IMPROVED

in Performance and Appearance

TODAY'S Pontiac Six is the most impressive example of value-giving in the whole history of the low-priced six!

Substantial gains in motoring pleasure and economy result from important mechanical advancements, such as a new Marvel carburetor, new manifold, etc. More intriguing beauty and the much desired air of rugged compactness have been achieved by the use of smaller, smarter wheels and larger tires.

And, beneath all its brilliance of beauty and performance, Pontiac Six is a supremely dependable car—a car that sails through a weeping, tearing, day-long drive and finishes with the same spirited freshness with which it started the trip.

Come in and investigate this amazing car—General Motors' lowest-priced six.

One Step Enough

"As though good, step by step, I will open the way before thee."
—Proverbs 4:12. Heb. Trans.
Child of my love, fear not the unknown
I know now, fear not the unknown
Dread not the new demand life makes of thee;
Thy ignorance doth hold no cause for sorrow
Since what thou knowest not is known to Me.
Thou canst not see today the hidden meaning
Of My command, but thou the light shalt gain;
Walk on in faith, upon My Promise
And as thou goest all shall be made plain.
One step thou need—then go forward boldly,
One step is far enough for faith to see;
Take that, and thy next duty shall be told thee,
For step by step thy Lord is leading thee.
Stand not in fear thy adversary counting,
Dare every peril, save to disobey;
Thou shalt march on, all obstacles surmounting.
For I the Strong, will open up the way.
Wherefore go gladly to thy task assigned thee,
Having My promise, needing nothing more.
Thou hast to know, where'er the future find thee,
In all thy journeying I go before.

Many Accidents

Production records have been broken frequently by Canadian workers in the last several years and the reports to the Workmen's Compensation Board show that the accident record reached a high point in August of this year when 8,022 accidents were reported to the Board, including 41 fatalities. This is over 1,000 accidents more than reported in August of last year and is the highest point reached since the commencement of the Act. The benefits in August, 1928, were approximately $58,000 higher than in the same month last year.

It will be remembered that the Workmen's Compensation Act of this Province contains a clause authorizing industries in the various classes to set up accident prevention associations and the statement has been made by those in authority that the experience of this section of the Act has been better than that of the classes not organized for accident prevention work.

Dealing with this phase of the situation, E. R. Morley, general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, states that about 75 per cent. of the death cases reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board involved some money payment. In the last four years on which complete figures are available the number of death cases in the fifteen classes included in the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations has shown a steady decrease year by year being 77—54—52 and 45. The pay-roll of the Associations is slightly more than half of the total pay-roll under compensation 45 death cases in the classes included in that organization out of a total of 308 for all industries is indicative of improved conditions, particularly when it is remembered that the total number of employees is approximately one-fourth of the total cost of compensation year by year.

The Industrial Accident Prevention Associations have a membership of more than 8,700 industrial plants and the total pay-roll in the fifteen classes constituting such membership, as estimated for last year, was over three hundred million dollars.

THE NORMAL BABY

The number of requests for information prompts the writing of this article on the normal baby. The following are the general characteristics of the normal, healthy baby:

A good appetite.

Absence of vomiting or regurgitation.

Bowel movements, one or two in twenty-four hours.

A steady gain in weight.

A constant growth in stature and intelligence.

Clear skin.

Bright, wide-open eyes.

Alert, sprightly muscles.

A contented expression.

Very little crying.

Quiet, unbroken sleep, "with eyes and mouth closed."

No evidence of pain or discomfort.

The development occurs in the following order for the average normal baby:

The soft spot at the back of the head closes at about the end of the second month; the one on top of the head, between the 14th and 22nd months.

The eyes, usually blue at birth, assume their permanent color in the first three weeks.

At six weeks, the baby begins to distinguish different objects, and by six months, definitely recognizes objects.

Hearing and knowing the direction of sound develops about the second month.

With the baby supported, the head is held up at four months.

