A Remarkable Woman. Not many Canadian women can point to the shoes on their feet and say: "I made them." as can Mrs. Alexander Hain, now in her 70th year, a native and lifelong resident of this village. She makes the same boast of her brooms, with which she makes her comfortable home and little store, not only making the broom, but growing the broom corn which she manufactures into brooms. To talk with this active lady is to turn back the clock of time half a century and to step into an era in which necessity was the mother of invention. The sheds at the rear of her home, the chimney in her summer kitchen, the shingled roof of the little veranda which shelters the front of the store, are all evidence of her adaptability to different trades. In her living room is a couch which she made and upholstered, and a comfortable rocking chair, a relic of bygone days, which she also covered. On the living room window is a pair of curtains, manufactured out of sugar bags from the store, and a lesson in thrift, with crocheted lace made from the string which sewed the bags.

The number of freight cars used by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the transport of automobiles has doubled during the past five years, and the latest order of 200 new cars for the company has just been completely filled.
