Take Me Back to Home and Mother

Supplied by T. Glauv, Toronto.
Take me back to home and mother,
I am weary wandering here.
There can never be another spot on earth that is so dear:
The room "full of splendor,
My eyes are filled with pain;
And a longing, soft and tender,
Whispers "Take me home again!"

Chorus:
Take me back to home and mother,
My heart is filled with pain;
Take me back to home and mother,
Only take me back again.

Take me back to home and mother,
To the happy scenes of yore:
Friends of childhood, sister, brother,
Bring to welcome me once more.
I can hear their voices ringing in sweet memory's refrain—
To the past my heart is clinging—
Only take me back again

Take me back to home and mother,
Gentle words will greet me there,
For on earth there is no other kind-ness like a mother's care;
Life is but a dream of pleasure,
Sweetest hours must turn to pain,
Home is all I have to treasure,
Only take me home again.

County Council

The county council met at Milton on Tuesday last week. C. H. Turner of Trafalgar was appointed as corn looper inspector for the county, in accordance with a request made by the department of agriculture some time ago. A by-law respecting bridges on county boundaries was passed whereby it was decided that all bridges over 20 feet would be designated county bridges and under that figure would revert to the township. This by-law was passed with view to obtaining a better grant from the government.

A grant was made to the Acton continuation school. Under the act, continuation schools are not entitled to grants, but in Halton county the Acton school received the same grant, as though it were a high school.

As the equalization of assessment proceedings by Judge Elliott have not yet been completed, it was not found possible to strike the county rate.

An inspection of the heating plant of the county buildings, which has recently been overhauled, was made and was found satisfactory. A large proportion of the time at Tuesday's meeting was spent in the meetings of the various committees.

A Good Morning

Sitting by the wayside,
Ready to complain
Fussing with the sunshine,
Raving at the rain!

And life is singing round you
A song the angels know,
And gentle love has found you
Where fabled flowers grow.

But nothing this side of heaven
Is suited to your mind;
With stars and suns to guide you,
You walk the life-way—blind!

Lower the stormy banners,
And let them all be furled,
And cry, when night seems falling:
"Good morning to the world!"
—Frank L. Stanton

Notes and Comments

FUNNY, how the public overlook the press until they expect to see a lengthy write-up concerning something in which they are directly interested. The writing show representatives call on the press, first they have learned. In the average small village, if the present trend of business continues, the press will soon be a thing of the past; then those who expect a lot of free advertising and a glowing write-up following their little performances will be obliged to pay the piper, good and plenty, for a few lines hidden in some obscure corner of the big press. Many villages have already felt the loss of their local press to their sorrow, and have learned the folly of their delinquency, too late to mend the breach.

DRIVING on a narrow road is a very hazardous undertaking, especially now that the autumn is here and the roads will not be in the best of condition and often slippery from rain. At this season of the year more than ever, a driver must keep his wits about him. Passing a car going at a high rate of speed requires a good sense of judgment which many lack, as well as good vision and steady nerves, especially on narrow roads. Many roads are less than eighteen feet in width and frequently the space between passing cars is reduced to a foot or less. So you can imagine what the least slip of the car would do on a greasy road. This is the time of year to be extra careful when driving. Foolish driving inevitably leads to some degree of trouble, and maybe even death.

Mushroom Culture

The artificial cultivation of mushrooms is very difficult and often results in failure, nevertheless, with suitable conditions and the exercise of care and perseverance, satisfactory results are attainable. A book on "Mushrooms and Fungus" recently published by the Botany Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms gives detailed information on the growing of these fungi. The suitability of the quarters used is of great importance. Outdoor cultivation cannot be recommended for this country. So far as amateur growers are concerned mushroom culture will be confined, for reasons of convenience, to cellars, either below dwellings, or the kind used for storing roots. The possibility of maintaining the requisite temperature and degree of moisture is essential. The air should be kept at 50 to 60 degrees F. Nothing is more detrimental to the growth of mushrooms than sudden drops in temperature or the absence of a system of ventilation to regulate the moisture in air and bed. Carefully prepared manure, as described in the volume, is a necessity. The mushroom beds may be situated either on the cellar floor or be arranged in a series of shelf-like tiers along the walls. The best spawn to use is "pure-culture spawn" obtainable from most dealers. If the attempt is to appear about 6 or 8 weeks after the spawn has been distributed. The book, which deals with the identification of different species, is sold by the King's Printer, at Ottawa, for a nominal charge of one dollar.

—Anyone wishing to donate fruit to the Blue Orphanage, please leave at Mrs. Allen Roney's home before Monday, Nov. 21.

Sabbath Madness

The Sabbath, once the day of rest, is now fast becoming known as the day of eternal rest. For more people now come to an untimely death on that day than any other day of the week. Mad racing is responsible for this ghastly change.

The Sabbath was made for man, to be sure, but not for the exercise to his uttermost folly. Yet as surely as Monday rolls around we have the gruesome news of a man or woman dead, and dying and the injured who have apparently gone mad over Sunday and have paid the price.

This is not the full extent of the bad uses to which we are putting the Sabbath day, although they are the most spectacular. Add to this list the jangled nerves of many a good wife, the tired body of many a husband, the unnatural stimulation of many children of the families that rise early and start out on a quest of distance.

Past and furious driving is likely to mark such a trip, with many near accidents. The mind, body and soul undergoes almost every experience and emotion except those of rest and repose and recreation. Then the homeward journey and the sleep of exhaustion or, what is more likely, the sleeplessness of exhausted nerves.

The pendulum swings from extreme to extreme. The castles of silence and stupor of the Sabbath of the past is gone and probably gone forever. But the death clamor of our Twentieth Century Sabbath is equally impossible. Wise motorists should abstain from such mad as possible, or seek byways and infrequent places. Or, what is best of all, use the car to take them a relatively short distance to a spot where they make the most of the day.

But, for rural and urban children and spirit which alone justify the Sabbath—Algoma Advocate.