The baby laughs aloud at from the third to the fifth month. He reaches for toys at from the fifth to the seventh month. He sits erect and creeps at from the seventh to the eighth month. He attempts to stand at the ninth or tenth month, and with assistance, usually stands at the tenth or eleventh month. He begins to walk at the twelfth or thirteenth month and usually can walk alone by the fourteenth or fifteenth month. He can usually speak a few words at one year, and short sentences at the end of the second year.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

Children at the Door

I have no trees before my house
To cast their pleasant shade,
About my windows never twine
The blossoms God has made,
But there are roses, sweeter far,
That on the pavement bloom—
The children of the city streets,
Whose laughter lights my room.
I adore like a honeyed wall
Adorn my dwelling place,
No fountains weave upon my lawn
A web of twinkling lace;
For me no robins greet the sun,
A fan of rainbow gleams,
But happy children at my door,
Who keep me young with dreams.
What loneliness the streets would know
If children were not here!
Their joyous voices bring a smile
Or wing away a tear,
The country house is rich, indeed,
With blossoms, birds and trees,
But happy children at my door
Are wealth enough for me!
—Morris Abel Beer, in Street Lamps

Notes and Comments

BRITISH youths between 21 and 25 years of age, who have lived five years in Ontario, acquired a knowledge of farming and saved $200, will be able to go on farms of their own, with a financial backing of $3,000, under an agreement reached by the Provincial Government with Lord Lovat and Dominion officials. The Overseas Settlement Board will contribute $1,250 and the Federal Government a similar amount.

PROMISE yourself to be so strong that nothing will disturb your peace of mind. To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that they have great possibilities. To look on the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true. To think only the best, to work only for the best, to be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own success. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to greater achievements in the future. To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and to have a smile for every living creature you meet. To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you will have no time to criticize others. To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the pressure of trouble. To think well of yourself and to proclaim the fact to the world, not in words, but in deeds. To live in such a way that the world is on your side as long as you are true to the best that is in you.

THOUGHTFUL citizens, regardless of political affiliations, are beginning to sense the menace presented by the growth of government departments, bureaus, boards, commissions and other agencies for the regulation of every detail of our daily lives. This menace is two-fold. It menaces our liberties and it menaces our material welfare through forcing us to support an army of useless officials. Every man who is suggested by the professional reformer and busybody is delegated to add to this army of political job-holders. The burden is becoming intolerable. This is the only true in business and industrial life, in which the harassment of reputable citizens at the whims of politicians has about reached the limit of endurance. Speaking to the American Historical Association, some time ago, Justice Sutherland said:—"Never before has the business activities of the people been so beset and bedeviled with vexatious statutes and prying commissions and governmental meddling. Judge Johnson observes that 'the appetite for minding other people's business grows by what it feeds on, and the result is a swarm of agents, inspectors, detectives and costly meddling matters going about the country harassing, annoying, worrying and bulldozing the people.' Still the busybodies are clamoring for more laws, more bureaus and more investigations, because these mean more political job-holders at the expense of the taxpayers.—Ez.

Milton

Mr. J. M. Danyes, public school inspector for Halton, who left on Monday for Winnipeg to attend the Third General Council of the United Church of Canada, has been granted leave of absence by the Board of Education. This is the first fifteen years that Mr. Danyes has asked for leave of absence.

George E. Buck, Milton, deputy game warden for Halton, has been appointed a highway motorcycle constable, and has assumed his duties.

Tuesday afternoon, on Main Street, just opposite Mr. Markley's, a bad motor smash-up was staged. It appears that P. Loughheed, driver for A. L. Chambers, and another car were approaching from opposite directions on the same side of the street, and each turned out at the same time to avoid striking each other with the result that they collided, both cars being badly smashed.—Reformer.

On Sunday night a car with an intoxicated occupant, who claimed he was not the driver of the vehicle, collided with another car on the highway about 3 miles west of Acton. None of the occupants was seriously injured.
