The Sins of Omission

It isn't the thing you do, dear, It's the thing you leave undone

That gives you a bit of a head At setting of the sun. The tender word forgotten:

> The flowers you did not send Are you haunting ghosts at night. The stone you might have lifted Out of a brother's way: The bit of heartsome counsel

The letters you did not write:

You were hurried too much to The loving touch of the hand

The gentle, winning tone Which you had no time no thought for. With troubles enough of your

Those little note of kindness So early out of mind. Those chances to be angels Which we poor mortals find __ They come in night and silence. Each sad, reproachful wraith, When hope is faint and flagging And a chill has fallen on faith. For life is all to short, dear, And sorrow is all too great, That carries until too late:

Aud it isn't the thing you do It's the thing you leave undone Which gives you a bit of a head-At the setting of the sun.
