Mayor Martin, of Montreal, on behalf of 100 pilgrims to the Euchariatle Congress at Chicago, recently presented a handsome engraved gold watch to Edward P. Whelan, city ticket agent of the C.P.R., at Windsor Station, Montreal, in appreciasidn of the care and attention bestowed upon them by Mr. Whelan, who accompanied the party on their jurney to Chicago.

The second greatest half-year in the history of the Canadian Pacific Rollway has been completed with the month of July, the official financial statement for this period showing an increase in the gross earnings over the preceding six months of $10,071,966.56. The increase in the net profits for the same period amounted to $8,159,041, or an increase nearly double, that of the previous half year in 1925.

.Following a slight recession in April the production of automobiles in Canada continued its upward trend in May to reach a new high level of 24,934 units, valued at $15,-761,615. This output compares with 21,502 units, worth $13,754,390 in the previous month. For the five months ending May the comulative production was 103,127 units, valued at $62,685,152, as against 78,239 willts valued at $49,497,000 in the Canada leads the nations of the world in the proportion of years of prosperity to years of depression eays a report now in preparation by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Ltd., an American organigation. Canada shows 1.86 years of prosperity per year of depression The United States comes next or the list with 1.79 years of prosperity per year of depression, covering the period 1890-1923.

Definite indications of the largest building year Canada has had in more than a decade are now shown by the record of the first six months of this year. The very large and unmenal total of $194,548,600 worth of new construction for the first half of the current year and contemplated new work to the value of $304,598,-360 forecasts great activity for the remaining months. During June contracts awarded totalled $54,186,-400, an increase over June, 1925, of 68 per cent.

One of the greatest foundations upon which the Canadian national apirit rests was laid by the Canadian Pacific Railway was the conviction uttered by J. D. Cameron, of Glas--gow, in an address before an audience at Pembroke recently. "Not merely did this railroad act," he said, "as a bond between all the provinces of the Confederation, but it was, by its conception and final construction, a greater force than anything else for the unification of the scattered provinces."

The sea-faring settlers of the Hebrides are not all fishermen as one might expect, but farmers in a small way known in the rugged northern Islands as crofters. Father R. A. MacDonnell, the clergyman in charge of the immigration of these hardy folk to Western Canada, disclosed this interesting point recently en route to his headquarters at Red Deer, Alberta. Father MacDonnell has been in Canada about fifteen years and has been engaged in immigration work during that time.

The Earl of Clarendon is responsfale for the statement that of the 25 families whom be personally interviewed, sent out to Canada under the Oversess Settlement League, he has not met with one malcontent. He intimated that the settlers were unanimous in the opinion that Canada-kad been good to them. His Lordship, accompanied by the Counters of Clarendon and their three shildren, Lord Hyde, Lady Joan Villers and Hon. Nicholas, Villers, is making a study of the immigration problem as he travels to Bauff, Lake Louise, and other points west in the Arcidents will happen on the farm and it is well to be prepared to give arst ald to the xictim of the accident, while waiting to secure professional help. Nail wounds, calks, barb wire čuts, injuries from runaways, injuries from coming in contact with farm tools and machines or any other injury where the skin is broken should receive treatment at one, that the animal may not suffer. Some people still apply turpentine to wounds of animals, doing more injury than good, since it weakens and devitalizes the tissues and retards healing rather than promoting it. Others use large volumes of antiseptic solution in water to bath the wound, this also weakens the tissue and removes the protective serum that nature supplies for the repair of the injury, so should not be used other than during the first cleansing should such be necessary. The application of tincture of lodine to the wound after removing the dirt and loose tissue is the best practice. The application of tincture of lodine will destroy any of the common bacteria that may hemorrhage. In nall and calk wounds there no agent that will give better re sults than lodine. Keep the injury clean. If there is hemorrhage, soak clean sterile absorbent cotton with lodine, apply over the wound and bandage. Early attention to wounds will save your horse much needless suffering, and make it tasier for the veterinarian to complete the treatment. Don't be afraid to pour op the tincture of iodine. Keep your lingers off the wound, and see that everything that touches it is sterile. A supply of lodine and absorbent cotton should be at hand on every farm where live stock is part of the farm equipment.-L. Stevenson, O. A. C.

Keep the Pigs Cool. The pig, that is comfortable all the time, is a profit maker. The pig that le uncomfortable from any cause; particularly overheating will not do well. Gains in weight cannot be made while he is using up energy looking for comfort. Pigs kept in open lots with no shelter from the bot sun other than that afforded by the fence, cannot make the same gains as are made by pigs that enjoy the shelter of trees or a sunshade. A sunshade can be easily made by setting four fence posts in a square eight feet apart on each side, to support a roof frame of 2 x 4 or 2 x6. which is covered over with hay. straw or boards. Hay or straw roofing is cooler than boards. Dust can be kept down by the use of oil ar tock dip. Give the pig comfort or he will sweat, walk and squeal. There is no profit in such actions, and you won't get three cents out of every pound of grain that he ests.if you let him do it. The sunshade will help .- L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. Cutting Down Farm Expenses. The farmer must meet his own problems in a masterful way! Falling to do so, all efforts by the Department of Agriculture in his behalf will avail no progress. Why the Pigs Cough. Thumping, cough, unthriftiness and digestive disturbances in pigs from one to six weeks old are usually symptoms of the presence of lung worms. Treatment of the affected ones is of little value. If the number of ascarids present in the lung is large the little pig will soon turn up his toes. If the numbers are limited the pig may outgrow the malady. Proper sanitation coupled with proper cleansing of the sow prior to farrowing effectively prevents the thumpy condition caused by the young worms is the lungs and bronchioles of the little pig .- L.
