wrought,
On land by maddly juggernaut,
So make a plea and all retreat,
For those in peril on the street.
—W. A. Lawrence, in Montreal Star.

THE LEGACY

There is no request a man can make to his family that is more desirable than his good name. This world will never become so mechanized as to lose sight of the merit or demerit of human beings taken by one. Half the meaning of patriotic celebration, biographic study or heraldic lore, when those mean anything at all, is the inspiration of a message from the past to the living present; and any parent has succeeded in this world when he transmits to his offspring an honorable reputation built up by years of clean dealing.

When the assets of a business are estimated, beyond the value of the buildings and with hardly an intangible but real structure built with minds that would not descend to any kind of crooked practice, and through adversity or prosperity, have kept the faith with every one. Any business company in our generation cares for its historic traditions, always is something the matter if the officers pretend to be so busy now that they have no time to remember anything that happened yesterday.

What applies in the ethical tradition of commerce is true of a family succession. The world thinks little of a man who endlessly prates of what his forefathers did ever so long ago and seems to him simply to justify himself in expecting a deference now which in his own person, on his own account, he never has received to earn. If he is proud of what is transmitted to him to enlarge and improve—and that simply to have a hold—let him show it by playing a man's part in a world which sorely needs what every man and woman, whole or crippled, strong or feeble, can do. Let him not boast of dollars that have come into his hands which he did nothing to earn, but let him spend himself as well as his funds on the day's toil in a man's world, remembering always that conscience and character are the better part of any paternal legacy.

BALLINAFAD

Mr. John McLean died at his home, 1, 8th line, Erin, on Wednesday, April 7, after lingering illness in his 84th year. He lived on the farm where he died for fifty seven years, except for a short time in Ballinacorney. His wife predeceased him in 1909, her maiden name being Ann McEnery. The funeral took place on Friday, April 9th, from his late residence, the service being conducted at the house by the Rev. N. Waddell, his pastor, being well attended by friends and neighbors. The interment was made at Providence Cemetery, 9th line, at 11 a.m. The survivors were: Archie Sinclair, John McLean, John McKechnie, Wm. Cole, Robert Cole and Peter Blinnie. He was survived by one brother and one sister, Archie McLean, lot 3, 10th line, Erin, and Mrs. J. H. Thompson, 3rd line, Erin.

ERIN

Mr. J. M. Denigle, accompanied by his brother, Mr. Edwin Denigle, of Brantford, were returned after spending the winter touring Florida. They covered over 5,000 miles on the trip and report a very pleasant time.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Morris Teeter, town line, Erin and Caledon, in the death of their only son, Saturday, April 10th. The little lad had been ailing for some time, but, while not robust, his untimely demise came as a great shock to the family and friends. The funeral took place from the family residence on Tuesday, April 13th, interment being made at Erin Cemetery—Advocate.

Thomas passed away at Edmonston, Alberta Hospital, on March 30th, 1926, in his 80th year, a former resident of Caledon Township in the person of J. B. Conboy, who has been in ill health for several years.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John MacMillan, Erin's oldest citizen, was held Saturday afternoon, April 3rd, from her late residence. She had almost reached her 100th birthday. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, April 11, 1836, she came to Erin in 1842 with her parents, Malcolm and Margaret MacMillan.

Master James Nevills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nevills, 7th line, suffered a painful accident one day recently, when ascending a ladder in the barn, carrying a fork, with which he intended putting hay out of a mow. In doing so the ladder swayed and seeing he was in danger, threw the fork, and not being able to right the ladder, fell with it, landing on the fork, the times of which went through the thigh. He is progressing as well as can be expected under the circumstances, but is suffering considerable pain.—Advocate.

Haltom Women's Institute.
A meeting of the Board of Directors of Haltom County Women's Institute was held in Milton last week. There was a large attendance and plans were made for the district annual meeting to be held in Burlington June 1st. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. W. M. Murray, District Secretary, was presented with a silver dish and meat fork by the branches of the district. Mrs. Atkinson of Palomares read the address, and Mrs. Clairidge of Acton made the presentation.
